THE COURSE OF TRUE LOVE.

BY WILLIAM SHAKSPEARE.

[From "Midsummer Night's Dream."]

For aught that ever I could read,
Could ever hear by tale or history,
The course of true love never did run smooth;
But, either it was different in blood,
Or else misgroffed in respect of years,
Or else it stood upon the choice of friends;
Or, if there were a sympathy in choice,
War, death, or sickness did lay siege to it,
Making it momentary as a sound,
Swift as a shadow, short as any dream;
Brief as the lightning in the collied night,
That, in a spleen, unfolds both heaven and earth,
And ere a man hath power to say, "Behold!"
The jaws of darkness do devour it up:
So quick bright things come to confusion.

CANNON'S SHOT STINGS SENATE.

History of the South Carolina Claim Shows State Is Entitled to 34 Cents Instead of $47,000.

HAS NO LAWFUL STATUS.

House Yielded in Conference When It Became Evident Greater Cost Would Follow Resistance.

TILLMAN'S CLAIM—Congressman Cannon's denunciation of senate's methods stirred senate. Actual sum South Carolina is said to be entitled to is 34 cents, with interest since 1812.

CEREMONIES IN SENATE—Hopkins of Illinois, Long of Kansas, and Gorman of Maryland given hearty receptions as they took oath of office.

REED SMOOT—Utah senator distinctly nervous until after he was sworn in and had signed the rolls.

[BY RAYMOND.]

Washington, D. C., March 5.—[Special.]—Apparently Uncle Joe Cannon's vigorous speech in the house yesterday morning touched the raw, for a considerable part of the session of the senate today was devoted to speeches answering the frank charge of the chairman of the appropriations committee that congress had been made a victim of "legislative blackmail."

Mr. Cannon tonight was unwilling to answer the speeches of the senators, chiefly because he had had no opportunity to read them. He seemed to feel also that the country had heard both sides of the case and would draw its own conclusions. As a matter of fact, a connected history of the successful filibuster of Senator Tillman has never yet been written.

Some time ago claims were made by the various southern states for reimbursement of money said to have been advanced in equipping troops for the war of 1812. The auditor of the treasury decided that the state of Virginia was entitled to about $100,000 and that the state of South Carolina had an equitable claim of exactly 34 cents. Congress then passed a law to pay the claims as audited in the treasury department. Virginia and the other states were paid, and that was apparently the end of the matter.

Senator Tillman, however, brought in an absolutely unsupported claim for $47,000. It was never approved by the treasury department and was entirely ex parte. It had no more standing than the claims of the Pottawatomie Indians to the Chicago lake front. It was not adjusted by the Court of Claims or passed upon by any authority representing the United States government except in the original adjudication, where the auditor found that South Carolina was entitled to 34 cents with interest from 1812.

***

This claim Senator Tillman forced upon the deficiency appropriation bill by the manifest exercise of the sandbagging process which Mr. Cannon rightly designated as "legislative blackmail." Subsequently Mr. Tillman declared to THE TRIBUNE correspondent and others that if the amendment was beaten in the conference he would hold up the other appropriation bills and necessitate an extra session unless he fell dead on the floor of the senate.

It is part of the secret history of that conference that Representative Latimer of South Carolina, who is now Tillman's colleague, announced that Tillman was responsible only to public sentiment in the state of South Carolina, which would, of course, justify his action in holding up the congress of the United States.

Senators Lodge and Hale both notified the conference that an extra session would surely result if Tillman's item was beaten. Members of the house were confronted with such a situation that they said: "Is it not better that the government should pay a dishonest claim of $47,000 with interest since 1812 rather than go to the expense and disturbance of holding an extra session of congress?"

It is also a fact that Senator Hale refused to bring in a report on the naval appropriation bill simply and solely because Tillman would have filibustered against it and beaten it.

***

The naval conference had reached a conclusion long before that on the deficiency bill, but the members of the senate were afraid of Tillman and he himself announced that he was ready to cripple the navy of the United States unless the members of the house would agree to his unsupported assertion that the government of the United States owed the state of South Carolina a sum which with interest will amount to nearly $100,000.

It was this condition which exasperated Mr. Cannon to such an extent that Wednesday morning, in order to justify the conferees for yielding to the senate on what was known to be a notorious steal, he characterized the whole proceeding as "legislative blackmail."

It may have been unparliamentary, but it seems to have been remarkably near the truth and the general opinion is that Mr. Cannon has rather the better of the argument thus far.

***

Mr. Cannon, by the way, starts next week for the West Indies as the guest of the secretary of the navy.

"Billy" Lorimer's biography in the congressional directory takes up only four lines and does not even give his age.

Reed Smoot, the new senator from Utah and apostle of the Mormon church, was perceptibly troubled today before the oath of office was administered and plainly manifested that he was extremely nervous. He reached the senate chamber some time before the hour for meeting and took a seat toward the rear end of the republican side, next to his colleague, Senator Kearns. Upon the desk lay a small bouquet of La France roses and another of Jacqueminots.

The Mormon apostle was the center of interest and did not bear with equanimity the manifestations of curiosity on the part of the occupants of the galleries. He sat in his chair with his long legs curled up under his desk, nervously fingering a pad of paper. He watched with interest the taking of the oath by senators who preceded him. When his turn came he was escorted to the rostrum by his colleague, Senator Kearns, and this fact was not calculated to restore the nerve of the Utah man, as the two senators from that state are not on the best of terms.

When Smoot's name was called he hastily rose from his chair, was joined by Senator

WHO'LL HELP A POOR CITY?

ALDERMEN NEARLY WEEP WHEN THEY ADOPT THE BUDGET.

Meet in Annual Quarrel Over Appropriations, Become Pessimistic at Outlook, and Part in Bad Humor—Private Crusades to Secure Larger Share of the Money Defeated, Causing Heart Burnings and Anguish of Spirit—Total Voted $20,856,072.

Seventy aldermen—more or less pessimistic—saw Chicago through dark spectacles yesterday. That the city was in a "bad way" has been feared before, but now the calamity seems certain. It is going to be a hard year. The aldermen met yesterday afternoon, passed the annual appropriation bill, and left the city "to its fate."

They will feel better about it after awhile, but the prospect is discouraging to them at present. They tried to get about $100,000,000 worth of needs into a $20,000,000 appropriation, and, having failed, became pessimistic, although they succeeded in raising the pay of Sergeant at Arms Brown of the council by $250 a year.

That and the $100 a year advance which the policemen get are the only bright spots in the annual budget of 1908. The rest is gloom.

Aldermen Part in Bad Humor.

What will happen to the Twenty-fifth ward in particular is beyond imagination. This ward, said to be fifth in size and population, is seventeenth in ward appropriations. Ald. Dunn and Williston protested against the injustice until they were hoarse, and finally the council was broken up into thirty-five factions, each fighting energetically against all comers.

As a result many of the aldermen are not on speaking terms today. Their last words to each other yesterday were warm and expressive. Ald. Race looks the other way as he passes Ald. Hunter. Ald. Dunn and Williston have declared the vendetta against the other sixty-eight members. Ald. Scully has a club out for Ald. Bennett. Ald. Powers would like to "even things up" with Ald. Eidmann.

Ald. Palmer wanted $5,000 more for the Twenty-first ward and didn't get it. Ald. Litzinger wanted to reduce police justices' salaries and couldn't. Ald. Brennen wanted to land a man in a "job" in the police department and failed. There was general trouble, and Ald. Mavor, chairman of the finance committee, did not have a friend on earth outside the committee.

Art Wins a Victory.

There was one other bright spot which was almost overlooked. Art—"high art," as Ald. Mavor said—got $100. It was called an extravagant expenditure, but art won out. It got the $100—mostly because the council is obliged under the law to make this appropriation. But there were kicks.

The money is for the art commission.

"What good does it do the city?" asked Ald. Brennan, who had "fallen down" on his police department plans. "Strike it out."

"But it's for the sake of high art," expostulated Ald. Mavor.

"And cheap at that price," said Ald. Foreman.

The friends of art rallied and the appropriation was saved.

Annual Quarrel Begins.

When the council sat down as the committee of the whole to take up the appropriation bill the corridors outside were filled with anxious city employés, who were not allowed to get inside the council chamber. When the aldermen get together to have their annual family quarrel over appropriations they don't want observers. Mayor Harrison gave up the gavel to Ald. Mavor and the struggle commenced.

As a positive fact it was announced that every individual employé in the city had asked for more pay, but the finance committee's report went through just about as it had been reported in.

Police, fire, and ward appropriations were the three phases of the budget most opposed, but they were adopted finally without changes. The policemen get their $100 a year advance, applying only to patrolmen.

Ald. Powers submitted an amendment providing for increases for all branches of the fire department, and making the minimum salary $1,100 instead of $840, as fixed by the budget, but it was defeated. Ald. Bennett said the entire city council was in favor of giving more money to the firemen, but that the means of doing it could not be found.

Trouble Over Ward Items.

The street cleaning appropriations went through after an acrimonious debate on the different ward items. Charges were made that members of the finance committee had secured sufficient amounts for their own wards, and had allowed the rest of the city to get along as best it could.

There were several "private crusades" attempted. Ald. Litzinger wanted the salaries of police magistrates reduced.

"Reduce a salary!" exclaimed Ald. Foreman. "Unconstitutional."

Another crusade was that of Ald. Race to keep his appropriation of $5,000 for public washstands in the bill. It was killed by Ald. Hunter, his colleague. Mr. Race then tried to escape from the council chamber, but the sergeant at arms had locked the doors. He staid and "hurled defiance" at the council.

The salary raises which were voted included $500 a year to Reading Clerk McGaffey, $128 to the city hall carpenter, $180 for the fire escape inspector, $900 allowance for carfare for ten elevator inspectors, $180 raise for the building inspectors, and $100 for the bill clerk in the bureau of streets. Supt. Nourse of the water bureau was given a raise of $460, his chief accountant one of $200, and his assistant cashier one of $480.

Appropriations for Departments.

The appropriations allowed the departments for corporate purposes were as follows:

Mayor's office	$ 16,300
City council	207,500
Committee on local transportation	20,000
City clerk's office	57,620

For bonds and sinking fund	1,223,901
Appropriations from water fund	3,335,676
Grand total	$20,856,072
Estimated income	18,071,141

While the totals indicate that the appropriations are greatly in excess of income, the aldermen figure that the actual deficiency will be about $1,000,000.

ONE WOMAN SAYS: "I'M NOT GUILTY."

Mrs. Seth T. Paine Denies Any Knowledge of the Murder of Edwin L. Burdick.

STILL WATCH HER HOUSE

Police Theories and Facts Concerning the Woman Making Denial Follow Along Parallel Lines.

Buffalo, N. Y., March 5.—[Special.]—The police still insist a woman killed Edwin L. Burdick in his den a week ago and suspicion has been directed so strongly toward Mrs. Seth T. Paine of 492 Elmwood avenue that she has seen fit to engage an attorney to look after her interests and has made a denial of all knowledge of the crime or its perpetrator.

The police are keeping a constant watch day and night upon Mrs. Paine's house, but they will not say that she is the woman they suspect.

They stop at the name of Mrs. Paine, but admit a long chain of coincident circumstances.

Mrs. Paine's photograph was found in the room where Burdick was killed. She telephoned to him on Thursday, the day before he was killed; her home has been searched and she was questioned by the authorities both at home and at the office of the district attorney.

She is pretty and vivacious. When she was called to be questioned by Attorney Coatsworth she was brought face to face with the policeman who saw the lone woman walking in the middle of Ashland avenue a few hundred feet from the Burdick home about the hour of the crime. She eyed him unperturbed.

Mrs. Paine's Detailed Denial.

"I know absolutely nothing of the murder of Mr. Burdick," said Mrs. Paine tonight. "I have no idea who committed it. I have no theory as to who did it or how it was done. I simply know nothing at all about it.

"My maiden name was Gertrude Barnard. I am 29 years old. I came from Albion, Orleans county. My father was an Episcopal minister. Later I moved to North Tonawanda. At that time Dr. Paine was not a dentist. We were married. Since then he became a dentist and now practices in Batavia, coming home usually at least once a week. We have one child, a girl of 7 years. She is now living with me.

"Both my husband and I knew the Burdicks. Yes, we also knew the Pennells and the Warrens. Mrs. Warren formerly lived in Buffalo and we were well acquainted. I know nothing of the divorce actions of Mrs. Burdick and Mr. Burdick. My name has not appeared as a co-respondent in any action for divorce by Mrs. Burdick against Mr. Burdick. There is no reason whatever why it should. My husband and I have visited or called on the Burdicks, and they have called on us. I do not recall having called on them without my husband, and I am positive I never called alone on Mr. Burdick at his house. For the last two years I do not think Dr. Paine and I have called regularly on the Burdicks.

Last Conversation with Burdick.

"The last time I talked with Mr. Burdick was last Thursday, the day before the murder. It was over the telephone. Wednesday night he called up on the telephone and asked me about a matter that was purely social, and did not relate in any way to an appointment. I told him I would let him know next day, and on Thursday I did call him up on the telephone. This was shortly after noon, I think. We had a brief conversation, and that was the last time I talked with him. I did not see him thereafter.

"Thursday evening I had dinner as usual, between 6 and 7 o'clock. I did not go out of the house after dinner. Some people live in the house with us. One of them is the young woman named Mrs. Mary Cunningham. She is not my maid. She is employed downtown. She knows I did not go out after dinner. She had a caller Thursday evening, and they sat chatting in her room.

Movements on Thursday Night.

"After dinner I went into the parlor and read the paper. I took some water up to her room, knocking on the door, and at that time she and her caller were sitting chatting. After leaving them I went to my room. Before retiring I sat for about ten minutes with my little girl while she played and scrawled on a blackboard. Then she went to bed and soon afterward I retired.

"I slept as usual and awoke as usual on Friday morning. I positively was not out of my house between dinner on Thursday night and breakfast on Friday. I passed no one on the street, for I was not on the street. Except those in my house, no one saw me and I saw no one."

All of Mrs. Paine's statements regarding her movements have been corroborated by Mrs. Cunningham.

Declares His Client Is Innocent.

Philip V. Fennelly, a well known lawyer, has been called upon by Mrs. Paine for legal advice. "In this matter," said the lawyer, "Mrs. Paine is as innocent as a child unborn. The police do not believe that she has any guilty knowledge of the murder of Mr. Burdick, and the attention which they have directed to her I know in an authoritative way to be a mere blind in order to throw the real culprit off his guard.

"There is no question at all on that point. Mrs. Paine is incapable of this crime, which has shocked and mystified not only Buffalo but the entire country as well."

Officials Differ About Arrest.

The chief of police and the district attorney each declared he has a definite suspicion amounting almost to certainty, but these statements are not made jointly, and the individual suspicions may not fall on the same person.

Chief of Detectives Cusack wished to make an arrest last night, but was deterred by the district attorney. "You must not make an arrest until you can convict," the district attorney is quoted as saying to Cusack.

"I have enough for conviction," is the detective's reputed reply, but he did not convince Coatsworth. The district attorney is not an excitable person, and he is feeling his way with extreme care. He has been in office only two months and is trying to avoid a slip.

Police Outline a Motive.

The line of coincidence between the police theory and the known facts concerning Mrs. Paine are particularly striking. Regarding the woman they suspect, and whose name they withhold, the police say that she is the

TAKES UP NEGRO PROBLEM

WISCONSIN LEGISLATOR ASKS NATION TO A CONFERENCE.

Introduces Resolution by Which Ten Delegates from Each State May Be Invited to Discuss Race Question in Atlanta, Ga., Next July—Thinks Subject One of Vital Interest and the Present Time Is a Fitting Period for Its Settlement.

Madison, Wis., March 5.—[Special.]—A joint resolution was introduced in the legislature today by Senator Hatton which he hopes will be the initiative in a movement to hold a national conference on the negro problem.

The resolution provides for the appointment of ten persons to attend such a conference to be held at Atlanta, Ga., and also requests that the governor transmit a copy of the resolution to the governor of each of the other states, with the request that a like number be appointed to attend the conference.

This is an absolutely independent movement, and Senator Hatton's object in introducing the resolution is to bring about a conference upon this important topic by a gathering which shall in every way be free from partisan bias. He feels that such a conference, providing that the governors of the various states will appoint as delegates men who have given some thought and study to the subject, will be productive of good.

Text of Joint Resolution.

The joint resolution is as follows: "The emancipation of the negro from bondage and the subsequent efforts to uplift the race constitute a part of the nation's history which the people of Wisconsin hold in sacred regard. That out of what has been done perplexing problems have grown, which challenge the intelligence and patriotism of the day, is not surprising and should not be discouraging.

"We believe that the time has come when a conference of representative men from the several states should be called to consider the problem. In such a gathering it could be discussed apart from the passions of a political campaign; and, in the spirit of Christian sympathy and true patriotism, consideration be given to the highest welfare of all concerned.

All States Are Invited.

"To the end, therefore, that this state shall do its part toward securing such a conference, be it

"Resolved, By the senate, the assembly concurring, that the governor be authorized and requested to appoint within two weeks from the passage of these resolutions ten men to represent Wisconsin at a conference to be held as hereinafter provided.

"Resolved, That the governor is authorized and requested to transmit a copy of these resolutions to the governor of each state, with the request that he appoint an equal number of delegates to attend a conference to be held in the city of Atlanta, Ga., beginning upon the 4th day of July, 1908."

NEGROES PRAISE ROOSEVELT.

In a Massmeeting in New York Church They Declare Him Their Best Friend and Champion.

New York, March 5.—[Special.]—A massmeeting of negroes at the Bethel African Methodist Episcopal church tonight to consider the crisis through which the negroes of the United States are now going passed resolutions favoring the continuance in office of President Roosevelt through a second term. His name was cheered and applauded at every opportunity. The meeting was opened by the Rev. Dr. Henderson, pastor of the Bethel church.

"The negroes' friend today," he said, "is that noble president and grand statesman, Theodore Roosevelt." The Rev. Dr. Proctor made prayer, in which he asked special blessing for "the philanthropist, statesman, and hero in the White house who is fighting for the negroes the second battle for their political rights." There was instantly a loud and emphatic outburst. Shouts of "God bless him! God help him and his work! Let him go on, Lord!" were heard.

Bishop W. B. Derrick spoke nearly an hour. He went into a description of the fighting before Santiago which differs materially from that which has the indorsement of President Roosevelt. While the soldiers of the regular army were almost overwhelmed, he said, Col. Roosevelt gloriously led the rough riders to the verge of destruction and inglorious defeat until the negroes came to the rescue.

Bishop Derrick denounced Senator Tillman as an apostle of savagery and as one whose morals and mind retrograded to the standards of the dark ages. He continued:

"He prates of keeping the blood of the nation pure. Hump! There are 800,000 negroes in the country who would have to use a microscope as large as the sun to know whether they are more black or more white. Who did it? That's what I ask: 'Who did it?'"

ANTHRACITE STRIKE AWARD IS 10 PER CENT INCREASE.

Blame for Tieup Said to Have Been Placed on Mine Operators by President Roosevelt's Commission.

New York, March 6.—A dispatch to the Herald from Washington gives the following forecast of the decision of the coal strike commission appointed by President Roosevelt:

There will undoubtedly be at least a 10 per cent advance in the pay for mining, to take effect from the time the miners returned to work last October. The per diem employés will not have their wages increased, but will be recommended for the same pay for a day of nine hours.

The system of pay will be regulated. Wherever practicable, the operators will be required to pay by weight, instead of by the car, and elsewhere by the lineal yard. The miners will have check docking representatives at their expense. This will practically amount to a second increase in wages.

There will be indirect recognition of the union, which will come when the findings are submitted by President Roosevelt to John Mitchell as president of the miners' union.

The boycott will be condemned, and the principle will be laid down that a miner has a right to work without molestation, even though he does not belong to the union.

The terms of the verdict are to hold good for three years.

Republican primaries will be open today from 12 o'clock noon to 7 o'clock p. m. Every republican who is registered in his district and who has not voted at a democratic primary during the last twelve months is entitled to vote. The law allows every legal voter two hours from his employment, without loss of pay, in which to vote.

PARTY TO PICK ITS LEADER TODAY.

Mayoralty Struggle Between Stewart and Harlan Will Be Decided at the Primaries.

HEAVY VOTE IS EXPECTED

Climax of Lively Campaign Will Come in the Wards Which Have Union Delegate Tickets.

WEATHER FORECAST FOR TODAY.

Threatening, with rain in the afternoon. Winds shifting to eastward, and temperature moderate.

Primaries will be open from 12 noon until 7 p. m.

The republican primaries for the election of delegates to the city, aldermanic, and judicial conventions will be held this afternoon.

It is the expressed wish of both the mayoralty candidates and their friends that every republican shall go to the polls and cast his ballot. The candidates declare that now the voters will have the chance of saying who is their choice of candidate for the mayoralty nomination. The indications are that the largest primary vote ever polled in a municipal campaign will be returned tonight.

Heavy Vote Is Expected.

If the attendance at meetings and the number of indorsements that have been signed indicate anything, the republican voters are sufficiently interested in the contest to turn out and do their part toward settling it. Under the law employés may take two hours, without loss of pay, away from their employment to go and vote. Many business houses, manufactories, and public offices will close at 4 o'clock. Those that do not close have agreed to allow their republican employés abundant time for voting.

Statement of Graeme Stewart.

The two candidates for the mayoralty nomination, Graeme Stewart and John Maynard Harlan, issued statements last night embodying their views of the situation.

That by Mr. Stewart follows:

"It is up to the republican voters to say whether I shall be their candidate for mayor. My case is in their hands. All I ask is that every republican shall take time enough to go to the polls and vote. I do not fear the result. I want honest primaries, and am satisfied we are going to have no other kind.

"If I am nominated I will be nominated by the ballots of a majority of the republicans of Chicago at the polls. I shall abide by the result of the convention, and if not nominated myself I shall support the nominee gladly. I make no claims of strength, but feel confident."

Mr. Harlan Also Confident.

Mr. Harlan said regarding the outlook:

"The rank and file of the republican party tomorrow will select their own candidate for mayor, and I am confident I shall be the man. In my experience the republicans of Chicago have never before been so interested in a primary election. There will be a Harlan delegate ticket in every ward and in practically every district of the city, so that those who care to vote for my nomination will have an opportunity to do so.

"The two indispensable conditions of republican success this year are that the rank and file of the party shall name the candidate, and that that candidate shall have a record on the traction question, which is the vital issue in this campaign."

How Campaign Managers View It.

The respective managers of the two candidates' campaigns were both hopeful last night of the outcome. "Graeme Stewart will be nominated," said F. W. Upham, chairman of his committee. "The people of Chicago want a business administration to lift the city out of the condition it has fallen into, and they believe Mr. Stewart is the man who can and who will give it to them. We expect to get at least a majority of the delegations from all the republican wards. We count on solid delegations from all of the north side wards."

E. B. Fletcher, secretary of the Harlan committee, said: "On the eve of the primaries we are confident of success. If the assurances we have received from reputable men in all parts of the city may be taken as a guide to the outcome of this contest, Harlan will go into the convention on Saturday with more than 600 delegates."

Harlan Managers Cry Fraud.

Late in the day Mr. Harlan's campaign managers declared that spurious ballots purporting to be those of delegates favorable to his candidacy were in existence. "The most common form of fake ballots that is being used apparently," said Mr. Harlan, "is a union delegate plan. In many wards such tickets have been put out manifestly for the purpose of deceiving the people without consultation either with me, my manager, or my friends in the different wards. My friends have authorized the use of the union delegate plan in practically all of the Seventh, Twenty-fifth, Twenty-sixth, Twenty-ninth, Thirtieth, Thirty-first, Thirty-second, and part of the Sixth and Thirty-third wards.

"In no other ward has the union delegate plan been authorized, and the use of such a ticket is an evidence of a desire on the part of those who make use of this ticket to deceive the people and to divide my strength. I warn my friends in all the wards to look out for this fake ticket plan and not to vote any such ticket."

Mr. Stewart's managers said they had heard of no attempt to put such ballots in use. Mr. Stewart said he had appealed to the republicans in every ward on this question of clean primaries.

"Everybody knows," he continued, "what my sentiments are. They know that I stand for fair and honest primaries and for no other kind. I am especially anxious in this instance that nothing shall be done tomorrow to give Mr. Harlan and his friends any sort of excuse on which to base a complaint."

Where the Main Struggle Is.

The situation, as sized up in both camps, predicted that the Sixth, Seventh, Twenty-fifth, Twenty-sixth, Twenty-ninth, Thirtieth, Thirty-first, and Thirty-second wards would be the main battle grounds. There will be fighting and plenty of it, however, in the other wards. But, according to the committeemen, the forces are not so evenly divided all over the territory in other wards as in the eighth, where the union ticket plan has been adopted.

During the afternoon the last of 400,000 pieces of printed matter calling the attention of individual republicans to their duty on primary day was sent out from Mr. Stewart's headquarters. In wards where the union ticket will be used every voter will, if he has not already, receive a letter from Mr. Stewart with one of the Stewart ballots inclosed, reminding him that he must not fail to vote. Letters of the same kind were sent to voters in every ward.

Mr. Stewart ended his part of the campaign in the Twenty-first, his home ward, last night, by attending a number of district meetings held to prepare for manning the polls and getting out the voters. He desires to make the best possible showing in that ward. Mr. Harlan spent a part of the evening there also and made two speeches. He did not claim all the delegates of the Twenty-first, but said he expected to have some of them.

It was a busy day at the rooms of the board of election commissioners where the registration lists of republican voters in every precinct in the city were being arranged for the benefit of judges and clerks, watchers, and challengers at the polls, and getting the poll books and boxes ready for delivery to the judges.

Returns of the election will be received at the election board rooms and at the headquarters of the republican county committee in Fifth avenue. As the returns will be made on the head of the ballots, Chief Clerk Powell says the result ought to be known by 9 o'clock at the latest.

Mr. Stewart's Closing Talk.

Mr. Stewart's last pre-convention speech was devoted chiefly to urging republicans to vote today. The candidate spoke to 200 members of the Lake View Stewart club at noon at the Union restaurant.

"When you hear a man complaining," he said, "that the candidate of the party is not the man he would select, the chances are nine out of ten that, if you ask him whether he voted at the primaries, the reply will be in the negative.

"At no time in the last ten years has so much interest been taken in the primaries as this year. It is important that the people have decided to take part in the caucus. I think it is of sufficient importance to the business men of the city for them to shut their stores, factories, or offices at 4 o'clock to allow their employés to vote. Of course, the employés have a right to take sufficient time to cast their ballots, but it seems to me that it comes in better part to have the business men close their houses.

"I want a fair, free, and lawfully conducted primary," he concluded, "so that my competitor will have no cause for complaint."

John H. Hamline Speaks.

John H. Hamline, who introduced Mr. Stewart, defended him stoutly against charges that he is the tool of politicians. He said that no man or ring of men exercised the slightest control over Mr. Stewart.

"Graeme Stewart is not anybody's man," he declared, "and he who says so lies. I have long known Mr. Stewart and know whereof I speak.

"I want to make this important suggestion: At the opening of Mr. Stewart's campaign I pointed out that there was a propaganda in this town to repeal the law that repealed the Alien law and to enact a law similar to the Alien law that would permit the city council to grant licenses to street car companies for more than twenty years. I stated that the supporters of Mr. Harlan were supporting this propaganda and that it would have to be reckoned with within the next few months, and I stated that Mr. Harlan, in my opinion, would be obliged to support this propaganda by the nature of his political support.

"I propounded two questions to him:

"First—If you are elected mayor and a bill is introduced at Springfield allowing municipalities in any case to grant licenses for more than twenty years, will you go down to Springfield and oppose that bill?

"Second—If you are elected mayor and such a bill is passed and an ordinance is passed granting to street car companies the right to use the streets for more than twenty years, will you veto such ordinance?

"I said then that Mr. Harlan would not and dared not answer these questions. He has not answered them. He has preserved a discreet silence.

"If you will nominate Mr. Stewart there can be no issue made against him by Mayor Harrison on the traction question. If you nominate Mr. Harlan you have got to discuss and defend the proposition of granting licenses to street car companies for more than twenty years."

Harlan Concludes His Campaign.

"I am going to be nominated," was the parting statement made by Mr. Harlan before four audiences last evening. At Belmont hall, Clark street and Belmont avenue, the last place he spoke, the audience filled the stairways and aisles. Mr. Harlan was cheered from the time that he left the carriage until he commenced to speak.

Mr. Harlan spoke at Princess rink, 507 West Madison street; Brand's hall, Clark and Erie streets; Mueller's hall, North avenue and Sedgwick street; and finished at Belmont hall. As he walked on to the platform at Brand's hall he picked up a baton he found lying on a table.

"This club represents the use that Stewart is being made of in this fight," said he. "It has been said by Fred Busse that he can deliver this ward. I want to ask you the question: Can he do it? Can Fred Upham do it? Can Stewart do it? I do not believe that he can. I know that Stewart wants a fair primary. Today there have been tickets brought to my headquarters with my name at the head that I have not authorized.

"This is my fight and Mr. Stewart's. I asked today for half of the tickets to the galleries. I was told that they have been given out, all but forty, and that if I would send over to the committee headquarters I might have two of them. I have told Mr. Conway that I want half of them and that he had better start his printing presses. I will not stand for packed galleries."

Mr. Harlan's Noonday Appeal.

Mr. Harlan's noonday speech at McVicker's was also an appeal to the republican voters to go to the primaries today.

"I say to you republicans of Chicago, 'Go to the primaries.' You owe it to your party, to your city, and to yourselves to resume the duty of nominating your own candidate for mayor," urged Mr. Harlan. "Approval, enthusiasm, applause will not elect delegates or nominate a mayor; you must vote, and you must persuade your friends to vote. Vote to free your city from the blight of Harrisonism. Vote to retain your own self-respect as citizens and republicans. Whether you favor Mr. Stewart for this nomination or think that I will be the more available man under the present circumstances as candidate and mayor, I say vote.

"The republican primaries tomorrow are more important to Chicago than the election next month. Practically tomorrow is election day.

"It is my firm belief that Mr. Stewart, strong, upright, honorable man that he is, cannot be elected if nominated. Moreover, he has no record on the traction question or any other municipal question."

RIVALRY IN EVANSTON TODAY.

Two Candidates for Mayor Will Make Fight in the Republican Primaries.

Of the five candidates for mayor of Evanston two will make a fight before the republican primaries today. These two are Ald. John T. Barker of the Third ward, South Evanston's candidate, and Ald. Gerrould of the First ward.

The following ticket, to which there probably will be no opposition today, was made up yesterday:

Assessor—Joseph M. Lyons.
Collector—Charles H. Bartlett.
Clerk—Otto G. Ryden.
Supervisor—Anton Block.
Highway commissioner—V. H. Hatley.
School trustee—John Branch.
Members township board of education—William S. Lord and C. H. Poppinhausen.

Attempts Life of Stock Buyer.

Waukesha, Wis., March 5.—[Special.]—John Ranberski, a former state industrial school inmate, today attempted to murder Carl Wedel, a wealthy Mukwonago stock buyer, by shooting him.

Republican primaries will be open today from 12 o'clock noon to 7 o'clock p. m. Every republican who is registered in his district and who has not voted at a democratic primary during the last twelve months is entitled to vote. The law allows every legal voter two hours from his employment, without loss of pay, in which to vote.

'MUDHOLE' CANAL ABOUT HOPELESS

Conditions Beyond Joliet Show $199,000 Would Repair Only the "Graft."

FACTORIES DESERT IT.

ABOARD THE MUSTANG "DAUNTLESS," Morris, Ill., March 5.

From a careful examination into the condition of the Illinois and Michigan canal throughout the sixty-two miles between Bridgeport and Morris it is evident that $199,000 is all too little for the purpose of renovating the state "mudhole." That amount undoubtedly will maintain the feature of political "graft" on its present pretentious footing, but the taxpayers can scarcely expect it to cover the expense of dredging the half choked channel, rebuilding the ruined embankments, repairing the rickety locks, and generally retrieving it from its lethargy.

From Lockport to Morris the ditch is at best half filled with sediment, while retaining walls, locks, bridges, and barges bear the signs of ended usefulness associated with the crumbling works of a forgotten race.

Where the Canal Is Best.

In the vicinity of Lemont the canal makes a brave show, lying between trim stone walls and almost brimming with the flood from the Bridgeport pumping works, but within a mile below Lemont the illusion vanishes. The explorer now finds the retaining walls a continuous wreck. Great masses of rock lie in the stream apparently where they fell years ago, while over them have washed deep deposits of clay torn from the banks.

The water is still of a forbidding, slimy consistency, and a more forbidding odor. It flows sluggishly, and when one sounds the tide with a pole he finds eighteen inches of water above thirty inches of mud. In places, particularly at one spot five miles below Lemont, the wall has fallen into the ditch for a distance of twenty yards, and the waters spread out into the fields in a sort of boggy bayou.

Commerce Ignores the Ditch.

But the most striking sight and a humorous one is the evidence of the lightness with which business concerns view the canal's pathetic claim as a factor of "commerce." There are various companies located on the banks of the ditch, but, so far from patronizing the state "mudway," they have built bridges across it to transport their commodities to the railways and the drainage channel. A few miles below Lemont the Western Stone company maintains an iron swing bridge to run its cars across to the drainage waterway, while still farther on the Joliet Flux company crushes stone, and by means of a trestle and cable hauls its cars across the ditch to the Santa Fé side track.

From Lockport to Joliet, eight miles, the ditch is a travesty of a canal. Compared with it the ruined stretch above Lockport is a beautiful lagoon; within a mile below the stream dwindles away to little more than a rivulet, which one may step across. At one place several tons of clay and rock have fallen into the channel, leaving an obstruction more than three feet thick in the bed. Workmen have been engaged for the last week removing this formidable deposit. At several other points all that remains of the walls are a few scattered stones, while the mud banks have been so eroded and washed into the ditch as to force the stream into a tiny rill against the farther side.

Yet Judge C. B. Garnsey of Joliet, who knows more about the state ditch than any man living, declares that this part of the canal is the best section of the entire channel.

Gets Worse Below Joliet.

At Joliet the canal flows into the Desplaines river with its drainage channel influx and then flows out again. Below Joliet the ditch takes a new lease of life, but not for long. This section is known as the Channahon level and was once prosperous with lumber yards, brick yards, and grain elevators. The lumber companies have now moved back to the railroad, the brick yards have brought the railways to them, and the elevators sway in ramshackle emptiness upon the brink of the ditch.

Near Joliet are three barges in various stages of dissolution, making sixteen craft all told since leaving Chicago. At regular intervals ancient bridges cross the ditch. They are curious swayback affairs, and on first sight fill the spectator with the apprehension that they are on the point of collapsing. These are the bridges the commissioners dumped on the towns for maintenance.

At the village of Channahon there are two locks and a lockkeeper. His name is J. L. Horton. He has been lockkeeper for twenty-eight years, with the exception of the four years under Altgeld. Mr. Horton draws two salaries of $35 a month each, one for each lock. But, like the Chicago bridgetenders, he does not pretend to work. He hires a sub for $20 a month to do the real labor, when there is any.

Canal boats have been a curiosity in this vicinity for several years. At the corner grocery the yarns invariably begin with: "Well, once 'fore the boating stopped," and so on.

Philosopher at a Lock.

All the way to Morris the ditch maintains its record for decay and neglect. At the Au Sable lock six miles from Morris lives George Foster, the oldest locktender on the canal. He is a hoary haired, hoary bearded veteran, and he is a philosopher after the governor's own heart.

"What d'ye want to shet up this canal fer?" he queried. "Why, tolls or no tolls, ye ought ter keep her runnin'. Why, ef New York kin afford ter keep hunderds er miles of canals open and nary a cent o' tolls, it's a blame pity ef ther state of Illinois can't keep this little ninety-six miles goin'."

Just before entering Morris the explorer finds three barges stuck in the mud, but all of them so far gone in decay that it is doubtful whether they should be counted outside of President Snively's annual report. But in the city proper there are nine boats to be seen, all of them stanch and in service. They belong to the Wallace and Hogan fleets and carry grain.

At the corner grocery it is related that the death of a respected citizen is indirectly chargeable to the lapse of commerce in the ditch. He was an old farmer who had been trying to swear off for many years. He had tried every means, with no success, and finally he vowed he would quit whisky on the day the next barge should arrive. It was in August. For three months not a craft hove in sight, and then one day the old man drank himself drunk and died.

Morris is the home of Commissioner W. L. Sackett. Morris wants to see the canal preserved indefinitely. Several citizens have tried to break over the traces like Mayor Dawson, but Sackett whips them back into line. Mayor Dawson was reprimanded several times by his boss and so when the canal board threw the rickety ditch bridges onto the riparian communities he behaved meekly and entered no protest.

Mr. Sackett is in Springfield lobbying today, and his subjects are confident that he will get that $199,000 appropriation for the mud puddle.

Rival Canal Boards at War.

Springfield, Ill., March 5.—[Special.]—Canal Commissioners Snively, Sackett, and Newton, General Manager McDonald, Attorney Walker, and other lesser lights attached to the state ditch declare that the agitation for the abolition of the canal emanated from the drainage canal people, and they are preparing to make active war on the sanitary trustees.

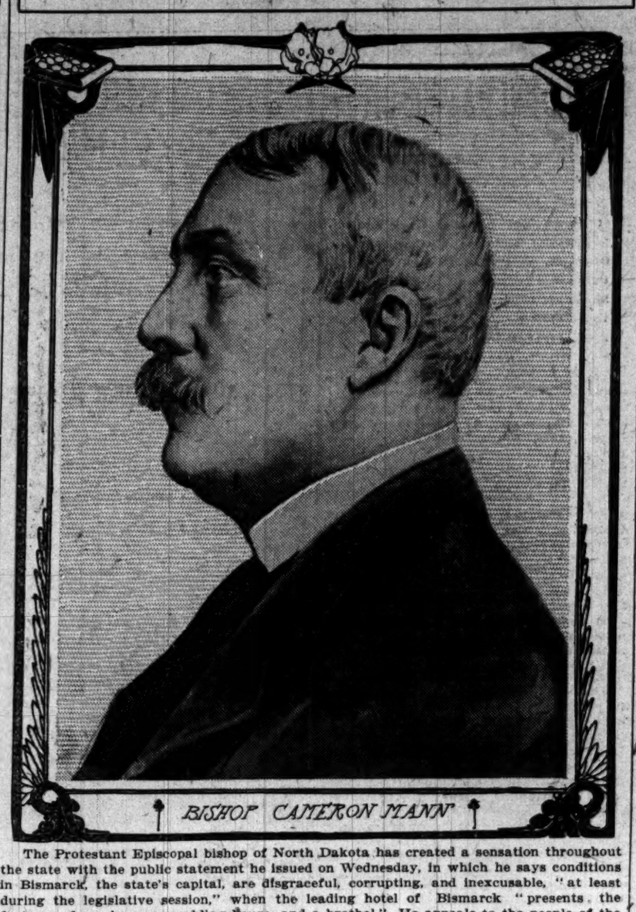

It is understood a resolution will be introduced in the senate next week for the appointment of a special committee charged with the duty of investigating the affairs of the Chicago sanitary board from the time of its incipiency down to the present writing. This will not come directly from the canal commissioners, but will receive all the strength and votes the canal people can give it in the senate.

If the resolution is offered, and it probably will be, the enemies of the state canal in the senate will seek to enlarge its scope and have the committee investigate the affairs of the canal commission as well. An attempt will also be made on the flank of the drainage commission by the introduction of a bill requiring that body to make reports of its doings, including the receipts and disbursements, four times a year to the auditor of the state.

The canal commissioners hope eventually by pressing the drainage board in every conceivable way to so endanger the legislation asked by the sanitary district that the drainage board will come to its assistance and give it help in the way of getting through the large appropriations it seeks. The canal people are also putting a bill through the house now which declares substantially that the sanitary district shall not acquire any property or rights belonging to the canal board without protection to the rights of the state in the way of compensation, to be fixed by the governor and satisfactory to the canal board.

As an evidence of the way the business of the canal has been conducted in years gone by attention is called to the fact that under an old lease made by the state water power is rented to private parties at about $5 per horse power per annum. This lease will expire in 1917. At the same time the state is buying the same water power from the same lessees in a smaller quantity for the use of the Bridgeport pumping works at $30 per annum.

BISHOP WHO SCORES DAKOTA LEGISLATORS AS RESPONSIBLE FOR VICE IN CAPITAL.

BISHOP CAMERON MANN

The Protestant Episcopal bishop of North Dakota has created a sensation throughout the state with the public statement he issued on Wednesday, in which he says conditions in Bismarck, the state's capital, are disgraceful, corrupting, and inexcusable, "at least during the legislative session," when the leading hotel of Bismarck "presents the features of a saloon, a gambling house, and a brothel." He appeals to the people of the state to improve conditions he alleges to exist.

The desirability of a legislative investigation of the bishop's charges was discussed in Bismarck yesterday, but no action was decided on. The proprietor of the hotel against which his charges were aimed said yesterday that his hotel was no better or worse than any similar hostelry during a legislative session. He explained Bishop Mann's attack by saying that the churchman recently stopped at the hotel. His room was next to one occupied by a number of convivialists, who were having a jollification meeting. Liquor was drunk in the room and some ribald songs sung, the meeting being participated in by some members of the legislature and attachés.

Bishop Mann succeeded Bishop Edsall as the head of the Protestant Episcopal missionary diocese of North Dakota. He is a son of the Rev. Duncan Cameron Mann, who was a Protestant Episcopal minister in New York, where Bishop Mann was born fifty-three years ago. He was ordained a priest in 1876, and his first charge was at Albany, N. Y. When appointed bishop he was rector of Grace church at Kansas City, where he had been since 1882.

SEWER'S LAST LINK DONE.

WORKMEN FINISH TASK, THEN GET A DINNER.

Laborers on the Intercepting Tunnel Rush the Construction to Completion and as a Reward Are the Guests of the Chicago Beach Hotel—Commissioner Blocki Says It Is a Triumph for the Day Labor Plan—Cheaper and No Bill for Extras.

Their clothing grimy with mortar, 125 workmen filed into the Chicago Beach hotel shortly after 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon and sat down to a complimentary dinner. The connecting link of the Thirty-ninth street intercepting sewer had been finished.

The final work on the tunnel might not have been done so soon had it not been for the dinner offered, as the men were under a time limit. But, as it was, working in hope of the reward hung up by Manager M. D. Dunne of the hotel, they laid the last brick on the work which united the two sections of the sewer at Fifty-first street in Cornell avenue just before the stroke of 5. All Wednesday night and yesterday the laborers worked at top speed.

At 5 o'clock Foreman Corbett presented himself at the hotel office.

"The work is finished," he said.

Mr. Dunne went to the sewer, saw that the last brick had been laid, and, glancing toward the laborers, said:

"All right, boys. The dinner will be ready for you in fifteen minutes."

Cheers were given, and the men made a rush for the portable engine rooms, where they washed faces and hands and then descended on the hotel.

In the basement of the hotel had been spread rows of long tables decorated with flowers. A Dutch dinner of five courses was served and guests of the hotel assembled to watch the workmen eat.

Now that the sewer proper has been completed, Cornell avenue may be opened to traffic, and the big cut filled in before the close of spring. In constructing the sewer work was begun at Sixtieth street and Thirty-ninth street at the same time, and was continued until the common meeting place was reached in front of the Chicago Beach hotel.

The laying of the last brick marks the completion of 15,000 feet of a twenty foot tunnel done by open cut with day labor, and is regarded by Commissioner Blocki as a triumph for the day labor or muncipal system of contract work.

"We have done the work without estimates," Mr. Blocki said, "and under the lowest price quoted by contractors, notwithstanding the fact that prices of labor and material have advanced 15 and 20 per cent. There can be no big bill for extras and we know the work was done well."

METHODS OF CIGAR TRUST ARE ATTACKED BY STEWART.

Mayoralty Candidate Drops Politics and Tells Retail Tobacco Dealers to Keep Up Their Fight Against the Combine.

Graeme Stewart turned his attention from the mayoralty campaign for a time last night and attacked the tobacco trust. He addressed between 300 and 400 independent dealers, members of the Cigar Dealers' association, who assembled in the North Side Masonic hall. Speeches were made also by Judge Marcus Kavanagh and Howard S. Taylor.

Albert Breitung, chariman of the meeting, said the bill that would do most to help the cause of the anti-trust organization was the one introduced in congress by Congressman Otjen of Wisconsin. In introducing Mr. Stewart he read a copy of a telegram received by Senator Shelby M. Cullom. It was as follows:

All members of the independent tobacco trade in Chicago unite in urging the prompt passage of the Otjen anti-coupon bill. It reinstates to the statute books section 10 of the Dingley act, which prohibited gift enterprise schemes, and which was a most salutary law. The repeal of this section was accomplished without the knowledge of the trade, and I would ask you to give all the assistance you can to its restoration. This is an important matter, and I hope will be promptly acted on by the senate. GRAEME STEWART.

Mr. Stewart said he opposed the gift scheme because the jobbers knew it was not a good one. They believed in giving the consumer the full value in the article which he purchased. Mr. Stewart thought it would be an easy matter to have the Otjen bill passed at the next session of congress if the dealers would all use their influence in its favor.

Mr. Stewart also said the parcel post law, which had been defeated in congress and which probably would be brought up at another session, would benefit the trust by allowing them to supply the country trade from the large centers at the expense of the retailer and small dealer. He promised the support of the jobbers to the campaign conducted by the cigar dealers.

SHARES CELL WITH DAUGHTER.

Michigan Woman Causes Girl's Arrest, Following Elopement, and Then Keeps Her Company.

Mrs. Jane Byron of Alpena, Mich., voluntarily occupied a cell at the Harrison street station last night with her daughter Irene, whose arrest she had caused on a charge of larceny. Behind the arrest of the girl is a story of a short courtship and elopement.

Mrs. Byron followed her daughter and Fred Wilson from Alpena to Chicago and after a search of a week located them in a boarding house at 2711 Wabash avenue. Wilson had taken out a marriage license and was to have been married to Miss Byron yesterday. Mrs. Byron's objections prevented the marriage, but the young woman expressed her intention of running away again and the charge of larceny was made.

Miss Byron admitted she made the acquaintance of Wilson through an advertisement inserted by him in a Detroit paper. Wilson made an unsuccessful effort to have the girl released on bond and Mrs. Byron says she will take her back to Alpena.

DARROW ATTACKS CONSPIRACY LAW.

Bill Offered in Legislature to Abolish Alleged Relic of Dark Ages.

LIVELY TILT IN HOUSE.

Sherman and Shanahan Dispute Over Reference of Measure at Last Session.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Springfield, Ill., March 5.—[Special.]—Representative Clarence S. Darrow introduced in the house today a bill providing that the crime of common law conspiracy be abolished in the state of Illinois and that hereafter no person shall be indicted, prosecuted, tried, or convicted of the crime of conspiracy by virtue of any provision of the common law.

Another bill offered by Mr. Darrow specifically repeals sections 45, 46, and 46A of division 1 of the act to revise the law in relation to criminal jurisprudence. The sections sought to be repealed by this bill are the three conspiracy sections of the criminal code.

Relic of Dark Ages.

Commenting on his proposal, Mr. Darrow said tonight that a charge of conspiracy is one of the relics of the dark ages. When a monarch of medieval times wanted to get rid of an obnoxious subject he put him on trial for conspiracy, had him hung, drawn, and quartered.

Mr. Darrow also introduced a bill today providing that any person who shall keep or use any live pigeons, fowl, or other bird for the purpose of a target, or to be shot at, either for amusement or as a test of skill in marksmanship, and any person who shall shoot at any bird aforesaid, shall be punished by a fine of not less than $3 nor more than $200 for each offense. The bill provides that nothing in the act shall apply to the shooting of wild game in the wild state.

Other Bills Offered.

Norden's bill amending the Cook county civil service law was introduced in the house today.

The salaries of the civil service commissioners are fixed at $3,000 per annum, and the commission may also incur necessary expenses for printing, stationery, and other incidental matters. In other respects the bill is a copy of the existing law.

Webster introduced in the house today a bill amending the corporation law by exempting corporations not organized for profit from making annual reports to the secretary of state.

Lively in the House.

There was a lively controversy in the house this morning between ex-Speaker Sherman and Representative Shanahan of Chicago over the question of the reference of a certain bill to a certain committee during the session two years ago.

Shanahan asserted that two years ago Speaker Sherman referred a bill coming from the committee on agriculture to the committee on live stock. Sherman retorted by saying:

"I would be obliged if the gentleman from Cook [Mr. Shanahan] will bring the house journal to corroborate what he says. In the first place, his memory is treacherous; in the second place his information is faulty, and in the third place his understanding is deficient. Furthermore, his word is not good on a matter of this kind with me."

New Bills Introduced.

Among the bills introduced were the following:

McManaman—To abolish common law crimes and misdemeanors and providing that hereafter no person shall be prosecuted except for the violation of some statute of the state.

Luke—Giving the attorneys for the defendant the right to close the argument in criminal cases.

Rinaker—Providing for a uniform system of primary elections in counties outside of Cook.

Burke—To amend the special assessment law by providing that all installments are to bear interest.

Pattison—To repeal the gas frontage law.

Nohe—Providing that the state board of equalization, at the expiration of the term of office of the present members, shall consist of the governor, the secretary of state, and the state auditor of public accounts.

Kerrick—Revising the military code of the state in accordance with the recommendations of the State Association of National Guard Officers.

The senate was opened this morning with prayer by Bishop Fallows. As but few members were present a recess was voted until tomorrow morning.

TO ENCOURAGE BIG FAMILIES.

Pennsylvania Legislator Introduces Bill Providing Prizes, Rewards, and Subsidies for Mothers.

Harrisburg, Pa., March 5.—Mr. Blumle of Cameron county, the father of eleven children, introduced in the house today a bill to subsidize large families and to provide for gold medals for mothers of large families.

The bill provides prizes ranging from $10 up and a medal to cost $10 to $50, and a $50 gold medal to mothers of families ranging from nine to fifteen children.

The seventh son or daughter born within the state shall be educated at an expense to the state not to exceed $500. The design of the medals are to be furnished by the governor. The act shall not apply to any woman who has been legally divorced or separated from her husband.

MAINE CLINGS TO PROHIBITION.

Legislature Rejects Proposal to Resubmit Law Passed Fifty Years Ago to the People.

Augusta, Me., March 5.—The question of resubmission to the voters of the state of Maine of the prohibitory law passed more than fifty years ago was before the house today, and a bill providing for resubmission was rejected. The vote was 46 in favor to 94 opposed.

POISON ENDS WOMAN'S LIFE: MAN COMPANION IS HELD.

Mrs. Eunice Kennedy, However, Makes Ante-Mortem Statement Exonerating A. Frederick Zorn, Who Is Arrested.

Following the death from strychnine poisoning yesterday afternoon of Mrs. Eunice Kennedy, 288 East Erie street, the police of the East Chicago avenue station arrested A. Frederick Zorn, in whose house the woman lived, and are holding him pending the result of the coroner's inquiry today.

Until last fall Mrs. Kennedy lived at Fostoria, O., where she is said to have quarreled with her husband. On coming to Chicago she met Zorn, and is said to have been known to the neighbors as his wife.

Yesterday Mrs. Kennedy and Zorn quarreled, and a short time afterward the woman was found in a dying condition. Dr. G. W. Wagner, 188 North Clark street, was called and to him she reluctantly admitted that she had taken strychnine. Her statements were not satisfactory to the police, however, and after her death Zorn was arrested.

At first Zorn tried to conceal his identity, but finally he admitted his acquaintance with Mrs. Kennedy, and said that she had killed herself, as she had tried to do a few weeks ago, by taking arsenic. Neighbors bore out the statement that Mrs. Kennedy had made a previous attempt on her life.

Charges Follow Triplet's Death.

A dispute over the payment for some medicine is alleged by Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Novak, 4807 Throop street, to be the reason why Dr. E. Zurawski, Forty-eighth and Loomis streets, refused to issue a death certificate for their infant, who died last Monday. The physician denies the charge, and says that he considered it a case for the coroner. The child was one of triplets.

ESCAPES AN EXTRA SESSION.

Decision of Supreme Court of Delaware Relieves Legislature from an Embarrassing Situation.

Wilmington, Del., March 5.—[Special.]—The Supreme court late tonight decided that the legislature technically was in session from Tuesday night until it was formally adjourned today. This decision obviates the necessity for an extra session, it being held by many that Tuesday's adjournment by a minority was unconstitutional.

POWERS ACTS FOR PARKHURST.

Bill to Prevent "Delivery" of Beer to Children Presented at Request of Citizens' League Official.

The bill Senator John Powers introduced at Springfield to prevent the "delivery" of beer to children was presented at the request of Dr. M. M. Parkhurst of the Citizens' league. In speaking of the bill yesterday Dr. Parkhurst said:

"This is an exact copy of the present law except the addition of the word 'deliver.' It does not effect the power of the parent to send his child for the family supply of beer. It does prohibit men in factories, shops, and other places sending boys or girls for beer.

"I prepared such a bill and Representative Hughes presented it in the house. Wishing to be perfectly fair, I showed the bill to a representative man on the saloon side, Senator John Powers, explained it, and asked him to present it in the senate. He said he thought it a good thing to do, and Senator Thomas Dawson, sitting by him, agreed with him, as did the lieutenant governor and the governor."

FIGHT FOR COUNCIL SEATS

SOME ALDERMANIC CONTESTS PROMISE TO BE SPIRITED.

Seventeen Republicans Seek Renomination and the Municipal Voters' League Issues a Warning to Guard Against "Unpleasant Surprises"—Fifteenth, Twenty-sixth, Twenty-seventh, Thirty-second, and Thirty-fifth Wards Are Danger Points.

REPUBLICAN ALDERMANIC CONVENTIONS TONIGHT.

Ward.
Third	3641 State street
Eighth	9303 Houston avenue
Ninth	Union and Canalport avenues
Twentieth	Van Buren and Honore streets
Twenty-fourth	Lincoln and Wellington avenues
Twenty-fifth	1351 Diversey boulevard
Twenty-sixth	1714 Lincoln avenue
Thirty-second	6922 Wentworth avenue

The mayoralty fight has overshadowed the aldermanic contests in nearly every section o. the city, but there will be hard fights at the primaries in many wards. Seventeen republican aldermen seek renomination today, and the Municipal Voters' league last night issued a warning that "great care should be taken by intelligent republican voters to prevent unpleasant surprises."

Charge is made that efforts will be made in the Fifteenth, Twenty-sixth, Twenty-seventh, Thirty-second, Thirty-fifth, and possibly a few other wards to "sneak in objectionable aldermanic nominees."

In the First ward any fight against Ald. Kenna, democrat, will be a mere formality. Ald. Alling has no opposition to renomination in the Second ward, nor has Ald. Dixon in the Third. Ald. Doubek may be renominated in the Fourth ward, though there are a number of other aspirants.

In the Fifth ward Ald. Litzinger will be renamed. The Sixth ward will renominate Ald. Young, while the Seventh, Eighth, and Ninth wards will rename Ald. Bennett, Moynihan, and Brenner respectively. Ald. Foucek says he does not seek to be returned from the Tenth ward, and James Turek may be the nominee.

Hard Fight in Eleventh.

In the Eleventh ward the fight will rage from the opening to the closing of the polls. The followers of Joseph Bidwill are pushing Frank Karsch as their aldermanic candidate, while the Moertel-Dwyer crowd, representing the Harlan strength, is behind William Soltwich and August Ehlert.

John L. Dickart is slated for the republican nomination in the Twelfth ward and the Thirteenth will return Ald. Scully.

Ald. Fowler's reported determination to become a citizen of Waukegan has left a vacancy in the Fourteenth ward for which there are a number of aspirants.

There is a host of candidates in the Fifteenth ward, including former Ald. John N. Bos, Bernard Anderson, Henry Bartell, Frank Falk, and Anders J. Mose. No republican is especially anxious for the nomination in the Sixteenth with its heavy democratic majority.

Ald. Smulski may accept renomination in the Seventeenth, while republican candidates are few in the Eighteenth and Nineteenth wards.

In the Twentieth Ald. Patterson will be renamed, while the Twenty-first ward is expected to put Fletcher Dobyns to the front against Ald. Honoré Palmer.

Republicans are looking for candidates in the Twenty-second, Twenty-third, and Twenty-fourth wards. William Bichler being a likely choice in the last named.

Ald. Dunn is sure of renomination in the Twenty-fifth, while the Twenty-sixth is expected to rename Freeman K. Blake.

Wolff Out to Fight Keeney.

A fight has developed against the renomination of Ald. Albert F. Keeney in the Twenty-seventh, where ex-Ald. Wolff is charged with engineering a half dozen opposition candidates.

Adolph Larsen is slated for the republican nomination in the Twenty-eighth, while in the Twenty-ninth Martin Murphy probably will be chosen. John Burns may be selected in the Thirtieth, while Ald. Butterworth will get a unanimous renomination in the Thirty-first.

Ald. Eidmann is expected to win in the Thirty-second, though some opposition has developed. The nomination in the Thirty-third may go to Raleigh T. Dabney, as Ald. Decker says he does not want a renomination.

Ald. Rector will run as an independent in the Thirty-fourth, where the Lorimer forces are planning to nominate Charles W. Woodward.

Ald. Race has a fight on his hands in the Thirty-fifth, but insists he will win.

MAYOR TALKS TO DEMOCRATS.

Urges Necessity of Organization on Crowd of Ward Workers Which Packs Medinah Temple.

As many democrats as could get into Medinah Temple hall, which accommodates 2,000, according to the janitor, attended the workers' meeting last night. Mayor Harrison expressed himself as well pleased and pointed to the crowd as evidence that he has an organization. But he wants a better one, and with that as his text he made a speech, in which he insisted that, civil service to the contrary, the official life of democrats holding city positions depends on his reëlection.

"The newspapers," he continued "that have been attacking me on my sixty day appointments will demand that the present civil service board be removed by the republican mayor, if one is elected, and that all the examinations held by the present board be called off to clean out the city hall. That means to remove democratic employés and put republicans in their places."

The mayor said there was much danger in overconfidence, and told the workers they must get down to the business of gathering and compiling facts. He also scored those democrats who, when they get fixed in the city hall, lay back and expect others to do all the party work.

BLAZE IN THE BARRY DOCKS ILLUMINATES NORTH SHORE.

Tons of Hay and Hundreds of Yards of Shed Are Destroyed—Nearby Buildings in Danger.

Tons of hay piled up on the Barry docks at the foot of Illinois street made a fire that illuminated that whole territory at midnight. A general alarm turned in by Chief Musham brought many engines that were unable to reach the east end of the dock, where the fire had originated. With the aid of the fireboat Illinois, however, it was quickly put out after causing a loss of about $5,000.

The fire was confined to a 300 foot receiving shed, where the hay and a boatload of recently received freight had been stored. This, with the superstructure of the dock, was destroyed. For some time the blaze threatened the buildings of the D. B. Scully Sirup company and the Potter Wall Paper company nearby.

The fire is supposed to have been caused by a match thrown away by the teamsters hauling the stuff, as the hay had been smoldering for several hours before the fire was located. Several boats of the Barry line were tied up at the dock, but were in no danger from the flames.

At 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon there was another fire in the same district in the American Cement and Oil company's building at 407 East Illinois street. The building, a two story structure 100x30 feet, was burned out. The loss is estimated at $12,000.

Tenants of the Monroe apartment building, 5519 Monroe avenue, were frightened last evening by the discovery of smoke in the corridors. More than a score of the occupants hurried to the street, where they were reassured. The fire was quickly checked.

Death of J. Madison Bell.

J. Madison Bell, the "Bard of the Maumee," and a leading negro orator, is dead at the residence of his son, Andrew Bell, on the south side. Bell lived in Toledo, O., for forty years, and was the only colored man ever sent from Ohio as delegate at large to a republican national convention. He went to the Philadelphia convention as a Grant man. He was also the first colored man in Ohio to sit on a jury. He was a personal friend of John Brown.

TORRENS RULING MAY BE REVERSED

Proxies Probably Will Be Admitted at Next Meeting of Real Estate Board.

CALL DECISION AN ERROR.

Members Say President Baird's Action Was Contrary to Organization's Bylaws.

Further consideration by the real estate board of the proposed amendment to the Torrens law probably will be deferred to the adjourned meeting of the board to be held next Thursday afternoon.

The Torrens committee practically decided on this course at a meeting yesterday, and as a result there will be no special meeting called.

Interest in the matter yesterday was centered in a discussion of the ruling of President Baird at Wednesday's meeting by which proxy votes were excluded, and it was the consensus of opinion that a grave error had been made.

Action Likely to Be Reversed.

This was the opinion of many who are opposed to the proposed amendment and there seems to be little doubt that the rejected proxies will be voted next Thursday.

In this event the action of Wednesday's meeting probably will be reversed, although it was intimated by some of the opposition leaders yesterday that they were in possession of many proxies which might be voted should the proxies held by the Torrens committee be admitted.

Chairman Bond said yesterday there was no doubt the proxies held by the committee would be voted and that the action of Wednesday's meeting would be reversed.

Says Ruling Was an Error.

"The ruling by which the proxies were excluded Wednesday," he said, "was a grave error, as no action taken by the meeting would possibly abrogate that section of the bylaws which explicitly provides that members of the board can vote either in person or by proxy.

"But even a prohibition to do this in the bylaws could not prevent the exercise of this right, as it is provided for in chapter 32 of the state laws in connection with corporations not organized for pecuniary profit, under which classification the real estate board comes. The proxies cannot be excluded, and I do not look to see a repetition of Wednesday's action at next Thursday's meeting."

George Birkhoff Jr., one of the leaders of the opposition, maintained yesterday that President Baird's ruling was correct, inasmuch as the refusal of the meeting to appoint a committee to examine proxies carried with it an exclusion of the proxies from participation in the meeting.

Tuley Favors Amendment.

The committee is in receipt of the following communication from Judge Murray F. Tuley favoring the proposed amendment to the law:

"I favor the proposed amendment to the Torrens law directing executors and administrators to register the title to the lands of their estates with a power in the Probate court to excuse registration in his discretion."

IDENTIFIED AS A PARTY TO POISONED BEER MURDER.

Joseph Mohr Directly Accused by John Lyons, Who Confessed to the Crime—James Bray May Be Released.

Joseph Mohr, who was implicated by John Lyons' confession in the killing of George Howard by the use of "knockout drops," was identified yesterday by Lyons; but Lyons said he did not know James Bray, the other man arrested.

Mohr, in return, declares that Lyons is insane, and denies any connection with the affair. He says that brooding over the crime has affected the mind of his accuser, although the police insist Lyons' story has been partly corroborated.

Mohr and Bray were brought from St. Louis in the morning and taken to the Desplaines street station. Lyons did not know of their presence until they were ushered in the room where he was repeating his confession, in the presence of a notary public, to Inspector Shea.

"There is the man," exclaimed Lyons, pointing to Mohr. "He is Mohr, who helped me to drug Howard."

"And Lieut. James Bray; how about him?" asked Lieut. O'Connor.

"I don't know him," answered Lyons. "He was not present in the saloon at the time as far as I know."

Bray was taken back to his cell, but Inspector Shea said he would detain him for the present.

"I had never spoken to Lyons previous to the night he claims Howard was drugged," said Mohr. "I was in the saloon when Howard entered. He bought five or six of us drinks. When he fell to the floor I believed he was drunk. I had not seen Lyons 'dope' the beer, as Lyons claims."

The police have no faith in Lyons' stories of many robberies in the downtown district, in which he says he participated. Though confident of his guilt in the Howard case they doubt the possibility of convicting him in his present condition.

FIND STOLEN GEM ON JANITOR.

Diamond Sewed in John Lewis' Hat and Watch Hidden in Lining of His Overcoat.

John Lewis had been janitor at the boarding house, 357 La Salle avenue, but a week when he took A. L. White's $150 diamond stud, and Mrs. Wieland's $50 watch. Both victims were boarders, and when they missed their belongings yesterday they appealed to the police. On searching Lewis the police found the stud sewed on the inside of his cap and the watch hidden beneath the lining of his overcoat. Lewis was locked up at the East Chicago avenue station.

ONE WOMAN SAYS: "I'M NOT GUILTY."

Mrs. Seth T. Paine Denies Any Knowledge of the Burdick Murder.

STILL WATCH HER HOUSE.

Police Theories and Facts Concerning Woman Follow Parallel Lines.

woman who is known as Jane Doe in the divorce papers filed by Mrs. Burdick. She, it is said, feared Burdick when free would not marry her, but marry Mrs. Helen Warren Cleveland, the other co-respondent. This woman, although married, is said to have lived beyond her means, and may have turned to Burdick for assistance. If she had gone to his home on the night of the murder there are three topics on which they might have quarreled, the coming exposure in the divorce court, the prospective abandonment of her in favor of the Cleveland woman, and the matter of money.

This woman is still living with her husband, who insists she is innocent. Three times the police have subjected her to trying examinations, but have not shaken her alibi. It is she the chief of police had in mind when he said he knew who killed Burdick, but lacked sufficient evidence to convict.

Supt. Bull had more to say today. He was asked whether Mrs. Paine was the person he suspects. He declined to answer that question, and said: "I will not answer."

"Is the woman you suspect one who had relations with Burdick or is familiar with his domestic habits?"

"The person I suspect I believe had been on friendly terms with Burdick, and I have reason to believe Burdick assisted her financially at different times," said Bull.

"Was there a struggle when the crime was committed betwen the murderer and Burdick?"

There Was No Struggle.

"I should think there was no struggle and there was no third person in the smoking room."

"Is the person you suspect from the inside or outside of the house?"

"That question I will not answer, and will not until the arrest."

Supt. Bull was asked whether he had clews to the identity of the lone woman who avoided the policeman in Ashland avenue early Friday morning. He said he had, but would not make them public.

"Had the person you suspect ever telephoned or written to Burdick?"

"Yes, the person had communicated both by telephone and by letter," said the superintendent.

"It is fair to presume," he concluded, "the person who committed the crime opened the front door."

Mrs. Hull, mother of Mrs. Burdick, who lived with the Burdick family in spite of the estrangement between Burdick and his wife, has been called several times before the district attorney, but her statements have not been shaken. She says she heard no noise the night of the murder.

Mrs. Paine Talked to Burdick.

That Mrs. Seth T. Paine held a spirited conversation with Edwin L. Burdick on the afternoon before he died is now regarded as important evidence. She called him up from her home, and a stenographer in his office answered and called Mr. Burdick to the telephone.

The talk lasted five minutes. The police have gathered bits of the conversation. It seemed to refer to an engagement which Mrs. Paine had with Burdick or an engagement which she wished to make. That the engagement was most urgent from Mrs. Paine's point of view is indicated by the bits of the conversation overheard by Mr. Burdick's stenographer.

"Is it urgent? You know what the conditions are. I have been busy, you know." These are a few scraps of the alleged remarks by Mr. Burdick.

The district attorney's office will give out none of the details that have been learned by following this clew.

After Mrs. Paine was visited at her home by the detectives following the murder she called up her husband, at Batavia, over the long distance telephone. The prosecuting officials, it is said, have the gist of this conversation.

It is said that Dr. Paine asked Mrs. Paine to "cut the talk short," and promised to come to Buffalo as soon as possible. It is admitted by the authorities that neither of these conversations may have any bearing upon a solution of the crime. It is positively known, however, that much importance is attached to this part of the investigation.

Divorce Cases Stopped.

Mrs. Paine has been prostrated by the excitement. She has been attended by a physician and has denied herself to all callers. In this she is not alone, for practically every family in the Burdick circle has barred its doors to visitors since the investigation of the murder. Several divorce actions which had been contemplated have been declared off and attorneys who had the papers and detectives who were working on the case have been warned to keep silence.

It has been learned that at least four couples in the Burdick circle were in immediate domestic difficulties. Two of these couples, it is said upon the authority of a detective working upon the case, had agreed to exchange wives with as little publicity as possible.

Burdick Heavily Insured.

In the investigation of Mr. Burdick's personal affairs, which since the murder has become incident to the work of solving the mystery, it has developed that Mr. Burdick's life was insured for $25,000.

Notwithstanding the domestic troubles and divorce proceedings of the Burdick family several large policies still remain payable to Mrs. Burdick. The largest policy is for $10,000. It was taken out about ten years ago. The policy was made payable to Mrs. Burdick and never has been changed.

It would seem somewhat strange in view of the facts relating to the insurance that Mr. Burdick, as has been alleged, should have changed his will, leaving his wife without a cent, while he did not think it necessary to change the clause making the large insurance payable to her.

No authoritative statement regarding the changing of the will can be obtained from Burdick's attorney. When asked regarding the matter he declined to say whether the will had been changed or not.

Novel Writers Consulted.

To give an idea of the effort that is being made to apprehend the murderer, no clew or theory is too unimportant to be overlooked. Every theory advanced is followed by an investigation until it is found incorrect.

Mrs. Charles Rohlfs, who has written several detective stories under the pen name of Anna Katherine Green, and who lives within a block of the Burdick home, was asked to aid the police by giving her views on a possible solution of the mystery.

As Mrs. Rohlfs appears to have studied the detective occupation as a science, it was thought she could aid the authorities in apprehending the criminal.

"To attempt anything of that kind is not within my province," said Mrs. Rohlfs. "It is true that I worked out several imaginative cases in my stories and am naturally interested in real cases, but I can offer no suggestion in this affair."

What Family Physician Found.

Dr. William H. Marcy, who was the first man to reach the Burdick home after the murder, consented to an interview this evening. Some details about the location of the body and Burdick's clothing, which have been in doubt, were given by Dr. Marcy. He said:

"I was summoned to the Burdick home by a telephone message, which requested me to come to the house at once.

"I asked if there had been any trouble, and the person at the other end of the line said she did not know. I arrived at the house a short time later and was met at the door by Mrs. Hull, Mr. Burdick's mother-in-law. I went immediately to the smoking den on the first floor. I opened the door. The interior of the room was dark. The shades had been drawn and the light was so poor at the time that I was unable, standing at the door, to distinguish anything on the couch at the farther or east end of the room.

Pool of Blood on Floor.

"I crossed the room to one of the windows and pulled down the sliding Venetian blinds. I then could see objects in the room more distinctly. I saw a pool of blood on the floor which extended under the tapestry draping of the couch. It was nearly under the center of the couch. My first thought was that Mr. Burdick had committed suicide. I approached the couch. Several sofa pillows had been piled upon it. I lifted two pillows and uncovered a crazy quilt. I raised the quilt and saw Mr. Burdick's head. The quilt had been thrown over the head and tucked in below. A narrow Turkish floor rug covered the body from the shoulders to the feet. I noted the battered condition of the skull and made no further examination of the room or the body until the arrival of the medical examiner.

"Dr. Rowland and I then made a further examination of the room, although the examination, so far as I was concerned, was not an exhaustive one.

Body Lying on Its Side.

"The body was lying about midway on the couch, with the head toward the north. My recollection is that the forehead was resting on the right arm, which was partly extended. The dead man was not lying prone on his stomach, but, I should say, partly on his right side. The face was turned down and slightly toward the west wall of the room. The left hand was extended, but I do not think it protruded over the edge of the couch. The knees were slightly flexed or bent.

"The body was clad in an undershirt, but as to the exact location of the other clothes my memory is a trifle hazy. The underdrawers, I think, were on the couch at or near the feet. I saw Mr. Burdick's coat, trousers, and shirt, but do not remember their location. It is my recollection that the stockings were on the floor near the foot of the couch. I saw a pair of eyeglasses on a bookcase on the south wall, and I supposed they belonged to the dead man.

Empty Glass on the Table.

"At the west wall there was a combination table-desk upon which I saw a cracker, a tart, a piece of cheese, a small butter knife, a cocktail glass, and a bottle. The table had but one drawer. That was in the center. It was partly drawn out, and a glance showed some papers within.

"Beneath the left hand corner of the drawer and on the floor were what appeared to be some unmounted pictures. They appeared to have been pushed from the table, or they might have been pulled from the half open drawer. At a casual glance I could see none of the pictures remaining on the table or in the drawer.

"So far as my memory serves me there was a chair somewhere near this table and one toward the north wall. I have been asked if that chair was under the chandelier when I entered the room. I don't remember clearly, but I think if it had been I should have stumbled over it when I entered the room, as I was obliged to pass directly beneath the chandelier, and the room was quite dark. I saw nothing else on the floor except a large Turkish rug near the door leading to the hallway. The walls of the room were coated with a sort of red burlap material, and from the sides to a point over the chandelier tapestry hangings had been draped.

Blood Spots on Picture.

"There was a picture of a dancing girl on the north wall and on the lower edge of that was noticeable some small spots of blood. The spots were larger than the head of a pin and not so large as a split pea. The same spots were found on the door."

The district attorney is having a careful examination of the dead man's stomach made on the theory that the woman who killed him put drugs in the cocktail drunk by Burdick in order to more easily carry out her plan to kill him. He says the evidence so far gathered sustains this theory.

BUFFALO MURDER MYSTERY.

Personnel of the Strange Social Tangle Involved in the Tragedy.

EDWIN L. BURDICK—President of the Buffalo Envelope Manufacturing company, found dead on a lounge in his den, his body covered up by cushions, at 8 o'clock Friday morning, Feb. 27, by his mother-in-law, Mrs. J. D. Hull. He had been beaten to death by some blunt instrument, which had been carried away by the assailant. No valuables of any kind in the house had been disturbed. Besides Mrs. Hull, Mr. Burdick's three children and two maids were in the house. A picture of Mrs. S. T. Paine was found in the room. An open drawer containing old letters showed some one had been ransacking them, evidently in search of some particular letter or letters. No absolute clew to the murderer or the motive of the murder has been found.

MRS. ALICE HULL BURDICK—Widow of E. L. Burdick, in Atlantic City at the time of the murder. She had been sued for divorce, and had entered a cross bill. Suits pending at time of murder. She is now back in Buffalo.

MRS. SETH T. PAINE—Wife of Dr. Paine, a dentist; lives alone with a child and a woman friend at 492 Elmwood avenue. Her husband practices and now lives in Batavia, N. Y., and claims his wife was to join him there as soon as the lease of their Buffalo house expired. Mrs. Paine's picture was found in Burdick's room the night of the murder. It is known she telephoned him the day before the murder. She has been closely and frequently questioned by the police officials, but asserts she spent the entire night at home.

MARY CUNNINGHAM—Friend and companion of Mrs. Paine; has been with her only three months, and maintains that Mrs. Paine did not leave the house the night of the murder.

MRS. J. B. WARREN—Now living in Cleveland, O.; formerly lived in Buffalo. Divorced two months ago. Named by Mrs. Burdick in her cross bill for divorce as the co-respondent. It is supposed she intended to wed Burdick after he obtained his divorce.

ARTHUR R. PENNELL—Lawyer, named by Burdick as co-respondent in his suit against Mrs. Burdick.

MRS. ARTHUR R. PENNELL—Supposed to have been named by Mrs. Burdick as one of the co-respondents in her suit for divorce, but no evidence that such a claim was warranted. Pennells, Warrens, Paines, and Burdicks members of the same social clubs and on terms of great family intimacy for years

MRS. J. D. HULL—Mother of Mrs. Burdick, but apparently friendly to Burdick and continuing to live with him and his children even after the divorce suits had begun.

LIGHT ON ARMY SCANDAL.

BRITISH SECRETARY OF WAR PUTS BLAME ON COL. KINLOCH.

Minister Brodrick in the House of Commons Officially Explains the Retirement of the Commander of the Grenadier Guards Regiment—Debate on National Defense—New Naval Base on East Coast of Scotland a Favor to Anti-German Sentiment.

[Copyright: 1903: By the New York Tribune.]

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

LONDON, March 6, 3 a. m.—The Grenadier guards' scandal was officially explained by Secretary of War Brodrick yesterday in parliament, and the responsibility for the suspension of Lieut. Col. Kinloch placed where it belonged. Lieut. Col. Kinloch had convicted himself by his own testimony, the commander in chief being his judge. Secretary Brodrick's statement was unexpectedly strong, and Kinloch's defenders were temporarily silenced.

The two important facts brought out were that the complaints presented by Lord Belhaven and lord de Saumarez had been followed by a military inquiry and that subalterns were caned for military offenses as well as matters of social etiquette. The subaltern court martial was revealed as a recognized agency of military discipline, and sentences for trivial offenses were enforced with extreme rigor. Earl Roberts' action in disciplining the commander who failed to suppress the proceedings was justified by the necessity of reforming existing scandals.

Secretary Brodrick's statement was generally commented upon in the lobbies of the house of commons. The talk about public school precedents has ended. Sensible journals are taking the tone of the Times and contending that the country is entitled to get its full money's worth in the army, and that subalterns' courts and brutal, degrading punishments are unworthy of British traditions.

Debate on National Defense.

The debate on national defense was a convenient stop gap when the ministers were behind hand with legislative measures. The enlarged scope of operation of the permanent committee on national defense was explained by Premier Balfour with lucidity and there was little controversy. The point which escaped observation was the neglect of the government to make permanent use of the colonial support which proved so valuable during the Boer war.

Mrs. Ward Starts for Paris.

Mrs. Humphry Ward, whose new novel is favorably reviewed in the English press, is starting for Paris and Rome and may visit Sicily. Reviewers comment upon the strength and skill of her story. Little is said about the resemblance of "Lady Rose's daughter" to "Mlle. de Lespinasse." The Manchester Guardian has identified the eighteenth century predecessor of Mrs. Ward's heroine and argues that the novelist was entitled to take such suggestions as were needed from real women of the past, although she may have followed too closely the curious incidents of the French memoirs.

British Army Estimates.

The British taxpayer will scan Secretary Brodrick's memorandum relating to the army estimates for the year ending March 31, 1904, with little satisfaction. The total amount of the estimates is $172,500,000, while the amount required for normal services, $137,500,000, shows an increase of $35,000,000 over the amount voted in the year that the Boer war began, and $500,000 over the current year's estimate.

BRAZIL SUSPICIOUS OF GERMANS

Colonial Society at Hamburg Rebuked for Stirring Up Distrust of Foreign Nations.

BERLIN, March 5.—Dr. Scharlach, presiding at a meeting of the Colonial society at Hamburg, rebuked the pan-Germans for stirring up suspicion abroad against German colonial projects. "For instance," Dr. Scharlach explained, "the time was when the Brazilian government was willing to assist any enterprise backed by Germans; but German colonists have been so frequently exhorted to stand by their nationality, language, and habits, with the ultimate object of forming a German state, that the Brazilian government is now unwilling to give Germans even equal opportunities with other nationalities. The idea of founding a German state in Brazil is a phantasy."

FRENCHMAN HAS DEVICE HE SAYS WILL MAKE BLIND SEE.

Prof. Peter Steins of Paris Invents Contrivance for Acting Directly on Optic Nerve Regardless of Eyes.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

PARIS, March 5.—Prof. Peter Steins claims to have discovered the secret of restoring sight to the blind. The announcement is published in the Revue des Revues, by Dr. Caze, who explains how Steins tested on him a wonderful apparatus of Steins' invention, by which he was not only able to restore lost sight, but to give vision to those who never had known it.

Steins took Caze into a dark room and bandaged his eyes so he could see nothing. He heard the professor walk to and fro, strike a match to light a lamp, and then felt the apparatus fixed around his temples, whereupon he instantly saw a dim light which enabled him to distinguish surrounding objects. Presently the light became stronger and Caze was able to count the professor's fingers when they were held before him and to enumerate other things in the room. Just as he was feeling his vision clearing further and was convinced he would soon see normally Steins suddenly removed the apparatus and Caze was in total darkness.

Steins' claim rests on the theory that a man does not see with his eye but with his brain, the eye only serving to receive the image, which the optic nerve transmits to the seat of perception. If, then, the image be transmitted to the brain without eyes a blind person can see as well as anybody else. The professor's apparatus is on the same scientific basis as a telephone with the substitution of light for sound.

Caze states that several other physicians experimented with the apparatus, but none was able to explain how the astounding results were obtained.

CANADA HELPLESS AGAINST FOE

Military Expert, Lecturing in London, Points Out Possible Danger from the United States.

LONDON, March 5.—Col. Kitson, formerly British military attaché at Washington and now commandant of the Sandhurst military college, in a speech in the Canada club last night, under the chairmanship of Lord Strathcona, said:

"Fortunately, at present, the possibility of trouble with the United States is farther off than ever, but I assure you that the Canadians would enter a campaign under the greatest strategical disadvantages. You will be lucky in upper Canada if you have any ammunition. The American regular army would be ready to raid your lines of communication which lie along the frontier. Your only arsenal is at Quebec, at the end of the line. Without better organization and without another arsenal in the interior you never will be safe from raids."

Lord Strathcona said that Canadians were ready to defend their railway and their homes with their lives. Another arsenal was being built at Ottawa, which was at some distance from the frontier.

TROOPS TO STAY IN CUBA.

United States Has No Intention of Withdrawing Soldiers Now Stationed on the Island.

Washington, D. C., March 5.—There is no present intention of removing from Cuba the American troops now stationed there. The Cuban government understands that the United States always has intended to keep a few soldiers or marines in Cuba indefinitely for the sole purpose of taking care of the naval and coaling stations at Guantanamo and Bahia Honda. The strength of this force is 800 men.

Squiers to Visit Isle of Pines.

HAVANA, March 5.—Minister Squiers has decided to go to the Isle of Pines on Monday to learn the extent of American interests there and confer with those who are urging the sovereignty of the United States over the island. The attorneys of the American settlers on the Isle of Pines assert that if, as is universally expected here, Cuban sovereignty is conceded in the permanent treaty they will contest against its ratification by the United States senate.

Señor Sangully introduced a bill in the senate today to prevent the sale or transfer of land and other immovable property to foreigners. The preamble of the bill states that large tracts of land are being sold to foreigners, principally to Americans, and if this continues the extinction of the Cubans as landowners will soon arrive.

NEW NAVAL BASE FOR BRITAIN.

Anti-German Sentiment in England Placated by Location of Station on North Sea.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

LONDON, March 5.—Premier Balfour announced in the house of commons today that the admiralty has decided to establish a new naval station at St. Margaret's Hope, on the north side of the Firth of Forth.

The unprotected condition of the British coast bounded by the North sea has been the subject of considerable comment. When a rumor of the government's intention to establish a new naval base gained currency recently it led to excited comment in Germany, where it was held that it showed distrust of that country's naval plans, as the suggested base could only be intended to meet a possible attack from Germany.

The location of the new naval base is regarded as a distinct concession to anti-German sentiment arising from the alliance over the Venezuelan affair.

Public opinion is not unanimous regarding the selection of St. Margaret's Hope as a site for the new naval base, many naval men contending that it would have been better to have placed it farther south in the neighborhood of the Tyne.

The admiralty's decision, however, in creating a new naval station meets with general approval. It is stated that the government has already purchased ample land along the foreshore of the Firth of Forth and the work of construction will be begun forthwith.

From a strategical point of view the site is admirably selected. The new naval station will be practically impregnable to attack, the estuary being already defended by strong modern fortifications. There is a splendid natural harbor with deep water and ample accommodation for a large fleet, while in close proximity are important coal fields. The port has good railway connections.

'IT'S MY CUP,' SAYS LIPTON

OWNER DECLARES SHAMROCK III. WILL WIN CONTEST.

Cup Challenger to Be Launched at 1:30 P. M. on March 17 and Will Be Christened by the Countess of Shaftesbury—First Trial Spin on March 27—Series of Races Planned with Shamrock I. — Rush Work on American Yacht.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

GLASGOW, March 5.—Sir Thomas Lipton, after inspecting Shamrock III. in the yards at Dumbarton today, announced that the cup challenger would be launched at 1:30 p. m., March 17, and that it would be christened by the countess of Shaftesbury. A general holiday will be declared in Dumbarton on the day of the launching.

Sir Thomas said today that his conviction that he had the cup "lifted" grows and increases every time he sees the Shamrock III., and he was pleased to find that his opinion was shared by those who were considered to be good judges.

Trial Spin on March 27.

The first trial spin of the challenger is set for March 27. There will be preliminary trials on the Clyde and then in the Solent. Later Shamrock III. will race at Belfast and possibly at Kingstown, Ireland, where special matches will be arranged. Shamrock III. will leave this side about the middle of June, and it is hoped that it will arrive at New York in the first week of July. It is now uncertain whether there will be any trial races in American waters.

Rush Work on the Defender.

Bristol, R. I., March 5.—Work on the new cup defender at the Herreshoffs is being rushed to the extreme limit, and the launching, it is now believed, is scheduled for April 11. Early in the year the steel workers were informed that each man would receive a bonus of 5 per cent of his wages provided the yacht was completed before April 15, but today they were told that the amount would be increased to 15 per cent if the work were finished a few days earlier.

BERNHARDT SEEN IN NEW PLAY.

French Tragedienne Gives Dress Rehearsal of Goethe's "Werther" —Piece a Success.

PARIS, March 5.—Sarah Bernhardt gave tonight the dress rehearsal of the dramatization in five acts by Pierre Decourcelle of Goethe's "Werther," the first performance of which will be given tomorrow.

Tonight's performance was a benefit for the distressed sardine fishers of Brittany. People were admitted on paying what they chose. The result was that the performance yielded nearly $5,000.

The audience was composed of social, artistic, and literary celebrities of Paris. The play follows the original sufficiently close, the author's changes tending, if anything, to render the work more pathetic and bring it more in accordance with modern sentiment.

Constant applause greeted each appearance of Sarah Bernhardt on the stage, although it is not Parisian etiquette to applaud at dress rehearsals. Mme. Bernhardt, in the title rôle, was well supported and the piece is handsomely staged.

YERKES HAS THE ENTIRE FIELD.

Decisions of British Royal Commission Give American Syndicate Advantage in London Transit Schemes.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

LONDON, March 6.—The royal commission that is to deal with the question of London underground railway traffic has been clearing the way for its work. As a result of the preliminary decisions Charles T. Yerkes is left absolutely in possession of the field so far as tube schemes are concerned. Before any other statements can be realized he will have all his lines built and working.

FRENCH DEPUTIES SLAP FACES.

Quarrel in Parliament During Final Debate on the Budget Will End in Duel.

PARIS, March 5.—The chamber of deputies late tonight adopted the budget by 371 votes to 82. Shortly before the adjournment Deputies Loque and Bagnol got into a heated discussion, ending by the latter slapping his colleague's face. M. Loque subsequently sent his seconds to arrange a duel.

POPE LEO KEEPS IN BED ALL DAY.

Aged Pontiff Declared to Be Suffering from Overwork and Excitement.

SEES ONLY ONE VISITOR.

Pilgrims in Rome Will Not Be Received at Vatican for Several Days.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

ROME, March 5.—Pope Leo has remained in his bed all day, and has frequently been visited by his physicians. His cough is abating, but his feebleness is persistent, notwithstanding that stimulants are administered frequently.

The fact is that the pope's physical prostration is due to overwork and overexcitement, which, however, leaves his mental faculties perfectly clear, wonderfully so, indeed. Therefore, Dr. Lapponi thinks that a few days' rest will restore the pope to his usual condition. The physician also says that the suspension of audiences will induce the numerous pilgrims and notable persons who are now in Rome to abandon the idea of seeing the pontiff and thus avoid causing the latter further fatigue, which might place him in serious danger.

Sees Only One Visitor.

The pope's only visitor today was his nephew, Count Camillo Pecci. While no pilgrims will be received for several days, it is possible the pope may receive the duke of Norfolk and a few English Roman Catholics on Monday.

Count Camillo Pecci, after his visit to the pontiff, said:

"The pontiff not only is not suffering from any specific sickness but it will be difficult to continue to keep him quiet, as he said to me:

"'The doctor wishes I should stay in my room until Monday, but I cannot have so many people waiting, who came to Rome purposely to see me. If I continue as well as I am at present, I shall resume my audiences on Saturday.'"

Continuing Count Pecci remarked:

"In the meanwhile the pope has announced that he will assist tomorrow in the usual Lenten sermon, together with the cardinals. Dr. Lapponi would have liked the pontiff to keep to his bed so as to regain his strength quicker, but the pope said:

"'I cannot do it. Staying in bed instead of strengthening me weakens me. Besides, I need light and air.'"

Father Zahm Goes to Paris.

The Rev. Dennis B. O'Connell, rector of the Roman Catholic university at Washington, started for the United States today by way of Paris.

BRITISH FEAR FOR FOOD SUPPLY

Deputation Appeals to Premier Balfour to Take Steps to Prevent Famine in Case of War.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

LONDON, March 5.—A deputation called on Prime Minister Balfour this afternoon to ask for a government inquiry into the security of England's food supply in time of war. The deputation included the lord mayor, leading bankers, corn merchants, shippers, and representatives of labor societies.

Admiral Sir John Hopkins declared emphatically that the present number of British cruisers could not protect the food supply destined for Great Britain in time of war.

Mr. Balfour in reply admitted that the people of Great Britain depended upon foreign nations for the greater part of their food supply. The danger they had to meet, he said, was not exclusion of food but the cost of introduction. It was a question of price. He did not think sufficient stress had been laid upon the part neutral nations would play in the event of war.

DAILY FIGHTS IN MACEDONIA.

Insurgent Leader Declares Bulgaria Will Be Powerless to Prevent Coming Conflict.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

VIENNA, March 5.—Dispatches received daily from Constantinople and Sofia indicate that the Macedonians are in no way becoming more peaceable, despite the promulgation of the reform scheme. Hardly a day passes without a conflict between Macedonians and Turkish troops.

The Sofia correspondent of the Neues Wiener Tageblatt telegraphs that the Macedonian leader, Sarafoff, will shortly assume a most active rôle. He has written the Bulgarian prime minister from his retreat in the mountains outlining the insurgents' plan of campaign, which, he says, no measures taken by the Bulgarian government can prevent.

Another Sofia report says the Bulgarian officers are quitting the army to join the revolutionists.

It is reported from Constantinople that the situation is so serious that the Austrian and Russian ambassadors have been asked by the porte for advice. The ambassadors advised the disarming of the Albanians. This will be a most difficult task.

SENATE BEGINS EXTRA SESSION.

New Members Are Sworn In and Then Senator Tillman Replies to Cannon.

IS SUPPORTED BY OTHERS

All Who Acted on Conference Committee Take Occasion to Justify Their Conduct.

Washington, D. C., March 5.—In obedience to the president's proclamation the senate of the Fifty-eighth congress convened in extraordinary session at noon today. An immense crowd witnessed the ceremony. Echoes of the Fifty-seventh congress had not died away when President Pro Tem. Frye called the body to order, and soon thereafter the senators who were reelected and those who were to take their seats for the first time, with the exception of Mr. Gorman, who had seen long service in the senate, were sworn in.

Friends and admirers of the senators loaded down their desks with floral tributes. One of the features of the opening ceremony was the reception accorded Mr. Gorman.

Mr. Cannon's speech in the house of representatives early yesterday morning in presenting the conference report on the general deficiency bill, in which he charged that the senate conferees had resorted to legislative blackmail and attacked the rules of the senate, formed the subject of some fervid remarks by Mr. Tillman and by the senate conferees, Messrs. Hale, Allison, and Teller.

Tillman Replies to Cannon.

Mr. Tillman said he did not know that there had ever been a similar speech delivered in either branch of congress. He then quoted from Mr. Cannon's speech in which he gave the reasons for the house conferees receding from their position with respect to the claim of South Carolina for $47,000 growing out of the war of 1812-1815.

There were two issues, he said, involved in that speech, one affecting the dignity of the senate and the other affecting his own official integrity, responsibility, and personal character. The speech, he said, was "wholly indefensible, indecent, and an outrage." He read from Jefferson's Manual regarding the comity that must obtain between two branches of a legislature, and asked whether it had not been grossly violated in this case. "Power," he said, "had made some of these men drunk."

He then gave a history of South Carolina's claim. Answering Mr. Cannon's criticism with respect to legislating by unanimous consent, Mr. Tillman said that nothing in the house of representatives seems to go except by unanimous consent of a few leaders.

Mr. Cannon had objected to the matter, said Mr. Tillman, simply because he called it legislation on an appropriation bill. Mr. Tillman drew a picture of the scene in the conference room while the committee was discussing his item and said, "The watchdog of the treasury came in, shut his massive jaws down on this claim, and said, 'Whenever you all get ready to rub that out wake me up.'" He said he was only speaking metaphorically.

Mr. Tillman then spoke of the determination arrived at by him.

"I simply shut my jaws down on the proposition," said he, "that I would have that money or have an extra session, and I was in a position, under the rules of the senate, to force it."

Senator Hale Regrets Incident.

Mr. Hale [Maine] said he would let the matter pass into oblivion, disagreeable as it was, but it affected him because he had charge of the deficiency bill. Speaking deliberately, Mr. Hale said there had been no legislative blackmail and that there was no necessity, "none whatever," said he, speaking with emphasis, for that conference to be brought into the speech of Mr. Cannon.

Mr. Cannon's use of the words, "legislative blackmail," Mr. Hale declared, were unfortunate, improper, and a breach of the privileges, which, if they are not in the written law, practically stand in the judgment of all good men as the comity between the two houses.

Allison Defends Senate.

Mr. Hale was followed by Mr. Allison, also a member of the conference committee, who said he commended and approved every word Mr. Hale had said "respecting the remarkable speech made in the other house at the close of the last session."

He said he was pained to see what seemed to him to be a violation of the rules of the house itself. Mr. Cannon's speech had been applauded, he said.

"Why? Because the senate had been held up on the gibbet of public opinion as respects its rules compared with the rules of the house so saintly in their nature and character." The house conferees had sought to put the blame on the senate rules, which had existed for a hundred years, and if any changes are made in those rules, added Mr. Allison, it will be by the senate, and "not by any outside body."

Mr. Teller [Colo.], the democratic member of the conference committee, said that Mr. Cannon's remarks were "inappropriate and out of place."

Senators Sworn In.

The oath was administered to thirty senators, who take office for six years. Of these seventeen were reëlected as follows:

Allison [Ia.],	Mallory [Fla.],
Clay [Ga.],	Penrose [Pa.],
Dillingham [Vt.],	Perkins [Cal.],
Fairbanks [Ind.],	Pettus [Ala.],
Foraker [O.],	Platt [Conn.],
Gallinger [N. H.],	Platt [N. Y.],
Hansbrough [N. D.],	Spooner [Wis.],
Kittredge [S. D.],	Teller [Colo.].
McEnery [La.],

The oath was administered to ten new senators:

Fulton [Ore.],	Long [Kas.],
Gorman [Md.],	McCreary [Ky.],
Heyburn [Idaho],	Newlands [Nev.],
Hopkins [Ill.],	Overman [N. C.],
Latimer [S. C.],	Smoot [Utah].

Of the senators reëlected Mallory of Florida is serving on appointment until the legislature meets, and of the newly elected Mr. Gorman is returning after six years' absence.

MESSAGE TO THE SENATE.

Explains That Special Session Is Expected to Take Action Upon Panama and Cuban Treaties.

Washington, D. C., March 5.—President Roosevelt today sent the following message to the senate:

"To the Senate: I have called the senate in extraordinary session to consider the treaties concerning which it proved impossible to take action during the session of congress just ended. I ask your special attention to the treaty with the republic of Colombia securing to the United States the right to build an isthmian canal and to the treaty with the republic of Cuba for securing a measure of commercial reciprocity between the two countries.

"The great and far-reaching importance of these two treaties to the welfare of the United States and the urgent need for their adoption requires me to impose upon you the inconvenience of meeting at this time.

Kearns, and the two men started for the rostrum, where the oath was administered in the usual form. Senator Smoot is a tall, slender, ungainly, and unprepossessing man. He was dressed in a business suit. As he started for the rostrum he walked in advance of his colleague, who is shorter in stature and portly. It was with some difficulty that Senator Kearns kept pace with his long legged comrade.

As soon as the Mormon apostle rose from his seat he was greeted with a round of applause by the occupants of the galleries, and it was a noticeable and curious fact that the women led in this demonstration. It continued until he reached the place where the oath was administered. As Senator Smoot stood upon the steps leading to the presiding officer's desk and held up his right hand while the oath was being read he was extremely nervous, and as evidence of this his fingers twitched and his hand was unsteady.

It was plain that Mr. Smoot expected some one to object to his taking the oath of office, and until he had actually subscribed to it he was as solemn as an owl. After he had taken the oath and had signed it in the volume kept for this purpose another round of applause broke forth from the galleries and continued until the Mormon apostle reached his seat, to which he was escorted by Senator Kearns. After he had taken his seat and had been congratulated by his colleague and one or two other senators, the Mormon apostle smiled for the first time, and it was with keen delight that he answered to the roll call to determine whether or not a quorum was present.

When all doubt as to whether he would be permitted to take the oath was passed Mr. Smoot moved about the chamber and consulted with a number of senators who are members of the committee on privileges and elections about the protests which have been filed against allowing him to take his seat. After the senate had settled down to business Senator Hoar moved that all protests be referred to the committee on privileges and elections. This was agreed to. Senator Burrows is chairman of this committee and is absent from the city, but will return this week.

It is not likely the committee will be called to consider the protests against Smoot until the return of its chairman. The general opinion is that the case against Smoot will not be seriously prosecuted unless actual evidence of polygamy is produced.

Biographies of the two new republican members from Chicago are printed in the new congressional directory. From this it appears that Mr. Wilson was born in 1869 in Bureau county, Ill. "Had a literary, commercial, and legal education, received degrees of LL. D. and L. B., is a lawyer by profession and was admitted to the bar in 1893. He married Sarah M. Moore Oct. 11, 1891, and has never held any political office or position."

Phil Knopf admits that he was born on a farm up in Lake county in 1847, served during the civil war until his regiment was mustered out, and has had political experience as a chief deputy coroner, state senator, and a county clerk.

***

Albert J. Hopkins, the new senator from Illinois, took the oath of office today and began the performance of his duties under the most pleasing auspices, as he received a flattering reception from his friends, many of whom crowded the galleries and were unsparing in their applause. It was when Mr. Hopkins and Mr. Long, the new senator from Kansas, were being escorted to the desk that the demonstration assumed such proportions as to cause Senator Frye, who was in the chair, to remark: "The chair is lenient to the galleries this morning."

The new senator was in one of his happiest moods, and in addition to a host of friends in the galleries who came to see him take the oath of office were members of his family, including his wife, son, and daughter. The oath of office was administered to the senators in blocks of four, and the group which swore to support the constitution when the new Illinois senator was formally inducted into office consisted of Hopkins, Dietrich of Nebraska, Long of Kansas, and Latimer of South Carolina.

Senator Cullom escorted his new colleague to and from the presiding officer's desk. As soon as Mr. Hopkins had taken the oath Senator Cullom congratulated him and escorted him to his seat, where he was met by Representative Warner, who was the first man to express his satisfaction at the elevation of Mr. Hopkins after the latter had returned to his place. Senator Dolliver of Iowa followed the Illinois representative in congratulating his former colleague on the ways and means committee, and then a large number of senators came over and welcomed Mr. Hopkins.

As the new Illinois senator took his seat he disappeared entirely from view, since about and upon his desk were so many floral tributes that he was completely obscured.

***

Arthur Pue Gorman's return to the senate after an absence of six years was the signal for the greatest demonstration of the day by the occupants of the galleries. The moment this astute leader of the minority appeared on the floor of the senate he was greeted with round after round of applause, which continued as he was escorted by Senator McComas to the rostrum, where he took the oath of office. This demonstration was permitted to go on unchecked by the presiding officer, and in return for his generosity in permitting the applause to continue President pro tem. Frye was given a round for himself which equaled that accorded the popular Marylander.

Senator Gorman had been remembered by his friends in a substantial way, for upon his desk was piled almost a mountain of flowers which completely obscured the boss of Maryland from the view of the presiding officer. So completely was Senator Gorman buried by these floral tributes that he found it necessary to take a seat belonging to some one else.

Although Senator Gorman is a democrat who possesses such marked ability that he has at time proven a distinct stumbling block to his political opponents, he is extremely popular with his republican colleagues, who are quick to recognize his ability. After the senate adjourned many republican leaders gathered about Senator Gorman and congratulated him upon his return to the millionaire's club. "How does it feel to get back?" some one asked. "Bully," laughingly replied Senator Gorman, "it seems as if I had been absent but a day."

***

Snapp of Joliet, Fuller of Belvidere, and Sterling of Bloomington, three new republicans, were all born in Illinois and give little space to their autobiographies.

***

Henry C. Rainey, the new democratic representative from Carrollton, Ill., devotes more than half a page of the congressional directory to telling the story of his life. He says of himself: "Mr. Rainey is a close student and a thorough lawyer, and enjoys a large practice in Greene and adjoining counties. His cases can be found in almost every volume of the Supreme and Appellate court reports for the last ten years, during which time he has contributed as much as any lawyer in his part of the state towards shaping the laws of the state."

In addition to these admirable qualities, for which he vouches, Mr. Rainey appears to be a perfect whirlwind on the stump, because he says that after having been nominated for congress at Jacksonville on his 42d birthday, Aug. 20, "during the contest which followed he thoroughly canvassed his district, making over fifty speeches."

This unusual record of one speech every day and a half will probably teach "Billy" Lorimer and other sluggish politicians a thing or two about running for congress.

THREATEN STRIKE IN COAL FIELDS.

Illinois Miners and Operators Fail to Reach Agreement on Wages.

DISPUTE IS AN OLD ONE.

Owners Refuse an Increase in Northern District and in Williamson County.

Springfield, Ill., March 5.—[Special.]—The united mineworkers and the coal operators of Illinois have failed to agree on the scale to be paid in the northern fields of this state and in Williamson county, and the relations between them are so strained tonight that there is talk of a strike.

Such action would include all the miners and other employés of the mines in the state, numbering in all 50,000 men.

Operators Vote Refusal.

When the joint convention was called together this morning the scale committee announced its inability to reach an agreement on these two matters. The convention went over the whole subject, and finally on a vote the operators refused to grant the 10 cent increase demanded in the northern field and the 9 cent advance in Williamson county. They declared they are willing to pay the 6 cent increase granted the state as a whole by the Indianapolis convention, but no more.

The whole matter was then referred back to the joint scale committee, and this committee has referred it to a select committee to report back tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock.

There are no indications the select committee has agreed on anything as yet. Another meeting of the joint convention will be held on Saturday.

Dispute an Old One.

The men in the two fields in dispute have for several years been asking for greater increases than the interstate conference has granted them, but they have always at the last minute given in. With every other point settled by the miners and operators, it is hoped that a strike will be averted.

Reduce Initiation Fee.

Terre Haute, Ind., March 5.—[Special.]—The convention of Indiana miners today adopted the suggestion of the national executive board and reduced the initiation fee from $50 to $25 for nonpractical miners and from $25 to $10 for practical miners. The increase a year ago was displeasing to the operators, who held that it curtailed the number of available men in rush times. The state officers were authorized to impose a fine of $25 on each local union when forty men at a mine suspend work pending a settlement of a local grievance by arbitration.

Hat Factories Shut Down.

Danbury, Conn., March 5.—Notice was posted today in twenty-three hat factories in Danbury, Bethel, and New Milford that the plants would be closed tonight. The action was taken because of the alleged refusal of the engineers to abide by an agreement recently made with the manufacturers. The difficulty is over a minimum wage rate of $3 a day and matters pertaining to the duties of engineers.

WILL CARE FOR FAMINE FUND.

Gov. Yates Issues Proclamation Appointing Commissioners to Handle State Appropriation.

Springfield, Ill., March 5.—In compliance with the joint resolution of the general assembly in relation to the suffering people of northern Sweden and Finland, Gov. Yates today issued a proclamation calling upon the public to contribute in aid of these people. After reciting the full text of the bill appropriating $5,000 for the relief and the joint resolution on the subject, the proclamation says:

"I feel well assured that the above mentioned resolution meets the hearty and unanimous approval of the state of Illinois. I have accordingly attached my official approval to the bill, and in accordance with its provisions I hereby designate and appoint as a committee of three to receive from the state treasurer the $5,000 appropriated and to pay over to the committee of citizens provided for, the following commissioners—namely: The Hon. Carl Lundberg, senator, Eleventh district; the Hon. S. E. Erickson, representative, Twenty-ninth district; and the Hon. C. A. Samuelson, representative, Thirty-third district.

"And in compliance with the joint resolution I hereby designate the following citizen to act as a committee, who shall cooperate with other committees and organizations working in the interests of famine stricken Sweden and Finland—namely: E. A. Lindstrand, editor of Swedish American, Chicago; the Hon. John R. Lindgren, State bank of Chicago; the Hon. Axel Chytraus, judge, Chicago; E. P. Strandberg, Chicago; the Hon. Ernest Bihl, Chicago; the Hon. M. O. Williamson, Galesburg; the Hon. Charles A. Samuelson, Sherrard; the Rev. Alfred Appell, Peoria; the Hon. L. M. Nolling, Rockford; and C. A. Larson, Paxton.

"Upon the publication of this proclamation the commission and committee above mentioned are requested to promptly assemble in Chicago and the public is requested to promptly and generously contribute."

CONCERT FOR FAMINE VICTIMS.

Norwegian National League's Benefit Fills Auditorium and Adds Goodly Sum to Relief Fund.

The Norwegian National league benefit concert for the famine sufferers of Norway, Finland, and Sweden filled the Auditorium last night and added a goodly sum to the relief fund. In addition to the "Pilgrims' Chorus" by the Chicago orchestra and other musical numbers, Luther Laflin Mills made an address, in which he appealed for help for the sufferers.

"Here in America our lives are filled with music, and brightness, and happiness," said Mr. Mills. "Over other lands across the sea a long night, cold and dreary, hangs. America is the most cosmopolitan of nations. We are related to all fatherlands, and the great heart of our people naturally throbs in sympathy with the suffering on the other side of the ocean. We have responded gladly and quickly to the cry of pain and have sent to them our aid and support."

Court Monitor I. O. F. has arranged for a benefit ball at Phœnix hall, Division and Sedgwick streets, April 2. Ald. John H. Sullivan of the committee appointed by Mayor Harrison to raise funds for the sufferers is chairman of the arrangement committee.

INSPECT SMALL PARK SITES.

Commissioners Will Visit the Four Proposed Locations on the North Side Next Sunday.

The proposed sites for four small parks on the north side will be inspected by the Lincoln park commissioners next Sunday. One site is between Gault court and Milton avenue on the south side of Oak street; another consists of between three and four acres bounded by Larrabee, Rees, and Veeder streets; the third includes the tract on which the House of the Good Shepherd is located at Elm and Sedgwick streets; and the fourth is between Burling and Orchard streets, north of Willow street.

Republican primaries will be open today from 12 o'clock noon to 7 o'clock p. m. Every republican who is registered in his district and who has not voted at a democratic primary during the last twelve months is entitled to vote. The law allows every legal voter two hours from his employment, without loss of pay, in which to vote.

END OF SYMPATHY STRIKE

POWERFUL CARPENTERS' UNION WAIVES THE RIGHT.

Result Is a Victory for the Building Contractors, and New Working Agreements Probably Will Be Made Without Further Delay — Other Trades Expected to Yield the Point —Packers and Their Steam Engineers Agree to Arbitration.

Building contractors scored their first pronounced victory in their renewed fight for the abolition of the sympathetic strike when they succeeded yesterday afternoon in getting the carpenters to waive their demands for its reinstatement in the new working agreements.

The carpenters form one of the largest and most influential unions in the building trades, and their action is expected temporarily to stop the growth of the demand for the strike right.

The manufacturers of sash, door, and interior finishings are also engaged in a controversy with their employés over the same point. The woodworkers have incorporated the strike right in their new agreements, and their demand that it be accepted has tied up negotiations on a wage and working schedule that will affect over 6,000 men.

Packers Consent to Arbitrate.

After a two hour conference yesterday afternoon the packers at the Union stockyards and their steam engineers agreed to submit their controversy over wages and hours to a board of arbitration. This will consist of one representative from each party and an arbiter.

The engineers made their strike more effective during the day and succeeded in practically tying up the Anglo-American plant and forced the Schwarzschild & Sulzberger company to notify its trade that the meat supply might be temporarily stopped at any time.

Striking Gas Men Want Help.

The striking meter inspectors of the People's Gaslight and Coke company have called on the federation of labor executive board to take a hand in the trouble. Saturday evening a meeting of the employés of the company will be held in an effort to get out more of the men. The teamsters have refused to join the strike, but have asked the Chicago board of arbitration to take up their wage demands on F. G. Hartwell, who holds the teaming contract for the company.

Machinists to Ask More Pay.

The 5,600 machinists of the city have agreed to make demands on May 1 for a 5 per cent increase in wages, a regular nine hour day, and a seven hour day during slack seasons. On a referendum vote these demands were indorsed by a majority ranging from 79 to 85 per cent. Many of the shops are granting the conditions asked, and all are expected to do so before the date set.

The scrubwomen of the downtown office buildings will meet the building managers today and will declare "that the wages of the janitresses must be 20 cents an hour or a strike will be called." They will then propose that the question be submitted to arbitration.

Concessions to Employes.

The American Smelting and Refining company made important concessions to its 350 employés yesterday. Engineers are to receive the same wages for an eight hour day they had been paid for twelve hours; firemen will receive 10 cents more for the shorter day; and other employés are similarly affected. The plant is at Ninety-fourth street and the lake. Last Christmas the company presented each of its employés money to the value of 5 per cent of his annual earnings.

ALLEY "L" EMPLOYES NOW THE BEST PAID IN COUNTRY.

President Leslie Carter Voluntarily Advances Wages in All Departments of the Road.

Employés of the South Side Elevated road were given an unexpected increase in wages yesterday that makes them the best paid men of their trade in the country. The advance was voluntary on the part of the company. Since the Northwestern and Lake street companies granted their men better working conditions the employés of the south side system have been restive. Three weeks ago the officers of the union allowed the men to remove their buttons so that no one could discover who was a member. Since that time most of the faint hearted have come into the organization. Knowledge of this, the men declare, caused the company to take action.

The increase includes all departments. The motormen were given 29 cents an hour instead of 25 and 27½ cents, the former rate. The conductors were raised from 20 to 21 cents an hour and the guards were given 18½ cents instead of 16½ cents.

"The move of the south side company leaves us little to arbitrate," said Organizer C. O. Pratt. "The company has now granted the union wage scale and the other matters are of slight importance. President Carter told us some time ago that he would treat with us when we were ready, and we soon will be now."

The Metropolitan road waived the arbitration agreement it entered into with its men on Tuesday and has agreed to settle all its differences in joint conference. This was decided on yesterday at a meeting between a committee of the men and President MacAllister and General Counsel W. W. Gurley. The questions in dispute will be taken up within a few days.

NEGRO'S NAME AGAIN SENT IN.

William D. Crum, Once Rejected by Senate, Recommended by President Roosevelt.

Washington, D. C., March 5.—The president today sent the following nominations to the senate:

William D. Crum, collector of customs, district of Charleston, S. C.

William A. Day, District of Columbia, and Milton D. Purdy, Minnesota, assistant attorneys general.

The nomination of Dr. Crum was reported adversely by the senate commerce committee of the Fifty-seventh congress. His renomination will be referred to the same committee, but owing to changes in the personnel of the committee the president expects a favorable report on it.

It is understood to be the president's intention not to exercise special influence to secure favorable action on the nomination. In the event of its rejection by the senate it is unlikely that the appointment will be renewed.

STRIKE IS STILL TALKED.

WABASH TRAINMEN TALK OF GOING OUT WITHOUT CALL.

By Acting as Individuals They Aim to Avoid Judge Adams' Injunction—Discontent Is Spreading Among the Engineers, Conductors, and Yardmen—Union Leaders Consult with Attorneys and Defer Their Answer to Court Order Several Days.

St. Louis, Mo., March 5.—[Special.]—The strike sentiment among the employés of the Wabash railroad is spreading rapidly. Everywhere the men are discussing the plan for leaving their work as individuals and not wait for a strike order. In this way they purpose to avoid any entanglement with Judge Adams and his injunction and at the same time tie up the railroad and thus "get even" with President Ramsey.

The talk started among the trainmen and firemen, and it is declared by members of the brotherhoods that the full membership is ready to leave work as soon as some self-elected leader who was not mentioned in the court order waves his hand.

Other Men Dissatisfied.

The spirit has spread through roundhouse discussions, and it is declared that the engineers, conductors, telegraphers, brakemen, and trackmen, to the number of 50,000, may become involved in the struggle.

Rumors of a secret compact between the men and the leaders to go out even if the dissolution of Judge Adams' injunction is not granted are abundant. The rules of the brotherhood prohibit striking without the sanction of the grand masters of the order, but it is believed that there is sufficient provocation for breaking it. The men are still at work, however.

The necessity for careful work in preparing the answer to the injunction caused a change in the plans of the leaders of the union men, and the filing of it, which was set for this afternoon, was delayed.

Judson & Green, a local law firm, has been engaged to aid the regular counsel of the unions. A conference was held in their offices today. Attorneys E. J. Pinney of Cleveland and W. T. Irwin of Peoria, with Grand Masters Morrissey and Hannahan, were present, as were also members of the local brotherhood of firemen.

At the conclusion of the conference it was announced that the motion for a dissolution of the restraining order would not be ready for presentation for several days. John H. Murphy of Peoria, general counsel for the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen, arrived after the conference had started.

Ramsey Says, "No Trouble."

President Ramsey said today that he had no statement to make on the situation, as the questions at issue are now in the hands of the courts. All his men were at work, he reported.

PLAN TO STAMP OUT TYPHOID.

Ithaca's Aldermen Vote Unlimited Means for an Expert Who Was Sent by Board of Health.

Ithaca, N. Y., March 5.—In accordance with recommendations made by Dr. Soper, who came to Ithaca at the instance of the state board of health, the common council voted today to place unlimited means at his disposal for the purpose of stamping out the typhoid epidemic. A force of twenty men immediately visited all houses in which fever has appeared and thoroughly disinfected them. The attitude of the university authorities toward the water question is that Cornell is in favor of any plan which promises to give the city pure water in short order, and does not stand committed to the filtration plant which was proposed by President Schurman before the common council, and which was approved by that body.

Tuscarora Members Not Involved.

Officers of the Tuscarora club may not hereafter let their rooms to outside politicians. Wednesday evening a meeting of supporters of John Dalton, the aldermanic candidate, was held in the clubrooms, and William O'Brien was assaulted after speaking in favor of Robert Burke. The Tuscarora members deny they had a hand in the matter. "On account of the criticism that has come to the club, I shall favor a resolution to stop hiring the hall," says James Donnegan, an official of the organization.

TWO MARKETS IN FIERCE TURMOIL.

Prices of Leading Stocks in New York Slump on False Rumors.

MONEY RATE GOES UP.

Bull Traders Get Control of Cotton Exchange and Recover Their Losses.

New York, March 5.—[Special.]—Wall street had an exciting day. While the bears and bulls in the cotton trade were struggling for the supremacy of that market, with honors at the close of the day about evenly divided, the bears on the stock exchange were having a field day, much to the discomfiture and certainly greatly to the loss of the bulls there.

Aided by an advance in call money rates to 6 per cent and by the dissemination of a variety of disturbing rumors with respect to the credit of several commercial and financial houses, the bears vigorously attacked the market at the opening and with little letup continued the campaign to the conclusion of the market session.

Under this attack the prices broke sharply. In some instances they fairly crumbled away, with many active stocks down two and three points each, and an extreme decline of 23½ points recorded for Wells-Fargo express stock on a forced sale of 400 shares.

Rumors Aid the Break.

While unquestionably the rise in money contributed to the break in the market, it is undeniable that the main cause of the selling and general uneasiness manifested in many parts of the financial district up to the close of business was the circulation of the rumors already referred to. The rumors, it now develops, were absolutely without foundation in fact. They had to do with a national bank, a leading commission house, and three large retail dry goods stores, and all were to the same effect—namely: that the concerns, one and all, were in trouble and suspensions or failures were imminent. All these rumors were followed up to a definite conclusion, and it has been determined that the only foundation for them is malevolence in regard to one of the large retail dry goods houses, which, notwithstanding the solicitation of a dealer for their commercial paper, sold at less than the dealer had desired to a bank. The house was vouched gilt edged by several banking houses at the close of business, and the rumors were classed as a hunched order to suit the ends of bear operators when the market was declining. These facts, however, did not get out until after the close of business.

Keene as a Bear.

Beyond this sentiment the market was depressed by the action of such standard stocks as Union Pacific and Southern Pacific, which were pressed heavily on sale all day. The main force of the selling movement was apparently James R. Keene, who is manager of the Southern Pacific pool, which, it is understood, holds 300,000 shares. In the street the story was told that Keene had definitely and finally turned bear and concluded his bull arguments for the large financial powers and was in for a long campaign.

The western houses and at some other time the Gates following were also reported as large sellers.

In the outside market conditions were similar to those on the stock exchange market. The most conspicuous issues were the new bonds of the United States Steel corporation, which were traded on a constantly declining market and sold as low as 88. The closing price showed a net loss for the day of 3⅝ points. This, added to the 3½ points decline of Wednesday, makes a total loss of 7⅛ points since the announcement of the plan under which the bonds are to be issued. Among the curb stocks the most prominent was Northern Securities, which lost about two points on a sale of 10,000 shares.

Bulls Lead in Cotton.

The bear attack on cotton was more than met today by Daniel J. Sully and the bull clique. At the close of the day's trading prices were from 5 to 6 points higher than Wednesday's close. The fluctuations were wide and the transactions for the day were larger than for a long time past, being officially estimated at 800,000 bales.

There was a rise early in the day of from 6 to 11 points, owing to the buying of brokers who were supposed to be acting for the Sully clique and more or less covering by the shorts and some new local buying. Then came a reaction under the aggressive hammering of the bears in Wall street and Philadelphia and a net decline of from 11 to 14 points resulted. Heavy buying by the leading bulls and covering by the large shorts checked the decline, and prices again advanced. They wound up with a net improvement for day of 5 or 6 points. The trading centered largely in the two months of May and July. The close on Wednesday of the former month stood at 9.76 cents. The last sale at 9.82 cents for July showed a point improvement over Wednesday's close.

Sully was an open buyer, and so were many prominent local interests believed to be associated with him in the bull movement. At the same time it is said by some that these interests sold in a quiet way, although it is believed they were heavy buyers on the balance.

Crowds Fill Gallery.

The Wall street bear pool, under the lead of Theodore Price, sold early in the day, but brokers who often act for that operator were heavy buyers later on, supposedly to cover the shorts. The bears were encouraged at the time by a decline on the stock exchange. The gallery of the exchange was packed with a crowd so large that there was some fear the railings of the gallery could not stand the pressure against them and they were reinforced with ropes.

An explanation made by one of a prominent firm that the speculative fight between the bull clique, headed by Sully, and the bear element, under the leadership of Price, would dominate the immediate future of the course of values rather than trading along legitimate lines. What will be the outcome remains to be seen and is a question of the strength of their respective followings, together with the movement of the crop and the attitude which the spinning trade will adopt in regard to the price.

LAITY PLAN TO GREET QUIGLEY.

Will Go to Laporte, Ind., to Meet the New Archbishop—Reception at Official Residence.

Arrangements for the reception by the Roman Catholic laity of Archbishop Quigley on his arrival on Tuesday were completed last evening when nearly 300 of the prominent laymen of the diocese met with the committees of the clergy in Cathedral hall, Chicago avenue and Cass street.

A committee was appointed to draw up resolutions of welcome, which are to be embossed and presented to the archbishop at Laporte, where he will be met by a delegation of laymen and escorted to Chicago. The reception committee will consist of about 350 of the clergy and laity, who will go on a special train to Laporte. On the arrival in Chicago the party will be taken in carriages to the archiepiscopal residence at North avenue and North State street, where a formal reception will be given Archbishop Quigley and his party.

A committee was also appointed to arrange for the entertainment of the Buffalo laymen who will accompany Archbishop Quigley to Chicago.

Republican primaries will be open today from 12 o'clock noon to 7 o'clock p. m. Every republican who is registered in his district and who has not voted at a democratic primary during the last twelve months is entitled to vote. The law allows every legal voter two hours from his employment, without loss of pay, in which to vote.

WOMAN NOVELIST A PATIENT IN HOSPITAL.

Miss Edith Wyatt.

Miss Edith Wyatt of 7 Chalmers place, whose novel, "True Love," has just been published, is at St. Joseph's hospital, rallying from a critical operation, made necessary by an injury she sustained by a fall in the Alps last summer. Miss Wyatt is fond of mountain climbing, and was touring the Swiss Alps with a party including Mr. and Mrs. Samuel McClure. She lost her footing and fell a short distance, but her injury, which was at first considered unimportant, left her in poor health. Her recovery is expected.

Miss Wyatt's reputation as an author was established by cheerful stories, or "sermons," as they have been called, on plain people, which were printed in McClure's Magazine. She was born 29 years ago in Wisconsin, and came to Chicago with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. O. Wyatt, at the age of 6 years. She studied at the Girl's Collegiate school until she was 18, and then spent two years at Bryn Mawr college.

When Miss Wyatt returned to Chicago she taught elementary Greek for four years at the school where she prepared for college, and it was during this period that her talent for authorship first began to manifest itself. For the last five years she has been exclusively engaged with her literary work.

SCORE ONE FOR BARRETT.

COUNTY BOARD MUST ANSWER FOR CONTEMPT OF COURT.

Judge Haney Issues Order for Commissioners to Appear Next Wednesday and Also Announces That He Will Hear the Sheriff's Mandamus Case—Sarcasm and Blandishments Mark Hearing—President Foreman Asserts Net Cut in Office Is $59,720.

Sheriff Barrett secured the decision in the preliminary two rounds of his battle with the county commissioners yesterday. Judge Haney issued a rule citing President Henry G. Foreman and the fourteen other members of the board to appear in court next Wednesday morning and show cause why they should not be punished for contempt because of their failure to provide a salary appropriation for sixty-eight employés of the sheriff's office.

Barrett's friends and advisers propose further warfare. A legal fight is to be made on the action of the county commissioners in transferring a number of skilled laborers from the sheriff's pay roll to that of the superintendent of public service. An injunction may be sought to prevent the board from interfering with or reducing the sheriff's pay rolls.

Fight Opens Before Haney.

Judge Haney was presented with a petition asking a rule for contempt immediately on the opening of court. The petition pointed out that the Circuit court judges had decided that the sheriff should be allowed 331 deputies and assistants, and that, notwithstanding this rule, the county board had refused to provide for sixty-eight such employés.

Judge Haney entered the rule, and then the mandamus order was called up.

"We expected this case would go before Judge Dunne for hearing," said Attorney Sims.

"What language in the writ gave you opportunity for that construction?" demanded Judge Haney with dry emphasis.

"O, I believe your honor will give us a perfectly fair hearing," returned Attorney Sims.

Judge Haney Resents Blandishments.

"Don't try to jolly me," answered Judge Haney. "I got over being susceptible to that many years ago," and he entered rulings requiring that answers to both orders secured by the Barrett party be filed by next Wednesday morning.

Sheriff Barrett's friends last night threatened to show up a big political movement in this decrease in the appropriation for that office.

President Foreman issued a statement asserting that the net cut on the sheriff's office is $59,720, due to decrease in the business of that department in recent years. If Barrett wins out and keeps the sixty-eight employés on the pay roll the county commissioners threaten to cut salaries all along the line, on the basis of power conferred by the constitution, and thus keep that official within the present appropriation.

THREATENS TO KILL FRIEND: IS ADJUDGED TO BE INSANE.

After Causing Joseph Earl to Remain Away from Business Through Fear Sebastiano Sontoro Is Arrested.

Having repeatedly threatened to kill his former employer, who through fear has remained away from his place of business, a curb was put on Sebastiano Sontoro yesterday, when he was adjudged insane. He will be sent to Kankakee at the expense of his former employers.

Joseph Earl of Earl Brothers, commission merchants in South Water street, was the man against whom Sontoro directed his threats. For over two years the man is said to have maintained this tyranny. Dr. Hunter, the county physician, says he does not know of another case of such prolonged fear caused by an insane person.

Six years ago Sontoro was a successful business man in South Water street. Since that time he has failed, and three years ago his friends began to think his sanity should be questioned.

After his failure Sontoro accused Mr. Earl, by whom he was once employed, of withholding a year's salary. He continued these charges until May 8, 1900, when, according to the testimony, he made definite threats to kill Earl.

On the advice of his friends Earl stopped transacting his business downtown. Occasionally he visited his office, but more recently, according to the testimony, he did not visit his office at all and arranged that such matters as needed his attention be taken to his home at 1621 West Adams street.

MYSTERY IN DENVER HOME

DAUGHTER OF ENGLISH NOBLE DEAD BY DEAD MAN'S SIDE.

Mrs. Charles Stanley, Granddaughter of Lord Kercastle of Inverness, Scotland, and Maj. Marshall Hurd, a Veteran of Civil War, Asphyxiated—Woman, a Helpless Cripple, Supported for Years by the Pension of Her Late Husband's Aged Friend.

Denver, Colo., March 5.—[Special.]—Mrs. George Stanley, a granddaughter of Lord Kercastle of Inverness, Scotland, was found unconscious in her apartments in this city. In the same room was the dead body of Maj. Marshall Hurd, a civil war veteran, 72 years of age. His death and her unconsciousness were apparently caused by coal gas, which filled the room from a defective stovepipe, although there are suspicions of a more serious tragedy. Mrs. Stanley died tonight without recovering consciousness.

Belonged to Noble Family.

Mrs. Stanley was apparently 45 or 50 years old, and was for years a cripple. As stated, she was a granddaughter of Lord Kercastle of Inverness, Scotland. Her mother was Lady Allen and her father governor of an English province in India. Lady Allen by a second marriage became the mother of Sir James Grant of Toronto, one of the most eminent physicians of the dominion of Canada, who was knighted by Queen Victoria.

Mrs. Stanley, it is said, was thrice married. Her first husband and their four children died of the black diphtheria in Quebec. Several years later she married a resident of Washington, D. C. A year or so later he shot and killed himself in a hotel at Syracuse, N. Y. She then married Herbert Stanley, who died a year ago, leaving her penniless and helpless on account of ill health.

Shares a Veteran's Pension.

Maj. Hurd, who at that time was an inmate of the Old Soldiers' home at Montevista, Colo., came to Denver and undertook to care for Mrs. Stanley, whose late husband was his friend.

The relations between Maj. Hurd and Mrs. Stanley were peculiar. She sometimes referred to him as her husband, but he always spoke of her as Mrs. Stanley. Their only means of subsistence was the veteran's pension of $12 a month. They lived, rent free, in a cottage controlled by St. John's cathedral and left to the church to be used for aged and infirm Englishmen. The county supplied them with fuel, and with Hurd's pension and many gifts of clothing and provisions from charitable people the couple lived comfortably.

Long a Helpless Invalid.

Mrs. Stanley was not only helplessly crippled in one of her lower limbs so she could move only on crutches but was a confirmed invalid who had never stepped out of the house and whose hypochrondriacal mind borrowed thousands of ills from which she did not actually suffer. The house in which she lived is a veritable apothecary's shop. There are narrow shelves around the walls of the bedroom and kitchen. These are stacked full of bottles, boxes, and jars containing all kinds of medical panaceas. The entire house is in confusion. Clothes and personal belongings are scattered over the beds, chairs, tables, and floors. The one fire used to heat the apartments is a large, range. The top is covered with soot that has sifted down from the leaky stovepipe from which escaped the gas which asphyxiated Maj. Hurd and Mrs. Stanley.

Coroner Horan said this evening that he was well enough satisfied that it is a case of asphyxiation to give that as his verdict.

Among Mrs. Stanley's effects was found a note book in which was penciled: "Brother George's fortune was estimated at $35,000,000, but at this writing it is $400,000,000. To think how rich brother George is and how poor I am."

ELIOT SAYS HE WAS MISQUOTED.

Did Not State in His Annual Report That College Graduates Do Not Reproduce Themselves.

Cambridge, Mass., March 5.—[Special.]—President Eliot of Harvard, who was credited with saying that college graduates do not reproduce themselves, spoke in his own defense today and declared he had been misunderstood. "What I stated," he said, "has been greatly exaggerated. According to the papers I made a sweeping statement that college men do not reproduce themselves, whereas, as a matter of fact, I said nothing of the sort. The figures that I gave were accurate, and I do not care to change or make any addition to my statement. Such, indeed, is unnecessary."

BEER LUNCH A BLESSING.

SO SAY SALOON MEN, WHO CLING TO FREE FOOD.

Liquor Dealers of the Northwest Side Hold a Meeting to Protest Against Proposed Legislation — Anti-"Can Rushing" Measure Held Outrageous and the "Bite to Eat" Is Said to Promote Sobriety—Restaurant Owners Are Blamed for Opposition.

Our liberty and free lunch forever.
Shall we be deprived of our business to satisfy the restaurantkeepers of Chicago?
We alone shall say whether free lunch shall be abolished in saloons.
Take away the free lunch and 3,000 Chicago saloonkeepers will have to suspend business.
A man who doesn't eat when he drinks is likely to become a drunkard.
The anti-can rushing measure is an outrageous thing.
The local option bill is the most obnoxious ever introduced in the state legislature.

The foregoing were among the sentiments expressed yesterday afternoon at a meeting of the Northwest Chicago Saloonkeepers' association, held in Schoenhofen hall, 680 Milwaukee avenue. The association, composed almost entirely of Germans, has a membership of 320, and is the largest in the city.

Although there were some present who regarded free lunch as a nuisance, the sentiment was overwhelmingly in favor of opposing the anti-free lunch legislation, for which Chicago restaurateurs are blamed, and a resolution to that effect was passed unanimously, amid rousing cheers.

Free Speech for Free Lunch.

"Nine-tenths of these same restaurant men sell bottled beer in competition with us," declared one member of the association.

"Saloonkeepers can abolish the free lunch if they choose," commented another, "but we shall not be forced to do so against our will. We pay more taxes than any other equal number of business men."

Senator John Powers of the Seventeenth district also came in for denunciation. He was referred to as the author of "the obnoxious anti-can rushing measure that now confronts the harassed and maligned saloonkeepers of Chicago."

"Such a law would mean that many of our members would have to close their saloons," said one of the officers. "Especially in the factory districts are the saloonkeepers dependent on the can trade. Chicago workmen will oppose this measure."

It was decided to secure a copy of Senator Powers' bill to "see just what it is like."

"First, Last, All the Time."

"I am a free lunch agitator first, last, and all the time," said Joseph Grein. "Every year fanatics go before the state legislature and say certain saloonkeepers are robbing the people. Why, free lunch is the means of keeping men sober. The restaurateurs seem to think that if they can secure the passage of this measure people will go to their places and buy a meal and a glass of beer with it. If the restaurants will quit selling beer we will stop serving free lunch. Then we will be on an equal footing."

Mr. Grein also denounced the local option bill, saying:

"It is the most obnoxious measure ever introduced in the Illinois legislature. It will mean bribery, boodleism, debauchery, drunkenness, and the worst kind of slavery for the saloonkeepers, who will be at the mercy of the men they refuse to furnish with drinks."

Gustave Kettler, secretary of the association, said he personally opposes free lunch but believed a majority of the Chicago saloonkeepers favor it.

"I do not serve free lunch in my own saloon," said Sergeant at Arms Philip Boehle, "but I favor the idea for others. I often am hungry myself."

COMES TO PLAN INTERIOR WORK ON NEW POSTOFFICE.

Henry Ives Cobb, the Architect, Arrives from Washington to Consult with Contractor for Federal Building.

Plans for the interior decoration of the new postoffice building will be considered during the coming week by Henry Ives Cobb, the architect, who arrived in Chicago from Washington yesterday afternoon. The appropriation of $750,000 recently made by congress will be used for this work.

Mr. Cobb was a passenger on a train that collided with a freight train near Toledo, O., yesterday morning. All the passengers were thrown from their berths, but no one was seriously injured.

"I thought I never was going to land in this city," said Mr. Cobb last evening. "We were running about seventy miles an hour when we struck the freight. Every one was thoroughly scared, but except for a few bruises there was no one hurt."

Turning to the future of the postoffice building, Mr. Cobb said:

"For a time the outlook for the appropriation seemed hazy. When Senator Tillman announced he was going to talk until time for adjournment there did not seem to be much hope left. One million dollars was asked for the work, and the amount that was appropriated was a compromise.

"I cannot say definitely when the work outlined will be commenced. All the plans will have to be presented to the secretary of the treasury, and after they are approved we shall be ready to begin. I shall be here several days going over the plans and in consultation with Mr. Peirce, the contractor.

"I do not believe there was any opposition in Chicago to the additional appropriation. What did the people think of Congressman Mann's opposition? I do not pretend to understand it myself. It was entirely unexpected."

MAKE CONTRACT WITH SEAMEN.

Lake Carriers Sign Agreement for a Year with Them and Take Up Other Unions.

Detroit, Mich., March 5.—The executive committee of the Lake Carriers' association today made a contract with the Seamen's union fixing wages at $45 a month from the beginning of the season and $55 after Oct. 1, the men to get 25 cents an hour extra for all work required of them while off watch. This applies only to wheelsmen, watchmen, and lookout. Ordinary seamen will get $25 from April 15 and $37.50 after Oct. 1. The demands of the cooks will be taken up next, and afterwards those of the Buffalo grain scoopers.

SAYS PACKERS HAVE ENOUGH.

Judge Grosscup Does Not Think They Will Proceed Further in the Injunction Suits.

Los Angeles, Cal., March 5.—Judge Peter S. Grosscup of the United States Circuit court of Chicago has arrived in Los Angeles.

In speaking of the packing combine case, in which he granted a temporary injunction, Judge Grosscup said:

"I do not apprehend that the packing companies will care to proceed with the case. The Elkins bill certainly will strengthen the interstate commerce act, but how far any remedy will be effected it is difficult to estimate at this time."

Triumphs of 1902.

Seldom if ever in any one year of the history of the world have so many important events of universal interest taken place. America, England, Germany, and France have each participated. The president of the United States welcomed and entertained H. R. H. Prince Henry of Prussia at the White house. Edward the VII. was crowned king of England and emperor of India, the German emperor had his American built yacht, Meteor, christened; France had the unveiling of the Rochambeau statue, and at all functions attending these celebrations Moet & Chandon's Champagne was used exclusively. This indeed is an unparalleled record, which is proof positive of the superiority and popularity of the renowned brand of Moet & Chandon White Seal.

HILLIS DEPLORES DOLLAR WORSHIP

Pastor Says This Is Age of Revision, Even for the Ten Commandments.

SEVERE ON THE NEW RICH

Single Donor Gives $1,000,000 to Barnard College and Rockefeller Is Suspected.

NEW YORK BUREAU CHICAGO TRIBUNE.
New York, March 5.

Dr. Hillis Scores Worship of the Dollar.

Touching by inference upon the strides being made by the trusts the Rev. Newell Dwight Hillis, speaking Wednesday night at the installation services for the Rev. Dr. Nacy McGee Waters, successor to the Rev. Dr. M. Tompkins, at the Congregational church, Brooklyn, arraigned the worship of wealth, which he said seemed to be supplanting in a measure the worship of God, and predicted that within twenty years the fight between materialism and Christianity would become an acute struggle.

"In these days," said Dr. Hillis, "we see young men going to college to fit themselves for business and professions. The class of young men who years ago went to enter theological seminaries now tell you they intend to become lawyers because of the greater emoluments to be gained. Now and then we hear of a man stealing a railroad and the public applauds him for his cleverness. There seems to be a spirit of revision in this age. There is even a new version of the ten commandments, of which the chief seems to be 'honor the almighty dollar that you may have yachts and lands and a life of ease and steal everything in sight.'"

Referring with biting sarcasm to the bent of the newly rich to pose as art connoisseurs, Dr. Hillis said: "We see them buying paintings and musty old manuscripts without being able to tell for the life of them whether one is the work of an old master or the other the genuine production of an old classical littérateur.

Dr. Hillis' remarks caused a decided sensation, and the congregation broke forth in applause. Dr. Hillis' words were all the more unexpected because of his stand on the question of labor unions, which in a recent sermon he held to be forms of tyranny and a dead weight about the neck of industrial progress.

Barnard College Given $1,000,000 by Single Donor.

The announcement was made at Columbia university today that the sum of $1,000,000 had been presented to Barnard college, the women's department of the university, and that the money had already been used to purchase land. The name of the donor is withheld, and, it is understood, is known only to President Butler. George A. Plimpton, the treasurer of Barnard, stated the name of the donor would not be made public in the future, but there is a well defined rumor, backed up by a person in authority, the anonymous friend of the institution is a woman. It is expressly stated in President Butler's announcement that the gift was made by a single person. In some quarters the person is believed to be John D. Rockefeller.

The new ground of the college was owned by the New York hospital and is bounded by Broadway, One Hundred and Sixteenth street, and Claremont avenue. The property purchased is 725 feet 6 inches in length by 200 feet in width, and comprises about sixty city lots. Barnard's present need is dormitories.

Count Castellane Comes to Join His Family.

James Osborne, who for eleven years has been an assistant district attorney and one of the leading prosecutors connected with the office, resigned today to enter into partnership in the law business with Otto Hess. The resignation is to take effect April 1.

Count Boni de Castellane arrived here today from Europe, after an absence of three years. He went to the Hotel Cambridge, where his wife, formerly Miss Anna Gould, and their two children awaited him. The children came in December.

The countess and the

"I would have come over with them," said the count, "if I had not been obliged to remain in France to fight for reëlection to the chamber of deputies. I was elected last April, but false charges of using money to buy votes were made against me and I was unseated. My reëlection from the Basses Alpes by a larger majority than I had in the first election is my vindication."

The count laughed at the stories that there is not good feeling between himself and the members of the Gould family. "If those stories were true," he said, "I would not come to this country on a pleasure trip. I will be here a month and a half to visit the members of the countess' family."

Government Wins Famous "Citron" Case.

Under a decision today by Justices Lacombe and Wallace in the United States Circuit Court of Appeals the famous "Citron" case, in which duties to the amount of $1,000,000 paid since 1891, when the cases commenced, were at stake, have been finally settled in favor of the government.

The contention of the importers was that citron, as dried fruit, was entitled to admission free of duty. The board of general appraisers assessed citron at 35 per cent ad valorem under the classification of "fruit preserved in sugar."

In May last Judge Cox, in the United States Circuit court, decided in favor of the importers, and the case was at once appealed by the government. The present decision reverses the lower court and sustains the contention of the appraisers.

Woman Dies of Starvation.

Mrs. Ida Provost, 35 years old, who lived with her four children in two rear rooms on the first floor of an old brick house at 138 Bayard street, Green Point, died early this morning at St. Catherine's hospital of starvation. Her husband died five years ago. A few months ago Mrs. Provost contracted rheumatism. The only income of the family was $2 a week earned by the eldest son, Warren. When the neighbors sent wholesome food to the woman she divided it among the children, refusing herself to eat. She was so weak on Tuesday that a neighbor notified the police that Mrs. Provost was dying. She was taken to St. Catherine's hospital, where her constant thoughts were for her children. Just before she died she raised herself and muttered weakly:

"O, beloved God, watch over my darling children so that nothing shall happen to them. Give them a home after I am gone."

When Mrs. Provost died her son set out to beg money for her burial. He has collected only a little so far, and tonight the dead woman's children feared their parent would have to be buried at the expense of the city. The body is still at the hospital.

Instructor at Military School, Accused of Bigamy.

William Henry Hill, who since last fall has been acting as military instructor at the East Orange university school and military institute, has left the institution and Principal Amos Thompson said today he would not return until he succeeded in clearing his name of a scandalous charge. Hill married a year ago a young woman of Norfolk, Va., and the story is that at the time he already had a wife and three children in England. He denied the charge, and on Wednesday left East Orange, saying he was going to get evidence to prove his innocence. His young wife is prostrated at their boarding place in East Orange. Nothing has been heard of Hill since Wednesday. Hill's wife was Mrs. Mary Annie Savage, widow of a rich Norfolk cotton dealer and daughter of K. B. Elliott, a prosperous Norfolk citizen. Hill once was inspector of schools at San Juan, Porto Rico. The statements regarding his past life created a sensation in East Orange, where he had made many friends. The story concerning him comes from a woman who says she is his wife—Mrs. Emily H. Hill of England. She is seeking information concerning her husband.

Alfred Pelldram, the newly appointed German minister to Venezuela, arrived here today on the Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse. He intends to sail for Venezuela on Saturday.

Fires Cause Two Deaths and Some Robberies.

Ellen Vail, 55 years old, and Elizabeth Vail, 22 years old, met death in a fire in East Seventieth street today.

The elder woman was suffocated and the younger jumped from the fourth floor. The property loss by the fire was small. James Vail, the son of the elder woman, was the only one of the family who escaped. He had tried to rescue his mother and sister, but was cut off by the flames and forced to run to the rear fire escapes to save his own life. The ten families in the house, numbering 100 persons, became panic stricken from the fire.

Two hundred guests in the Sturtevant house, at Broadway and Twenty-ninth street, were greatly excited early today by a blaze in the basement of the building which filled the halls with smoke. Men, women, and children rushed to the sidewalk, and one woman, who appeared at the second story window with a baby in her arms, tried to jump to the street. Firemen stopped her. Two men were arrested and locked up, charged with robbing several rooms from which frightened guests had fled. The property damage was confined to the basement and did not exceed $1,000.

Historically, Not Poetically, Valuable.

THE TRIBUNE printed yesterday "Maryland, My Maryland," as one of the "Poems you ought to know." A few days ago it printed "Marching Through Georgia." The many readers of the poetical corner of THE TRIBUNE should not—and probably do not—imagine that the two songs were printed because of their poetical merit. Neither of them is well endowed in that respect. If they had been written last month they would be called mere doggerel rhymes and would sink into speedy oblivion. "Marching Through Georgia" and "Maryland, My Maryland" escape that fate because they are historical poems. It is as such, and not as gems of poesy, that THE TRIBUNE prints them. They are the war lyrics of a memorable struggle. They are a part of the story of the civil war. Soldiers sang them in confederate or union camps, and marched into battle to their music. From songs like these the young man who knows little of the furious encounter between north and south except what he learned from the history books he studied at school or college may come to a better understanding of the emotions and passions which stirred men then. They reveal the fire which burned and the hates which raged. That is why THE TRIBUNE has printed them. It did not do so because it looked on them as inspired poesy, which they certainly are not.

A DESERVED REBUKE.

A few nights ago E. S. Willard, the actor, was playing in a Washington theater at which was present an audience composed largely of members of congress, diplomats, and government employés and their friends. As the play proceeded both the audience and the actors were annoyed by the chattering of persons in the first and second orchestra rows. In the midst of an effective scene the talking became so loud and incessant that Mr. Willard stopped the play and turning to the audience said without a trace of anger, but on the other hand with much dignity and politeness: "This talking must stop. It has been very annoying to us. I am a patient man, but this is more than I can bear. If the talking continues the curtain will be rung down."

It is pleasant to note that this little bit of polite but plain talking on the actor's part was most heartily applauded by almost all of the audience, and when the play was resumed it went on to the close in quiet, none of the offenders caring to risk the application of Mr. Willard's remedy. Mr. Willard is to be congratulated upon the success which attended his effort as well as upon the manner in which it was received by the well behaved part of his audience. He might have added to his statement, "it has been very annoying to us," that it had been annoying to nearly every one present, and this is the greater offense of the two. For it means that those who paid to see and hear the performance were being cheated out of a large part of what was due to them by men and women who considered their silly chatter of more consequence than what was going on on the stage or than the comfort of the actors or the pleasure of the audience. Mr. Willard has set an excellent example to other actors who are similarly annoyed by the interruptions of bad mannered people. At concerts of a high class mere rebukes frequently have been administered with excellent results. There is no reason why they should not be administered upon the dramatic stage, when anything above vaudeville or musical comedy is presented. A rebuke of that kind will always receive the approval of nine-tenths of the audience, for they are the principal sufferers.

NO MORE GRADE CROSSINGS.

The interurban electric railroads of the state object to the proposition that they be put under the jurisdiction of the railroad and warehouse commissioners. One great objection is that the board does not allow a new steam railroad to cross an old one at grade. The electric roads fear the salutary regulation may be enforced against them when they extend their lines. As they are the newcomers they will be compelled to go up in the air when they cross railroad tracks. Construction will be made a little more expensive, and in contemplating that the electric railroad men lose sight of the greater safety of passengers when there are no grade crossings.

Before many years northern and central Illinois will be covered with a network of electric lines, doing an enormous passenger traffic. So far as that traffic is concerned the electric roads are already formidable rivals of the steam roads, which do not carry so many passengers today as they did a few years ago. The electric roads combine high speed and lower rates of fare. The steam railroads will be crossed at hundreds of points by the future electric roads. If the crossings are at grade there inevitably will be such accidents as there have been in this city. In many of the accidents there will be as great a loss of life as there was in the one which happened recently at Newark, N. J., where seven persons were killed outright.

If the general assembly does not see fit to put the electric roads under the jurisdiction of the railroad and warehouse commissioners it should at least enact a law providing that no such road hereafter to be constructed shall cross a steam road at grade. The general assembly will do this if it have regard for human life. Accidents are continually happening at guarded city grade crossings, and they certainly will happen at unguarded country crossings. Now is the time to make their occurrence impossible.

HOW TO DEAL WITH THE SENATE.

It was confidently expected that the bill to give federal courts jurisdiction of anarchist offenses against the president, those in the line of succession, and the representatives of foreign governments, and to make it a crime to advise the murder of any one of them, would become a law. Several days before the close of the session the bill went to a conference committee, which came to an agreement and made a report. The senatorial requirement of unanimous consent killed the measure. Senator Bacon of Georgia would not admit that the murder of a president differed in any respect from the murder of a private citizen. Eighty-nine senators were for the bill and only one was against it, but the veto of the one man was effectual. If the eighty-nine senators had been regardful of public sentiment, of their duties as legislators, or of their own rights they would have been an effective and not an impotent majority.

How shall the senate be compelled to change a method of procedure which permits one senator to stop legislation until other senators and the house consent to the allowance of an illegitimate claim, and which enables another senator to defeat legislation which the people have demanded since the assassination of President McKinley? Many believe that senators would be more responsive to public sentiment—would not have so exalted an idea of their individual importance, and would have a keener perception of official duty—if they were brought nearer to the people by being chosen directly by them instead of by state legislatures. This is one of the reasons for the urgent demand heard in all quarters for a change in the method of election.

There cannot be a change without an amendment to the constitution. The states have no opportunity to ratify an amendment until one shall have been submitted by the joint action of senate and house. The senate has persistently refused to submit an amendment for direct election. Senators have been deaf to the instructions of state legislatures as well as to popular resolves and petitions. Unless stronger pressure can be brought to bear upon the senate it will refuse to allow the states to say whether they wish to change the mode of electing senators.

Congress can propose amendments whenever two-thirds of both houses deem it necessary. Whenever the legislatures of two-thirds of the several states ask for a convention for proposing amendments, congress is obliged to call it. A few state legislatures have already taken the initiative. Observing the determination of the senate not to submit an amendment altering the mode of election of its members, they ask for a convention which shall submit such an amendment. When thirty states unite in that demand the senate, however reluctant it may be, will be obliged to comply with it.

A constitutional convention cannot be restricted by congress as to the number or kind of amendments to be proposed. It can submit to the states amendments altering the constitution as radically as the articles of confederation were altered by the convention of 1787. It can propose an abandonment of the principle of equal representation of states in the senate.

Senators know what a constitutional convention may do. They know that the conditions existing when one meets may be such as will induce it to propose amendments which conservative men may consider revolutionary and highly dangerous. There are few senators who will contemplate with entire equanimity the assembling of a constitutional convention. When called upon to choose between the submission of an amendment providing for the direct election of senators and the convening of a constitutional convention they will be more than likely to accept what they will look on as the lesser evil of the two. They will hold off to the last moment, but when the number of states asking for a convention is perilously near the required two-thirds they will painfully and regretfully do what the people are now asking of them.

Then it will be possible for nominating conventions and electors to exact pledges from senatorial candidates. One of the pledges will be that in the senate as in all other legislative bodies the majority must rule, and the unanimous consent theory, which magnifies the importance of the individual senator and paralyzes legislation, must be abandoned.

SENATOR POWERS' "REFORM" BILL.

Senator John Powers of the Nineteenth ward has not usually been considered a reformer. He may not be a reformer now, but could a bill which he introduced at Springfield on Tuesday last become law it would directly and indirectly serve the cause of reform. It seems to have been considered by the state senators with a spirit of levity it does not deserve. As its purpose is to abate a serious evil it should be treated seriously.

The "anti-can rushing" bill is drawn in the interests of juvenile morality and public decency and order. It makes no difference that it has been inspired by saloon keepers who do not like that class of trade. If the better class of saloon men favor stopping "can rushing" it would make the enforcement of the bill, should it be passed, all the easier. No reasonable objection can be offered to it. It is demoralizing to the children who are sent for the liquor or beer. It accustoms them to the sight of drinking and it encourages them in the taste for drinking. If it were only the respectable workingman who now and then sent his child for beer, because it was not convenient to go himself, the case would be different, but even in that case it would be better for the workingman to wait until he could go himself. But these cases do not cut much figure. Children—sometimes they are little girls—are sent to saloons by drunken parents, by parties carousing in their homes, and by neighbors. Worst of all, it is the common practice of loafers, tramps, and hobos, congregating in alleys and on vacant lots, to send boys for liquor and reward them with a drink, and to such an extent does the practice prevail that it is not an uncommon thing to see boys themselves getting together in alleys, in barns, and freight cars and taking turns in "rushing the growler" for their own use.

Senator Powers' bill, which amends the law prohibiting the sale or gift of intoxicating liquor to minors by making it illegal to "deliver" liquor to a minor, would not only tend to break up this pernicious practice, the lowest saloons being the worst offenders, but it would protect children, especially young girls, from contact with indecent and demoralizing surroundings, and it would help to reduce the amount of crime in the city and keep neighborhoods more or less free from the carousals, fights, and "hold-ups" of loafers and hoodlums.

A BILLION AND A HALF CONGRESS.

The appropriations of the last congress aggregate $1,550,000,000. The Fifty-first congress was assailed furiously by the democrats because it appropriated a billion dollars. The last congress has appropriated a billion and a half—the cost of governing the country has increased 50 per cent in twelve years—and yet there may not be much said about congressional extravagance. Undoubtedly a great deal of money is wasted, but it is admitted generally that as the country grows in population there must be an increase in expenditures. As it is growing in wealth also larger appropriations can be made for public purposes without taxing too severely the resources of the people. It is not now extravagance to make large appropriations for rural mail delivery, while it would have been extravagance not many years ago.

The Fifty-seventh congress appropriated $100,000,000 more than its predecessor did. Senator Aldrich says the increase is mostly accounted for by the Panama canal appropriation of $50,000,000, a $27,000,000 river and harbor bill, and an increased appropriation of $15,000,000 for the postal service. He thinks the people will indorse the three items of increase which the two political parties united in voting. They certainly will so far as the Panama canal and the postoffice department are concerned, but they have not a high opinion of river and harbor bills, to which they believe a large percentage of the wastage of government funds is chargeable.

The Fifty-sixth congress made larger appropriations for military purposes than did its successor, and made smaller ones for the navy. That branch of the service is the expanding one, which will call for an increasing expenditure. The army will not be enlarged, but the people wish to have a larger navy—more vessels and more men—and they will not complain of expenditures for that purpose. Thirty years ago congress appropriated $23,000,000 for the navy and twice that sum for the army. At the last session $81,000,000 was appropriated for the navy and a smaller sum for the army.

REGULATING CONVICT LABOR.

A bill for the regulation of convict labor has been agreed upon at Springfield by the committees which have the matter in charge. It provides for the least possible use of machinery and the employment of the convicts in the largest possible number of industries. This is for the protection of free labor, and will not work to the disadvantage of the prisoners. It is better that they should learn to make an entire article by hand than that they should learn only one of the many parts of the process of manufacture by machinery.

Prison made articles are not to be offered for sale in the open market, but are to be for the use of the state or its political divisions. Nobody pretends to know the quantities of articles used in state institutions which can be manufactured by hand labor in the penal and reformatory institutions. Information on the subject ought to be obtained, so the legislature may have a general idea as to how large an appropriation should be made to provide the prisons with the necessary stock of raw materials and to give the prison officials a tolerable idea of the many industries among which they may divide up the workers.

It is quite likely that when full information is at hand as to the goods bought by the state, the counties, and the cities it will appear that a large percentage of the convicts can be kept actively at work for the state and its political divisions in such a manner that free labor will not be harmed and will not imagine that it is harmed. Often in the past the confinement of prison labor to a few industries has harmed the free labor employed in them and has occasioned bitter complaints. It is to be hoped that the general assembly will put an effectual end to the complaints and dispose of the convict labor question for all time. It has perplexed the state for forty years.

ALLEE samee Addicks.

THE Mrs. Maybrick rumor is filling another short American engagement.

POLITICALLY speaking, the new United States senate consists of fifty-six republicans, thirty-three democrats, and one addicks.

THE senate adjourned as we feared it would—with Senator Tillman defiantly grasping his pitchfork and Senator Joe Bailey "white with anger."

THE "HON." STANLEY KUNZ, who is charged with slugging a man for refusing to drink with Stanley Kunz, is the same Stanley Kunz whose democratic constituents think he is good enough to represent them in the Illinois state senate.

IT is worth while to remember that Addicks is "happy" over the result of the senatorial election in Delaware. "We should suspect some danger near when Addicks possesses delight," as the old hymn writer came so near saying.

IN A MINOR KEY.

Household Economy.

Mrs. Ferguson—"George, when you smoke so much in the house I have to get the curtains washed every month. Think how expensive that is."

Mr. Ferguson—"Yes, but I'm getting my cigars at half price nowadays. Think how much money we're saving that way."

Really No Secret.

Enthusiast—"How do I like his playing? Why, I think he is one of the greatest pianists I ever heard. What is the reason he isn't famous?"

Critic—"Well, he has only a plain American name and musical people, you know, resent that."

Not His Experience.

"Doesn't so much wine weaken your powers of invention?" asked his intimate friend.

"On the contrary," said the writer of sensational stories, "it stimulates them. I have to work like the mischief to keep up the supply."

So Different.

"Been in political life for over forty years, has he? What has he ever accomplished in the way of statesmanship?"

"He's had no time to be a statesman. But look at his big rent roll and his magnificent country residences!"

Frightful Example.

"Caroline, if you can make head or tail out of this blamed railway time table I wish you would do it. Confound anybody that will send out a puzzle like that and call it a guide, anyhow!"

Thus raved the husband.

"Joseph," soothingly responded the wife, "this only goes to show that men are more Erie table than women."

O, fairer half of the human family! When thou condescendest to quibble, how thou canst put thy bearded half to the blush!

His Reason.

Parishioner—"Doctor, why don't you preach occasionally on heaven or hell?"

The Rev. Dr. Lastly—"Half my congregation feels sure of the one, and half doesn't believe in the other."

LETTER OF MARQUISE DE FONTENOY

Copyright: 1903: By the Marquise de Fontenoy.

IT is the palace of the grandduke of Saxe-Weimar in the Dutch capital which Andrew Carnegie is purchasing to serve as headquarters of the international tribunal of The Hague, and also for the housing of the great library of works on international law which he has presented to the tribunal. Negotiations are in progress between Mr. Carnegie and the representatives of the grandduke of Saxe-Weimar, and consequently the Dutch government was within the realms of truth when a few weeks ago it gave in the legislature a sort of indefinite denial to the story published to the effect that it had sold some crown property to Mr. Carnegie for the purpose.

That the grandduke of Saxe-Weimar should be willing to sell his palace at The Hague is interesting, since it confirms the report which has been in circulation for some time past to the effect that he was determined to waive his rights of sucession to the Dutch throne and to sever his connection with Holland. Were he to become king of the Netherlands he would be obliged to give up his granddueal throne of Saxe-Weimar, and this is a sacrifice which he is not prepared to make. At the present moment, that is to say, as long as Queen Wilhelmina remains childless, he is heir apparent to the Dutch throne, and after him next in line of succession is his aunt, Princess Marie of Reuss, wife of the former German ambassador at Vienna and a sister of his (the present grandduke of Saxe-Weimar's) father.

The grandduke inherited the palace at The Hague, which is being bought by Mr. Carnegie for the international tribunal, from his grandmother, the late grandduchess of Saxe-Weimar, who died two or three years ago and who was a Dutch princess by birth—namely: a sister of the late king of Holland.

Apropos of the "ragging" incident and the infliction of corporal punishment upon young officers of the guards by their fellow subalterns as a penalty for some infraction of regimental ethics, it may be of interest to state that the late Queen Victoria was a strong advocate of corporal punishment, not only for children and boys but also for young soldiers and young sailors. For at the time when flogging was abolished in the army, Gen. Sir Henry Ponsonby, then her private secretary, sent the following letter to the late Mr. Hugh Childers, secretary of state for war:

"The queen commands me to let you know that I have by her majesty's commands communicated to Mr. Gladstone the queen's hope that officers on service may not be deprived of the only power they possess of keeping young troops in order—namely: by inflicting corporal punishment in extreme cases of cowardice, treachery, plundering, and neglect of duty on sentry. The queen hates the system of flogging, but sees no alternative in extreme cases on active service."

Public opinion, however, as voiced by parliament, demanded the abolition of flogging in the army and in the navy and the queen gave way to the will of her people in the matter.

Some months ago I related in these columns how the young marquis of Graham, eldest son and heir of the duke and duchess of Montrose, had emigrated to south Africa with the object of embracing a political career there and of associating himself with Cape politics, his idea being that it would be quicker to obtain political distinction there than at home. He has now returned to Scotland a sadder and a wiser man, thoroughly disgusted with his project and altogether disillusioned with regard to south Africa. He seems to have found his title a handicap rather than anything else in colonial politics.

Lord Graham is a good looking, energetic young man, who was frustrated in his efforts to get into the royal navy owing to the fact of his being deaf. He did not allow this, however, to discourage him from the sea, for he entered the mercantile marine, qualified for a master's certificate, and then sailed several long voyages to Australia, New Zealand, and round Cape Horn as second and first mate on board big merchant ships. In fact, he knows by practical experience more about the mercantile navy of Great Britain and of its conditions than any other member of the British nobility, and will be able to speak as an expert on the subject when he succeeds to his father's seat in the house of lords. For Lord Egremont and Lord Lyveden, who have likewise been at sea on merchant vessels prior to their succession to the peerage through the death of relatives, merely made a few ocean trips on board ocean liners as saloon stewards and know nothing about navigation or about the questions that interest the men that as sailors go to make up England's mercantile marine.

Now that people have returned home from India we are gradually being made acquainted with several of the side lights in connection with the durbar at Delhi. Without according attention to the mere gossip and to the criticisms of Lord and especially of Lady Curzon, prompted to a great extent by mere feminine jealousy, it seems that there was, at any rate, one extremely unfortunate contretemps which is likely to do a great deal of harm among the natives and of which it is quite possible that we may hear a good deal more anon.

It will doubtless be remembered that the great Sepoy mutiny of 1857, which almost resulted in England's loss of her vast Indian empire, was brought about by a story circulated among the natives to the effect that the cartridges served out to the native troops were greased with lard, or pork fat, and as in those days the soldiers were compelled to bite off the casing of the cartridge with their teeth before inserting it in their gun they naturally felt convinced that they were defiled thereby and that their caste was lost.

It seems that something of the kind occurred during the durbar festivities when a number of distinguished Europeans, who ought to have known better, picnicked in the Jamma Masjid after witnessing thence the state entry of the viceroy and of the duke and duchess of Connaught into Delhi.

The impropriety of picnicking in such a place will readily be understood when it is mentioned that the mosque in question is the most sacred Mohammedan fane in India. Indeed, it is much as if a lot of Chinamen were to invade Westminster abbey or some edifice held in special reverence by the people here and to proceed to banquet there on Chinese delicacies.

When it was reported among the natives who witnessed this desecration of the Jamma Masjid mosque at Delhi that the luncheon of the titled picnickers included ham sandwiches—that is to say, the meat of the animal which is regarded with the most of horrors by followers of the prophet—their anger knew no bounds. The picnickers were hurried away by those Anglo-Indian officials who had acted as their cicerones and who appreciated the danger, while on entering their carriages and driving away stones were thrown at them all along the route, fortunately without seriously injuring anybody.

But the natives, on becoming aware of what had occurred, assumed an ugly demeanor, and it was only by the exercise of the most extraordinary precautions on the part of Lord Curzon and Lord Kitchener that the durbar festivities were brought to a close without anything more untoward occurring.

As it is Lord Curzon has, I understand, given a tremendous wigging to the Anglo-Indian officials who were with the picnicking party, since they, at any rate, ought to have known better, being aware of the extreme and fanatic sensitiveness of the Mohammedans in India with regard to their faith.

THE TOP O' THE MORNIN'.

HIS LAST MARCH.

(John T. Mason, 94 years old, a veteran of the civil war, was heard during the night singing "While We Were Marching Through Georgia." Next morning he was found lifeless in his bed, his eyes wide open. A physician who was called stated that the old man must have died about the time the song was heard by the others in the house.)—Local news item.

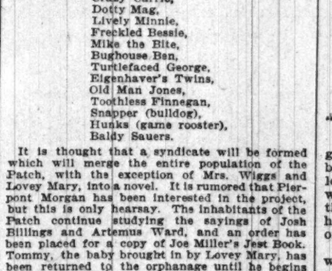

"Bring the good old bugle, boys, we'll sing another song!"
He heard the far-off chorus as his comrades marched along;
He heard the clank of saber, and the jangling bit and spur,
The rumbling of the cannons, where his shouting messmates were;
He heard the hurried hoofbeats of the horses mettlesome;
And high above he saw the flag that beckoned him: "O, come!"

He saw them cawing along the road—not old graybeards, slow and bent.
Ah, no! He saw the boyish ranks of his old regiment.
With rhythmic tread it held its line, with fifers piping shrill;
He saw the ragged colors, that were waving to him still;
And calling—calling—calling, came the rolling of the drum:
"Fall in! Fall in for dress parade! The ranks are waiting. Come!"

The line wheeled when it heard him, and as in the light of noon
He saw the forms of comrades who across the South were strewn;
He saw the brave companion who had battled by his side—
The tears welled up again just as they did the day he died.
Then, "Halt!" the bugles sounded, and he heard his wartime chief
Call in his kindest, clearest tones: "This is the last relief!"

"March on!" The flag was waving, and the soldiers marched away;
And he went singing with them, far beyond the Gates of Day.
The bugles pealing gladly and the line with no more gaps—
The bugles singing sweetly in that benison of "Taps."
And fifes were mad and merry, and the drums were laughing, too,
For he marched beside the colors as he led the grand review!

FINANCIAL NOTE.

Dear Sir: I thought I would write a little poem about Lent, but this is as far as I could get:

Every penny that I spend
Keeps spent;
Every dollar that I lend
Keeps lent.

Do you think this is a sufficient indication of the extent to which I am devoting my mind to the contemplaton of the sorrows of life?

A PROBLEM.

A woman goes shopping for a spring bonnet. She sees two hats that she likes. One is pretty and is marked $5.00. The other is ugly but the price is $56. Her husband makes $60 a month. How much will he have left after he pays for the hat she buys?

Answer: Nothing. The other $4 will go for extra trimming.

LITERARY NEWS.

Louisville, Ky., March 5.—The census of the Cabbage Patch was taken today, by order of the city authorities, in compliance with a request from a number of magazine and book publishers. The inhabitants of the patch are found to be:

Mrs. Wiggs,
Lovey Mary,
Hunky Sue,
Crazy Carrie,
Dotty Mag,
Lively Minnie,
Freckled Bessie,
Mike the Bite,
Bughouse Ben,
Turtleface George,
Eigenhaver's Twins,
Old Man Jones,
Toothless Finnegan,
Snapper (bulldog),
Hunks (game rooster),
Baldy Sauers.

It is thought that a syndicate will be formed which will merge the entire population of the Patch, with the exception of Mrs. Wiggs and Lovey Mary, into a novel. It is rumored that Pierpont Morgan has been interested in the project, but this is only hearsay. The inhabitants of the Patch continue studying the sayings of Josh Billings and Artemus Ward, and an order has been placed for a copy of Joe Miller's Jest Book. Tommy, the baby brought in by Lovey Mary, has been returned to the orphanage until he begins talking.

HAND MADE PHILOSOPHY.

'Tis claimed that the trailing planets that blink in the outmost void, the nebulæ in the distance, the comet and asteroid, were set in their points and places and moved by a wondrous plan that had for its end and object the glory and good of man.

'Tis said that the stars that twinkle, the moon and the blazing sun, have rolled and have whirled and ambled, have sizzled and whizzed and spun, until with the growth of mortals their marvelous task was done.

Just think! For a million ages the nebulæ had to whirl, the stars in their stretching courses must merrily swoop and twirl to give to your sight that dimple, that lash, and that reckless curl—that bundle of moods and notions that keeps you in doubt—your girl.

And what of the worlds that wandered, hot-flung from the maker's hand—that paced on a track tremendous—could they ever understand that they were creating people who'd reach with a clutching hand and grab for the skipping dollar all over the sea and land?

Conceive if you can the spheroids that labored the best they knew, and melted and froze and vapored while on through the years they flew—a billion of tons of matter that had but one thing to do, and that was to grade their circles and corkscrew them down to you!

The Meaning of Dreams

"JOHN," said the young wife at the breakfast table, "you ought to hear Prof. Mazagapan lecture on 'The Mystery and Meaning of Dreams.' He's just grand. I heard him yesterday afternoon. He says that every one of our dreams has a meaning, and that if we would only guide and order our lives by what our dreams teach us life would be happier and better."

"I think Mazagapan is a cheap faker."

"O, John, you wouldn't say that if you had heard him. He says that in our dreams mystic messengers from the psychic hidden world visit and bring warnings and manifold messages to misguided mortals. The next time you have a dream, John, you must tell me about it and I'll try to tell you what it means."

"I had one last night. It was like this:

"I was standing with my back to the front door of a marble house that towered up to the skies. I had on a pair of rubber boots,

"GIVE ME A QUARTER OF A POUND OF THAT BEEFSTEAK."

golf trousers with wide ruffles about the bottoms of them, and a striped red and yellow shirt without any sleeves. I was armed with a big garden hose, and I was watering the street in front of the marble house. Behind me on the marble steps was a big pile of the rubber hose.

"As far as I could see in both directions were other men standing, all dressed alike, and all watering the street. Suddenly an old and frowsy woman came out of the front door of the marble house. She wore a white mother hubbard, with blue polka dots, and had a sealskin cap pulled down over her ears.

"Without saying a word to me she produced a pair of shears and clipped off the garden hose close to the nozzle. Then she proceeded to put the hose in a market basket she carried on her arm. Still she was silent.

"'Five years ago yesterday,' she finally said, 'you were standing right here in the same spot watering that street. I told you then I wouldn't stand it.'

"I was polite to her. 'Madam,' I said, with a low bow, 'excuse me, but there is powder on your nose.' She dropped the basket. I picked it up and was about to go when she plucked me by the elbow.

"'Couldn't you please let me have a quarter of a pound of that porterhouse steak?' she said.

"I hadn't noticed it before, but my arms were piled high with porterhouse steaks. I gave her a small piece and she sat down on the top marble step and commenced to cry and wail at the top of her voice. I started to escape, but when I got out to the sidewalk I stopped in great alarm.

"The street was full of telegraph poles and railroad tracks all running down the road at a terrific rate of speed.

"'Right this way, please,' said somebody, and I followed him into a wide field, where he, I, and fifteen or twenty other people sat in a row on the top rail of a fence.

"Out in the field before us was an ichthyosaurus, or something of that kind—one of those prehistoric lizards, seventy-five feet long or more, with a huge head on the end of a forty foot neck. Whatever it was, it sat up on its hind legs and, beating time with its head, said in a low voice, 'Now, all together, please.'

"With that everybody who was sitting on top of the fence started to sing 'Maryland, My Maryland' in chorus—all but me. I sat still and silent. I had made up my mind I wasn't going to be bossed by any prehistoric lizard. Besides, I can't sing.

"'What's the matter with you?' asked the ichthyosaurus, coming up close to me and lifting up its head. 'Why don't you sing?'

"'You can't scare men,' I answered. And then, just to show my contempt for the beast, I hit it with a volume of 'Paradise Lost,' bound in crushed levant, which I happened to have in my hand.

"'I can't scare you, eh?' hissed the lizard, and he reared himself up fifty feet into the air and opened his huge mouth right over my head.

"I was so scared then that I tumbled right over backward off the fence into the field on the other side, landing at the bottom of a tremendously deep ditch, which sloped upward on either side for a mile or two. Then I noticed for the first time that I was in New Orleans. I was still anxious to show that I wasn't afraid of the lizard, so I got up and walked slowly and jauntily along the bottom of the tremendous ditch, looking back now and then to see what the ichthyosaurus was doing. To my renewed terror I saw that, though the lizard hadn't changed its position, it was slowly stretching out its long neck, so that its mouth was coming closer and closer to me.

"Then I started to run and as I did so hundreds of people ran along the tops of the ditch on either side woke up and commenced to throw down rocks at me. At the same time a dozen brass bands began to play and the ichthyosaurus stretched out its neck faster and faster.

"I ran at the bottom of the ditch at the top of my speed all the way from New Orleans to St. Louis. I had to run a crooked course, for it was necessary to dodge all the stones, and every now and then I showed back, 'Who's afraid of the lizard?'

"But the lizard got so close finally that I could feel its hot breath on my back. Finally the ditch came to an end, running out into a perfectly flat plain. Out in the middle of the plain I saw an elevator car standing all alone, with the elevator conductor waiting with his hand on the lever ready to start. There was no building, only a lonely elevator standing there with a lot of ropes running up into the air. I felt I could reach that elevator before the lizard reached me all might yet be well.

"With a last frantic burst of speed I jumped into the car and the metal gate clanged behind me.

"'Up!' I shouted, and the car shot up into the air.

"'I'll wait for you here,' shouted the ichthyosaurus, as it lay down at the top of the shaft.

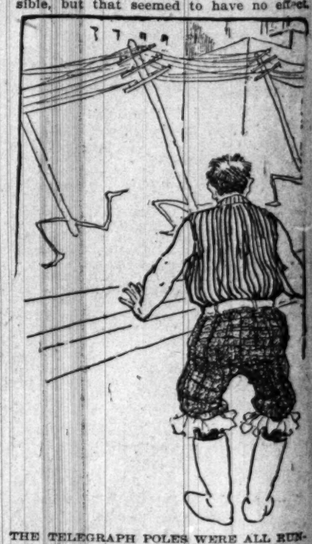

"'Do you want to get off at the roof?' asked the elevator man.

"'Certainly,' I answered.

"'Well, here you are,' he said, stopping the car with a jolt. The building was built with the roof down, its lower stories sticking higher up into the air. I got out at the roof and looked down. The view made me dreadfully dizzy. I felt myself slipping slowly down the slope of the roof. Gradually, spite of all I could do, I went down, and was sick with fear. Finally I rolled in the gutter and then slipped out of it, hanging on only by my right hand.

"I fell. When I landed I was walking up Main street in the village of Artisot, O., where I lived when a boy. I was a member of congress and had gone back to the old place to astonish the natives and impress them with my importance. All along Main street I met old friends. They all seemed glad to see me, but after shaking hands with me they all seemed to be seized with a tendency to giggle and get away as quickly as possible.

"I tried to put on as much dignity as possible, but that seemed to have no effect.

THE TELEGRAPH POLES WERE ALL RUNNING DOWN THE STREET.

The people still laughed and ran round the corners when I came into sight.

"Finally I walked by 'Billy' Bates' barber shop, right opposite the courthouse, and looked at myself in the looking glass.

"Heavens! I was overcome with embarrassment. I was barefooted and my only garments were a pair of blue overalls and a horse collar. I slipped across the street and started for the old house by way of the alleys I remembered so well. I was nearly home when Baker's yellow bulldog, which had been the bane of my childhood, jumped out of the Bakers' old barn and made a dash for me.

"Whereupon I promptly woke up. Both my feet were sticking out of bed with a cold wind from the open window blowing across them. My head was projecting from the other side of the bed, with a blast of hot air from the register beating on it.

"I wish," said John, "that you'd take that little dream over to Prof. Mazagapan and ask him to interpret it for you."

CARS STOPPED FOR TAXES.

VILLAGE OF OAK PARK WORKS A MODERN MIRACLE.

Suburb Has a Bill Against the Union Traction Company, and When Payment Is Not Forthcoming the Power Plant Is Seized and Transportation Tied Up—President Roach Then Hastens to Send a Check—Radical Action Follows a Rebuff.

Doubt not the miracles of old, for we have them in the present. The Union Traction company was brought to its knees yesterday, and the village of Oak Park accomplished the humiliation.

Oak Park was on a tax collecting mission. The traction company showed no disposition to pay. The remedy? Nothing simpler.

John Tristram, clerk of the village, merely went to the power house of the Consolidated Traction company—otherwise the Union Traction company—levied on the boilers, dynamos, and other personal property of the company, and stopped the cars.

For half an hour after the levy was made not a wheel turned on the suburban lines, and the tieup even reached within the boundaries of Chicago. Here are the lines that were without power:

Lake street elevated and surface, west of Western avenue.
Lake street trolley, west of Fortieth avenue.
Madison street, west of Fortieth avenue.
Chicago avenue, west of Fortieth avenue.

The Lake street "L" was not an offender, but as it secures power from the consolidated company, it was made to suffer.

The levy was made at noon, Clerk Tristram being accompanied by Policemen Trenkler and Ripke. Engineer Peter Miller, who was in charge of the power house, at first refused to shut the works without an order from President Roach of the Union Traction company.

"You will do as we tell you," responded Mr. Tristram, and the engineer capitulated.

Mr. Tristram left the policemen in charge of the building as custodians and returned to his office. A few minutes later there was a telephone message from President Roach.

"I have just returned from Florida," Mr. Roach said, "and did not know of this demand for taxes. If payment was refused the action was unauthorized. We'll send a check at once, but please give us some power."

Clerk Tristram agreed to the truce.

"But," he added, "I will leave my custodians in charge until the check arrives."

An hour later the check was in Mr. Tristram's possession and the levy was raised.

The taxes amounted to $4,365. Three days ago Mr. Tristram made demand on the officials of the Union Traction company at the downtown office, where, he says, he was given an indifferent reply. Then he allowed the company three days in which to settle.

A few days later, is was charged, Punteman would return and ask for an additional sum to enlarge the picture in colors.

The editorials will deal with segregation and the new policy of the university, which is to attract more men.

WOMAN POSES AS CUPID—BUT SHE WEARS LONG ROBE.

Miss Eleanor H. Denig Also Appears as Venus and Apollo, with More Raiment, However, Before Klio Club.

With a woman posing as Cupid, clad, however, in a flowing robe, members of the Klio association brought themselves one step nearer yesterday to their long desired equality of the sexes.

Nevertheless, when the members saw by their programs that Miss Eleanor H. Denig, who was to give a Shakspearean recital, would later pose not only as the tiny love god, but as Apollo, the Gladiator, and Aurora, they could not withhold an expression of amazement. Then the intensity of the feeling increased, when it was discovered that Miss Denig would also appear as Venus.

There was only one man in the room, and after Miss Denig had repeated scenes from "Henry VIII.," "Macbeth," and "Much Ado About Nothing," the club officials held a consultation as to whether the one man ought to be allowed to remain.

"It'll be all right," they said after a little hesitancy. "You may feel safe in remaining. Cupid will not be seen in his usual costume."

Then the lights were turned out, the soft strains of "Love's Sorrow" were played on the piano, and Cupid came from behind two screens. "His" costume was Grecian. A bright red light was turned on the graceful white robed figure, followed by yellow and lavender. Then Cupid made "his" bow and Apollo stepped forth.

The same costume was worn as when Cupid appeared, and it did service for the Gladiator and Aurora and all of the rest of the thirty-one mythical characters and allegorical figures represented. Most of the poses were accorded rounds of applause.

The Daughters of the American Revolution divided their time between listening to a lecture by Prof. Edwin Erle Sparks and talking chapter politics yesterday afternoon. A bitter fight is on between north and south side members for the chapter regency, the rival candidates being Mrs. Benjamin Fessenden of Highland Park and Mrs. C. F. Millspaugh of Kenwood. Mrs. Conover is another north side woman who is mentioned as a candidate for the regency.

ARMOUR BOY'S PARENTS HERE.

Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Week Going to Zamora, Mexico, Where Student Was Killed.

Armour institute students, especially members of the Delta Tau Delta fraternity, were excited yesterday over the news of the murder in Zamora, Mexico, of John Week, who until last year was a member of the school and the fraternity. A. W. Kentzberg of 2312 North Paulina street, a fraternity brother and a brother-in-law of Week, received a dispatch from Zamora saying Week had been fatally injured in an accident.

The dispatch asked Kentzberg to notify the parents of young Week, Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Week of Stevens Point, Wis. Yesterday the parents passed through Chicago on their way to Zamora. They were ignorant of the fact that their son had been murdered when they left Chicago.

Young Week graduated from Armour institute a short time ago and was appointed by Senator Spooner as a cadet at Annapolis only a few weeks ago. He, with nine other Armour institute boys, went to Mexico, to work at the works of the Guanajuato Power company, near Zamora.

SOCIETY AT A HAT SALE.

YOUNG WOMEN OF WASHINGTON MAKE SUCCESS OF BAZAAR.

Millinery Creations of Their Own Sold for Good Prices in Aid of Co-operative Sewing Society—Statesmen, Diplomats, and Officials Make Purchases and Resell Them—Much Credit for Affair Due to Countess Cassini.

Washington, D. C., March 5.—[Special.]—Washington society girls sold hats of their own manufacture for large sums at the Shoreham hotel this afternoon for the sake of charity.

Countess Cassini, the adopted daughter of the Russian ambassador, Mme. De Margerie, Miss Wetmore, Miss Lovering, Miss Warder, Miss Horstmann, Miss Kean, Miss Wilson, and Miss Ashton acted as saleswomen to allure young diplomats, old diplomats, and women of society into buying their wares. The hats manufactured by these women were marvels of art and brought from $10 to $50.

Thomas F. Walsh, Capt. Cowles, Representative Morrell, and others bought these confections, and they were again resold, thereby doubling the amount of the first price. Young diplomats became enthusiastic and bid in articles and presented them to the girls.

Many Buyers Are on Hand.

Hats, fancy shirt waists, which were wonderful creations of handiwork; stocks, collars, neckties in quantity; rugs, made at the rooms of the Coöperative Sewing society, for which the sale was made, all met with ready and enthusiastic buyers.

Edwin Morgan of the state department acted as doorkeeper and collected 25 cents from all who entered.

Among the women buyers was Mme. Callenberg, wife of the first secretary of the Austro-Hungarian embassy, who declared the affair so charming she would immediately introduce foreign society to a similar sale upon her return to Europe in the spring.

Countess Cassini became possessor of a wonderful piece of headgear, while hats manufactured by her skilled fingers reaped a rich reward. Lady Herbert became possessor of a wide ruche, Mme. de Margerie bought a cardinal hat, trimmed with cardinal wings.

Good Profit Assured.

It was estimated that the coöperative sewing society would be several hundred dollars richer by the unique sale. Among the patronesses were Mrs. Hay, Mrs. Shaw, Mrs. Payne, Lady Herbert, Signora Mayor des Planches, Mrs. Wetmore, Mrs. Hanna, Mrs. Lodge, Mrs. Warder, Baroness Hengelmüller, Miss Kean, and a host of women well known in the social life of Washington. The parlors at the Shoreham were thronged during the entire time of the sale, and the sight was a pretty one.

AMONG THE NEW BOOKS

BISHOP POTTER'S BOOK.

His Lecture on Education in the Responsibilities of Citizenship.

One of the most broad minded and sanely philanthropic men in New York is Mr. William E. Dodge. Some two years ago he made a gift to Yale university for the purpose, as he stated it, "of promoting among its students and graduates, and among the educated men of the United States, an understanding of the duties of Christian citizenship and a sense of personal responsibility for the performance of their duties." The lectures thus provided for are to be known as the Yale lectures on the responsibility of citizenship. Such a lectureship is a good sign of the times, as is also the selection of a man in the position of Bishop H. C. Potter.

Bishop Potter has taken this for his theme: "The Citizen in His Relation to the Industrial Situation." After a careful statement of what is the industrial situation at the present time, the lecturer goes on to consider a study of the working man, the capitalist, the consumer, the corporation, and the state. Such views as are here set forth at once so genially and so judicially cannot be too widely disseminated. The following may be taken as a sample of the outlook and spirit of the entire discussion:

"And so we see our calling as individuals, as citizens, as children of a great republic, in this great and seething and aggressive industrial life of ours. Shall we do our duty to our fellow man, to our weaker fellow man, to toilers and sufferers, underground, in mills, and factories, and sweat shops, and so make ours a state meet to lead and to rule, whether at home or abroad? To that question there is one answer, and only one. We must not only affirm the brotherhood of man; we must live it. For thus the state, and in the state the home, the church, and the individual shall become the incarnation of a regenerate humanity, and earth, this earth, our earth, here and today, the vestibule of heaven."

An index would have added to the value of the volume.

MR. BLANCHARD'S WORK.

Completion of his "Discovery and Conquests of the Northwest."

"The Discovery and Conquests of the Northwest, with the History of Chicago," is the comprehensive title of a work in two volumes just completed by Rufus Blanchard. He began this work five years ago in a serial form. In the first portions of it Chicago history came in as incidental; but, as the country became settled up and as this city grew into metropolitan proportions, the general history of the country became in a measure incidental to that of Chicago history.

A detailed history of the whole would be the work of lifetime and require many volumes in which to give it; but the author has condensed this by using its most vital points and issues into a space well adapted to the shelves of public and private libraries. The part that Spain, France, and England took in the subject matter of this history, as well as that of the aborigines of the country, are of necessity briefly told, but explicitly enough to show that Chicago itself was the ultimatum of the historical conditions of these peoples. The historical blending of the pioneer spirit leavened the whole lump and gave a romantic and dramatic spirit that adds interest to the subject that the history of no other country or city in the world could possess.

OUR MIDDLE SCHOOLS.

Prof. E. E. Brown Tells How They Are Made.

A valuable work by Elmer Ellsworth Brown on "The Making of Our Middle Schools" has just been published by Longmans, Green & Co. Mr. Brown, who is professor of the theory and practice of education in the University of California, has made an interesting and exhaustive study of the growth and development of our secondary schools. The chapters on recent tendencies and the outlook show progressive thought held in check by a safe conservatism. He recognizes the threatened growth of individualism from present educational forms and theories, but believes that the recognition of social relationships as seen by the new education more than counterbalances the possible evils.

The book has excellent and extensive appendixes and must be a welcome addition to the library of all educators.

HARDLY FULFILLS ITS MISSION.

"A Chinese Quaker" Falls Short of Attaining Its Object.

"A Chinese Quaker," by Nellie Blessing-Eyster, has the possibilities of a dramatic and intensely interesting story. It claims to be "an unfictious novel," and is a narrative of life in San Francisco a quarter of a century ago. A young Quaker woman from the eastern states is persuaded in spite of her prejudices to undertake the care and education of a little Chinese boy.

The child develops into a Chinese mandarin, with Quaker beliefs. The writer tells something of the slave traffic among Chinese women on the Pacific coast, but nothing that is new to people who know anything of the Chinese. At times the book is interesting, but never does it reach the possibilities of the subject treated. It is doubtful whether it will ever fulfill its avowed purpose, which is to "awaken an interest in a misunderstood race." (Fleming Revell & Co.)

ANIMAL STORIES FOR THE LITTLE ONES.

HOW THE RABBIT TRAP WORKED.

WHEN the rabbit family strolled through the field one day they came across a trap that had been set to catch them. Mamma Rabbit and little Charlie Rabbit didn't know what it was, but Papa Rabbit did, for he had lost a first cousin through one of the things when he was quite a young fellow.

"Don't go near it," he said to his family.

"What is it?" asked Charlie Rabbit, sniffing around the sides, for he could smell the bunch of fresh celery with which the trap was baited, and he was just dying to make a meal of it.

"It's a trap set to catch you by Jimmy Jones, the farmer's son," answered Papa Rabbit. "Jimmy's father likes rabbit meat and Jimmy wants to please him, so he thought he would get us in his trap and give me to his father to eat. But instead of getting in we will wait out here until the farmer comes along and see what happens."

So they hid in the tall grass until they saw the farmer and his son coming across the field. Jimmy thought that by this time there must be something in his trap, so he said to his father:

"Pop, I've got something for you over there in the grass. Go over and get it."

"What is it?" asked his father.

"Never mind, you go over and see for yourself," said Jimmy, for he wanted to surprise his father.

So Mr. Jones walked along through the grass, but he didn't see the trap until the toe of his shoe struck it, and away he went heels over head on his nose on the ground. He scrambled to his feet as mad as he could be and reached out and grabbed Jimmy by the collar.

"So you hid an old box in the grass for me to stumble over and hurt myself, did you?" he cried, angrily. "Well, I'll teach you a little lesson that you will never forget."

And with that he pitched into Jimmy and gave him such a lambasting that he will never forget as long as he lives to tell the tale.

And all the time the rabbit family sat over in the tall grass and snickered, and smiled, and laughed as they thought what a terrible fate they had escaped and how sorry little Jimmy must feel that he had ever tried to catch them to make a meal for his father.

New York, March 5.—[Special.]—In all probability the location of the American league grounds here will be made public on Saturday. The American magnates went into session this afternoon and quickly adopted a playing schedule, thereby convincing the doubting Thomases that smooth sailing has been reached at last.

As the proposition stands tonight President Johnson can sign a lease for either one of two sites on five minutes' notice. It is simply a matter of preference, with the question of money cutting something of a figure on the side. One of these sites is on Manhattan island and the other is on the north bank of the Harlem river, either being convenient to the public.

Plenty of Political Backing.

One site is controlled by a local syndicate, while the other is held by the American league itself. In either case there will be plenty of political backing to keep Freedman and Brush in the bird cage. In fact, the political situation has cleared up so well in the last week that good times for Johnson and company appear a certainty.

When the American league went into session today President Johnson's policy was fully indorsed. He went into details and showed the delegates just what had been done here from the beginning. The two grounds were discussed and Johnson was told to go ahead with the deal, using his own judgment.

When the delegates adjourned tonight Johnson had little to say except that there were no further obstacles in the way and that it was now simply a matter of choice between the two sites. Tomorrow there may be some important developments.

May Throw Out "Foul Strike."

It is probable the American league will throw out the foul strike rule even before the season opens. The opposition from Boston and Philadelphia people has developed such strength that something must be done.

The playing schedule calls for 140 games for each club. The season is to open April 22 with the White Stockings at St. Louis, Cleveland at Detroit, New York at Washington, and Boston at Philadelphia. The first game scheduled for the New York grounds is April 30 with the Washington club.

Chicago's first home date is April 30 with the Detroit club. A feature of the White Stocking schedule is that the team has no holiday dates at home during the season. Comiskey's men are to play in Cleveland on Decoration day and Labor day and in New York July 4. Comiskey explains this by the statement that he has tried all the holidays in Chicago already and found that one good Sunday is worth a pair of holiday dates.

Rival Magnates Lunch Together.

The hotel was crowded today with baseball men. Killilea of Boston did not get here in time to attend the meeting, so he was represented by J. F. Gavin. Johnson represented the New York club by proxy.

At noon Robison, Dreyfuss, and Potter of the National league paid the American league men a social call. They cracked a couple of bottles, exchanged compliments, and then parted, apparently the best of friends.

The National league men are worked up to a high pitch over the "great diamond mystery," and some of them may have a fit if Johnson makes good his promises.

Pulliam Given Full Power.

At the meeting of the National league today stringent resolutions were adopted which, it is hoped, will do away with rowdyism on the diamond in the future. In a resolution offered by James Hart of Chicago and amended by Mayor Julius Fleischmann of Cincinnati, it was unanimously agreed that President Pulliam should be "vested with full and absolute power to maintain order and discipline on the ball field; that he shall have full power to discipline any player or manager for violation of good order upon the ball field; and that this discipline shall be either by a fine or suspension from the grounds of any club."

By the amendment offered by Fleischmann the clubs are forbidden to pay the fine of any player or to pay salaries to players under suspension.

The meeting adjourned until tomorrow, when the session of the league will be brought to a close.

FIRST OF COLTS TO REPORT.

Pitcher Corridon Arrives from East Ready for Trip—Comes from Mecca of Smart Set.

Frank J. Corridon, one of the new pitchers who will perform for the Colts this year, is the first of Hart's baseball squad to report in Chicago for the spring training trip. The Colts will leave for Los Angeles tomorrow evening. President Hart expects to be on hand before that time to see his hopefuls off.

Corridon, besides being a pitcher, is a good first baseman. He says he would sooner play any position than that of pitcher. However, he is considered too valuable a man in the box to be put at the initial bag, and it is likely Chance will again occupy the first base position.

Corridon's home is at Newport, R. I. Besides being a ball player he is a musician, and spends most of his winters studying music. He is a violinist, and as a consequence is always taking a chance when he is playing ball, as a broken finger would be a great setback in his playing.

Corridon has been playing with the Providence team for the greater part of the last four seasons. At one time he expected to go to Brown university to play baseball, but finally decided to take up the game as a professional.

SLOSSON RETURNS FROM PARIS.

Says Vignaux's Claim for Championship Was Never Before Heard Of in Billiard Tournament.

New York, March 5.—[Special.]—George Slosson was a passenger on the steamship Kaiser Wilhelm de Grosse today. Although he failed to win a game in the recent eighteen inch balk line billiard tournament in Paris, he returned by no means downcast and talked at length of the tournament. As to Vignaux's claiming the championship because he made the best grand average, Slosson said such a thing was never heard of before in billiard tournaments.

"The quality of billiards brought out by the tournament was not the best considering the players contending," he said. "If Schaefer had been in form and taken part I think he would have had a good chance of winning first prize. Cure, Sutton, and Vignaux can play a third better than they did in the tournament. There was one exception to the quality of play, and that was the magnificent game played by Sutton when he made a 200 run all at one end of the table, with frequent driving across the table and great nursing.

"Cure and Sutton are anxious to come over here and play, and will come next month if sufficient inducements are held out. Three tournaments, one in Boston, one in Chicago, and one in New York, have been suggested, and I'll play if they come. These tournaments might be the means of bringing Fournil over. I hear Schaefer will be back in June."

Slosson also brought with him the official figures of the Paris tournament, as follows:

	Won.	Lost.	High run.	Best average.	Grand average.
Sutton	2	1	200	30.25	20.20
Vignaux	2	1	136	29.40	22.30
Cure	2	1	113	20.80	19.50
Slosson	0	3	71	11.40	28.50

GAMES IN BOWLING LEAGUES.

Schoenhofens and Wahoos Have a Battle Royal in the Northwest Tournament.

A battle royal resulted in the Northwest league last night when the Wahoos and Schoenhofens, the leading teams, clashed. The latter side averaged 1,029⅔ and won three games, the losers notching 986⅔. As a result of the series the teams are now tied. Chalmers averaged 224 and Forch 212⅓. Cooley of the Armitage team in the Jefferson league averaged 214⅔, and made high score of 257, both being new marks for the tournament.

SELLING WAR ON AT NEW ORLEANS.

Hildreth, McCafferty, and Durnell & Herz Bid Up Each Other's Winners.

PEACE IS NOT IN SIGHT.

War Will Probably Be Carried On at Memphis and Chicago Tracks—Summary.

New Orleans, La., March 5.—[Special.]—The selling race war which has been going on all winter broke out afresh today, and Sam Hildreth was at the front. He made a $500 bid on Moderator, after the latter had won the second race, but had the tables turned on him when his horse Censor finished in front in the third.

Censor was entered to be sold for $1,000, and Hildreth had to bid $2,905 to retain him. John McCafferty and Emil Herz took part in the bidding, the former going to $1,100 and the latter to $2,900. Then Hildreth claimed Maltster from T. A. Gay & Co. for $1,562. Both Maltster and Thane were claimed from McCafferty within a week.

The war is sure to continue up the line at Memphis and other southern tracks and at Chicago. Even Edward Corrigan has been inocculated with the virus and has taken an active part lately. Hildreth has declared himself regarding McCafferty and Durnell & Herz, and makes the statement that it was the latter's money which paid for the stable which McCafferty has gathered here this winter. The fact that McCafferty bought Allyar from Edward Corrigan and that the horse ran in Durnell & Herz's colors this afternoon would seem to bear out this statement.

The path was again in evidence today and the horses which drew outside positions at the start had much the best of it. There was not a close finish during the afternoon.

Jockey Robbins, who was one of the most popular riders on the Chicago tracks last season, will ride for J. G. Follansbee on the metropolitan tracks this year. The contract is on the way here, and will be signed and returned in a few days. Robbins will not report to his new employer until after the Memphis meeting, where he will do lightweight riding for James Arthur.

OAKLAND RACES COMMONPLACE

Horatius' Win the One Surprise of the Day—Jockey Miner Suspended for Suspicious Riding.

San Francisco, Cal., March 5.—[Special.]—The racing this afternoon at Oakland was commonplace. The track was covered with mud, with a few dry spots on the extreme outside.

The six winners were Erema, Creedmore, Baffled, Horatius, Mr. Dingle, and Eonic. Horatius was really the only surprise. All won in comparatively easy style, except Mr. Dingle.

After the last race the judges announced the suspension of Miner, who rode such a suspicious looking race on Matt Hogan on Wednesday, and who was unfortunate enough to be practically left on Evander in the first race this afternoon. Minder was in line to ride for August Belmont.

The probable starters in the Waterhouse cup at two miles and a quarter on Saturday are: Nones, 118 pounds; Cunard, 117; Siddons, 108; Searcher, 103; Watercure, 103; Position, 102; Artilla, 100; Rio Shannon, 99; and Frank Woods, 102. The two books thought to be operating on capital furnished by Brolaski, of get rich quick notoriety, did not cut in this afternoon.

ENGLAND AFTER TENNIS CUP.

Challenge Is Issued by Great Britain for Davis Trophy, Which Insures International Contests.

Boston, Mass., March 5.—Another international tennis contest is assured for next summer, through the announcement today by Secretary Presbrey of the United States Lawn Tennis association that Great Britain had formally challenged for the Davis trophy. This is the third attempt of Great Britain to secure this trophy. The challenge comes from Secretary Newburn of the English Lawn Tennis association.

The Davis trophy is now held by the United States association, having been successfully defended last year by the American team composed of Larned, Whitman, Ward, and Davis against R. E. Doherty, R. L. Doherty, and Dr. Joshua Pim. This contest this summer will consequently take place in this country.

The challenge will be acted upon by the executive committee of the United States association, which meets in New York on March 13. All details as to the time and place of the contest will be in the hands of a challenge committee, which will be appointed to make such arrangements in connection with a committee representing Great Britain.

Samuel T. Chase won the racquet championship of the Chicago Athletic association yesterday by defeating Walter J. Feron, the former titleholder, in the finals 3 to 1. Chase's victory was comparatively easy. In only the third game did Feron show himself a match for the champion. After the score had been tied at 13, the players elected to play five additional points with the result that Feron won by 18 to 16. The scores were 15—9, 15—4, 16—18, and 15—9. A handicap tournament for members who did not participate for the championship will commence tomorrow to continue until March 25.

CORBETT YIELDS ON PURSE LIMIT.

Signs Articles to Fight Jeffries Before Club Offering Best Terms.

LATER DATE SELECTED.

July or August Is Agreed Upon Instead of June—Hitch Over Bandages.

Baltimore, Md., March 5.—[Special.]—James J. Corbett and Billy Delaney, acting for James J. Jeffries, tonight signed articles of agreement for their battle for the heavyweight championship of the world, to be fought in California next July or August. The arrangements were finally effected in a sporting resort conducted by Wilbert Robinson, former captain of the Baltimore baseball team. About a dozen members of the sporting fraternity were present.

There was no hitch except as to the bandages, which Corbett insists on wearing on his hands. He tried hard to induce Delaney to agree to his putting them on in his dressing room, claiming that if adjusted in the ring the attendants might not get them on right.

Delaney, however, was obdurate. He said Jeffries had allowed Fitzsimmons to put on the bandages in private, and later discovered that the bandages had been steeped in plaster paris so that they became hard, and Jeffries felt them severely. Corbett was forced to yield.

The agreement as signed provides for a contest of twenty rounds, under Marquis of Queensberry rules, with five ounce gloves, bandages if worn to be put on in full view of the spectators and to the satisfaction of the referee.

It is also provided that the fight take place in California in July or August under the auspices of the club offering the largest purse, no purse to be considered unless accompanied by a deposit of $5,000; bids to be sent to Harry Corbett at San Francisco, and duplicates to Tom O'Rourke of New York. Bids are to be opened April 1. The club managing the contest shall deposit a certified check for the amount of the purse with Thomas H. Williams. Corbett and Jeffries are to deposit $2,500 each as a guarantee to fulfill the agreement. The purse is to be divided, 75 per cent to the winner and 25 per cent to the loser.

Corbett said after signing that he was entirely satisfied with the arrangements, and had been willing to concede almost anything to secure a contest. He has decided upon Yank Kenny or Jack McCormick as his sparring partner. Corbett's road company will disband at Los Angeles in May, and he will then go into training at some seashore resort on the coast.

CORBETT TALKS OF M'GOVERN.

Is Confident He Can Defeat Terry Again on March 31—Explains Showing Against Hanlon.

San Francisco, Cal., March 5.—"My poor showing with Eddie Hanlon," said Young Corbett, "does not indicate that I have gone back. I simply couldn't get into proper condition for a long battle in the time I had, so did the best I could.

"You know it takes a great deal of hard work to take off weight in this country. I figure that there is at least five pounds difference between here and New York, due to climatic changes. However, I am well acclimated now, and there is no reason why I should not be prepared for the championship battle when I meet Terry McGovern March 31.

"McGovern is an aggressive fighter. He tried his savage rushes on me at Hartford, but I soon got on to his curves and straightened him out. My style of fighting is just the kind to drop McGovern. The only way to fight him is to carry him along at a fast clip. If you break ground it gives him confidence. I will prove that no lucky punch made me champion."

TERRY EXPECTS A HARD FIGHT.

McGovern Makes Brief Stop in Chicago on Way to Coast—Appears in Good Health.

[BY GEORGE SILER.]

Terry McGovern, accompanied by Assistant Manager Joe Humphries, Trainer Charles Maywood, and Eddie Cain, his sparring partner, arrived in Chicago from New York last evening. Terry and his companions were due early in the day, but their train was over five hours late, and, as they were scheduled to leave for San Francisco at 8 o'clock, they had barely time to extract the cinders from their eyes and catch their train.

The ex-Brooklyn "terror" showed no effects of his recent illness. He looked as chipper and as formidable as of old. His snappy little eyes were bright and his complexion denoted health in abundance.

"The grip had me down for the count for twenty-four hours," said Terry, "but I am feeling pretty well now. Early in the week I thought I would be compelled to cancel my engagement with Corbett, but my physician told me I would be up and about in forty-eight hours at least, so I stood pat. I did, however, try to have the fight postponed a week, but that was impossible, as the club under whose auspices we are to fight must hold the contest this month.

The fight, you know, is set for the last day of March, which was the best the club officials could do, but that only gives me about three weeks to get in shape. I worked some for Bernstein and Maynard, and am therefore in pretty fair condition, but would feel more at ease if I had six weeks on the coast. Corbett trimmed me once and may do it again. If he does I will take my hat off to him.

"My friends are inclined to think I will beat him sure, because I stopped Maynard in four rounds, while he was lucky to break even with him. That, of course, is fight dope, but I take no stock in dope. This fellow Corbett is a cool, determined, hard hitting fighter, and my impression of the outcome of the fight is the boy who lands the punch will win. It is bound to be a hurricane affair, as I am going to try to beat him right off the reel, and he will try to do the same with me."

Terry will train at Larkspur, and, as he is within a few pounds of the required weight—127 pounds—he will devote most of his time to perfecting wind and speed.

Humphries while on the coast will endeavor to match his protégé, Johnny Reagen, against Frankie Neil, and will also be on the alert for a match for Eddie Cain.

Harry Forbes was yesterday matched to fight Paddy Nee of Pittsburg at 118 pounds, weigh in at 12 o'clock. The contest will take place at Pittsburg on March 16 and will be for a guaranteed purse of $750, with a privilege of 50 per cent of the gross receipts.

Hugh McPadden and "Kid" Abel will box six rounds in the feature event of the Badger club's show at Milwaukee tonight. The main preliminary will bring together Gene McGovern and Jack Galligan.

George Quinn, the south side bantam, is out with a challenge to fight Maurice Rauch.

Better use Devoe

The man who pays for the painting wants results: looks, durability, preservation of the wood; and not to cost too much.

Whether he gets what he wants and pays for depends on the man who makes the paint: a little on the man who puts it on.

You may be sure you'll not get out of the paint-pot what the man who makes the paint doesn't put there: a good many of them don't put there what you want to get out.

A good painter could put in what ought to be there: it would be good paint if he could mix it right: nobody can by hand.

On the whole, better use Devoe ready paint and get what you want and ought to have.

Buy it of most any good dealer; get a good painter to put it on.

LONGS LET GO THE WHEAT

SALES OF ENORMOUS QUANTITIES BREAK THE MARKET.

News of the Day, Both Domestic and Foreign, of a Distinctly Bearish Tone, Resulting in Free Liquidation—Expected Supporting Orders Fail to Materialize — The Coarse Grain List Follows Wheat and Everything Sells at Lower Prices.

There was a sudden abandonment of the confidence in wheat values by a multitude of holders yesterday, and the May price, which has been holding persistently at 77c or just above it for several weeks, broke through easily and was carried down to 75⅝c by general liquidation and some bear pressure. There were several little rallies on the way down, but none of them was well held, and the close was near the bottom at 75¾-⅞c, a net loss for the day of 1⅜c. Other deliveries were off as much. There was a little firmness after the opening on a rally in corn, but the market had no support and the break started on selling by some of the local bulls and by the northwest.

More liberal receipts at Minneapolis and the refusal of one of the roads to take shipments of flour for the east made the northwest speculative fraternity less hopefully bullish. The generally favorable condition of the crop, the continued rains over the winter wheat belt, with no prospect of severe weather in sight, finally had the depressing effect which had been counteracted for some time by the sentimental effect of the theory that 77c was a stopping point.

Crop Conditions Fine.

The Price Current declared that the crop maintained good promise, with little injury from freezing or thawing, and the Ohio state report made the condition 94, compared with 62 a year ago. Foreign markets were all easy and the export demand continued dull, although 160,000 bu were sold on the break. Liverpool was ½d lower, Paris ½c lower to unchanged, and Antwerp ⅝c lower. Clearances were light, of wheat 38,000 bu, but heavy of flour, the total of both 382,000 bu. There were sales of 50,000 bu from here to Ohio mills. There were 297 cars northwest, compared with 236 a year ago, and 386,000 bu at primary points compared with 400,000 bu a year ago. Bad roads are interfering with the movement of winter wheat. Beerbohm estimated the world's visible stocks at 137,600,000 bu March 1, compared with 161,120,000 bu a year ago. There was a rally to 76⅛c from the low point on a break in British consols of 13-16, but the explanation came from New York that the break was not due to any war complications, but to the prospect of a Transvaal loan. The commission selling was general, with Hulburd-Warren, Bartlett-Frazier, Wrenn, McReynolds, Peavey, Milmine-Bodman Requa, and Geddes active. There was covering of short wheat on the way down by St. Louis houses, Spencer, Woodbury, Bennett, Love, and Gifford, and buying by Cudahy brokers around 76c.

Corn Winds Up Heavy.

There was a firm corn market early on continued wet weather in the corn states and continued poor grading of the receipts here, with little selling pressure. May had a rally of ⅝c to 47½c, but at that price holders began offering more freely, and with the break in wheat selling became general and the market was given a start downward, which was accelerated by the decision of the railroad and warehouse commissioners not to make a separate grade for kiln dried corn. There was a break of over 1c from the high point to 46⅝c, with the close at 46½-⅝c, a net loss of ½-⅝c. July lost ½c, September only ¼c. There was continued selling of May by provision interests, and some buying of July. Cudahy brokers helped the early rally, but were free sellers later. There was a little open buying of July by Armour, and Kidston was a large buyer. Pringle bought May on the break, and there was some covering by shorts. Clearances were liberal, 518,000 bu, and for five days have been over 3,000,000 bu. There were 234 cars inspected in, with none contract, and no contract from any other source. Estimated for today, 291 cars. The cash demand was dull, 25,000 bu sold to the seaboard, and export sales 160,000 bu. Cash prices were off ½c to 1c for the car lots. English markets were weak, Liverpool off ⅛d and London ⅛d.

Patten Selling More Oats.

There was a weak market in oats after a fractional upturn at the opening in sympathy with corn. There was a break of 1c from the top, also in sympathy with corn, and on free selling of both May and July by Patten and his following, those deliveries closed ¾c lower. The only demand seemed to be from shorts, with a little buying by one of the cereal companies. The cash market was a shade easier and the shipping demand dull. There were 123 cars inspected in, with 10 standard, and 155 estimated for today. Clearances were 8,000 bu.

Lard Firm, Other Product Easy.

The May pork delivery started out with a good deal of strength, but it lost it all before the close, at which time prices were 10c off from Wednesday. A new season's record was established at $18.45 on this delivery, though later it reacted to $18.10, closing at $18.20. In final transactions ribs were also 10@12½c lower, lard being the only article in the list showing any improvement, and this was but fractional. English houses bought early, local packing interests selling later. During the bulk of the session lard was the sustaining influence on good demand and light offerings. May passed the $10.00 mark, getting up to $10.07½. Hog receipts were 24,000 and prices 5@10c higher. Estimated today, 22,000. Western packing points reported 55,600, as against 66,900 a week ago and 74,900 last year. The week's packing was reported at 425,000, against 415,000 a year ago. Shipments of cured meats were 1,668,000 lbs, against 2,056,000 lbs last year, and of lard 934,000 lbs, against 591,000 lbs last year.

Rye was quiet and easier. May held at 51½c and buyers bidding 50½c. Some cash was changed to May at 2c difference. Receipts were 2 cars, with no withdrawals or clearances.

Barley was again quiet, trade being slow and the market tone heavy, buyers reducing bids. Screenings were quotably 40@45c, feed 43@46c, low grade malting 45@47c, and fair to good 45@47c.

Timothy seed was more freely offered, March nominally $3.95.

Flaxseed was slow and easy, demand extremely limited. No. 1 northwestern was quoted $1.16 and southwestern $1.14. May closed $1.16½ bid and $1.17 asked. Receipts here were 9 cars, at Minneapolis 24, and at Duluth 40.

Trade Gossip on 'Change.

Estimated arrivals for today are: Wheat, 20 cars; corn, 291 cars; oats, 155 cars; hogs, 22,000.

"Wheat has held above 77c for May for some days," said President R. G. Chandler, "without any especial support. Now that it has broken through that figure, it is likely to drag lower, unless conditions change. There has been a poor export demand for some time, and it does not seem to be much better on the break, as other countries are shipping liberally. Contract stocks are small enough in this country so speculation might advance prices or a crop scare might bring in speculation on a broad enough scale to have the same effect, but just at present there seems no likelihood of either."

The Ohio March report was a bearish document, giving the condition at 94, as compared with 62 a year ago.

The railroad and warehouse commission has decided not to make any change in the rules which would let kiln dried corn in as No. 2, being of the opinion the rules as they now stand cover the case sufficiently.

J. H. Wrenn & Co. say: "We do not question but that there will be heavier receipts of corn and better grading as soon as the railroads can supply the cars, but we doubt much whether the quality will improve in proportion. Our advices from Iowa and Nebraska are not bright for either an increase in receipts or quality. Large quantities of corn are being shipped into the former state from its neighbors, and Nebraska is taking care of its own crop. In Illinois there seems to be plenty of corn for shipment could the cars be obtained. If there is to be a large movement it will come from this state. A significant point in these advices is that wherever there is good corn high prices are being paid for it. The short interest in the May delivery has been materially reduced on this advance, whereas it has been reduced in the July. A feature worth watching closely for the next ninety days will be the weather. The corn belt was never more saturated with moisture than at the present time from the excessive rains and snow, and should the spring be a wet one it would greatly retard planting operations, which in turn would be reflected in a speculative way in the July delivery more than any other."

The Cincinnati Price Current in its weekly crop summary says: "The wheat crop maintains a good promise. There has been a little injury from freezing and thawing. Kansas crop is the most uncertain. Ground is wet in all sections. Bad roads are retarding the interior grain movement."

The Northwestern Miller says: "Minneapolis mills last week ground approximately 1,250,000 bu of wheat; the receipts (less shipments) were 868,000 bu, against 958,000 bu in the preceding week 1,119,000 bu in 1902, and 1,205,000 bu in 1901. Public stocks decreased 130,000 bu, making the stock in store in Minneapolis 15,365,000 bu, against 15,966,000 bu a year ago. This week the mills are likely to grind around 1,300,000 bu."

Beerbohm estimates world's wheat stocks, March 1, at 137,600,000 bu, against 101,120,000 bu a year ago.

EGG PRICES SHARPLY HIGHER.

Receipts Cut Down by Recent Cold Weather and Demand More Urgent than Ordinary.

About all the interests in the produce list yesterday centered in eggs, which were marked up 2½c a doz in case lots owing to light receipts, small stocks, an urgent demand and an indisposition on the part of holders to "let go" while the market shows its present strength. Advices from all the interior shipping points are that the outlook is not encouraging for a large supply in the immediate future. There were less than 4,000 cases in yesterday, about 600 less than the corresponding day last week. The vegetable list was also easier on receipts of about 300 brls from the south.

ASK CASH NEVER EARNED.

LAKE INCOME HOLDERS MAKE DEMAND FOR INTEREST.

Believe Their Claim for $350,000 Should Be Considered Ahead of the Indebtedness by Which the Road Was Prevented from Going Into Bankruptcy — Local Interest Rates Continue to Grow Firmer—Increase in the Manufacture of Snuff.

An interesting development in connection with the plans for reorganizing the Lake Street Elevated is the demand of the income bondholders for seven years' interest, amounting to about $350,000. The interesting feature is the fact that interest was never earned on the incomes, and they are not entitled to a distribution unless earned.

Another phase of the demand is that this seven years' interest shall be considered a lien prior to the claims of the Northwestern Elevated, which has furnished the money to keep the road from going into bankruptcy, and consequently the annihilation of the income bond holders. They have no mortgage lien.

But not only has the road failed to earn interest on the income. It has never, since it began operation, earned interest on its first mortgage bonds. Instead of doing so it has accumulated a purely floating debt of $1,821,000. By this much it has missed discharging through earnings its first mortgage obligation. No one can accuse the Lake Street management of having made wasteful expenditures. On the contrary, to prevent getting still further in debt, the property has not had expended upon it an adequate amount.

The indebtedness to the Northwestern Elevated was shown at the annual meeting to be in round numbers $607,000, itemized as follows:

First mortgage bond interest	$165,000
Loop rental and expenses	149,500
Balance account Ziegler purchase	59,000
Third track and transformation station	64,500
Old debenture interest	168,900

Here it will be seen is $333,900 first mortgage and debenture bond interest and $149,500 advanced by the Northwestern to pay the Union Loop rent. The property therefore failed not only to earn its interest but also failed to earn enough to pay toll for the use of the loop. Still the income bondholders are certain they should be treated with before the Northwestern. Probably they have reasons for their demand, but are not willing to make them public at this time. Besides if you do not ask you may not receive.

Interest Rates Firmer.

Local interest rates showed a firmer tendency yesterday than on the previous day. New York commission houses were bidding 5¼ per cent for time loans, as against 5 per cent Wednesday. The minimum rate for new business in Chicago is pretty generally observed at 5 per cent. A great deal is being loaned at 5½ per cent.

Snuff Production Grows.

From the annual statement of the American Snuff company it appears that the production of snuff in this country is constantly increasing. The company last year enjoyed the most prosperous twelve months period in its existence. Net earnings increased $673,012, which is 63 per cent, an extraordinary gain as the general record of earnings goes. The dividend rate was increased from 4½ per cent to 6 per cent on the preferred stock and 2½ per cent was paid on the common, as against nothing the previous year. The financial state and capitalization follow:

	1902.	1901.	Increase.
Net earnings	$1,739,617	$1,066,605	$673,012
Dividends	995,042	540,000	455,042

Pennsylvania's Big Expenditure.

President Cassatt has told the stockholders of the Pennsylvania railroad how the $66,000,000 which is to be secured through new securities is to be used. It all goes to new construction, and Mr. Cassatt thinks the company last year lost several million dollars in net earnings because it could not handle the business offered. The Pennsylvania company's expenditures have been frequently pointed out by those who thought they saw money going into permanent investment whose earning power would have to be developed later. The way the company proposes to spend the sum mentioned is as follows:

Relief of the congestion around Pittsburg, estimated to cost	$9,500,000
Completion of the four track system on the Pittsburg division, and double tracking of the Western Pennsylvania road, total cost	15,000,000
New line on the New Portage road, double track on the Petersburg branch, and a large classification yard at Hollidaysburg, estimated to cost	5,000,000
Four tracking the middle division and other improvements thereon, cost	3,000,000
For new line between York Haven and Philadelphia and two additional tracks into Philadelphia	18,000,000
For extension of West Philadelphia yard and reduction of grades on Trenton cutoff	4,500,000
For additional tracks between Trenton and Newark and other improvements on the New York division	12,000,000
Total estimated cost	$66,000,000

Manhattan and Other Dividends.

In the general weakness the extra dividend of 1 per cent declared on Manhattan stock yesterday, in addition to a quarterly dividend of 1¾ per cent, helped the shares temporarily only. A 7 per cent rate plus 1 per cent extra appears large in view of the statement of earnings presented last fall. The dividends are payable April 1. Books close March 13 and reopen March 25. The official notice specifies the extra dividend is declared out of the surplus for the nine months ending March 31.

Directors of Swift & Co. yesterday declared the regular quarterly dividend of 1¾ per cent, payable April 6. Books close March 21 and reopen April 7.

The Finance company of the Pennsylvania has declared the regular quarterly dividend of $1.50 per share on its first preferred stock, payable April 1 to stock of record March 21.

The directors of the Western State bank have carried out the promise made the first of the year by declaring a quarterly dividend of 1½ per cent on the bank's capital, payable April 1 to stock of record on the same date.

The Chicago Junction railways and Union Stockyard company declared a regular quarterly dividend of 1½ per cent on its preferred stock and 2 per cent on its common stock, payable April 1. Books close March 12 and reopen April 2.

Directors of the 'Frisco have declared the regular quarterly dividend of 1 per cent on the first preferred stock.

Banks Have Lost $5,027,000.

The subtreasury statement shows another gain from the banks of $556,000. Since last Friday the banks have lost to the subtreasury $5,027,000. There is yet one more day's business to be counted in the bank statement which will be issued Saturday. It grows more doubtful whether the surplus reserve will show $1,000,000.

General Financial News.

It was reported yesterday that members of the Southern Pacific pool have asked for the return of their certificates in return for others in the name of a house close to the pool manager. This is taken to mean the dissolution of the pool by eastern gossip, though the correctness of this surmise may be doubted.

It is announced negotiations have been closed for the purchase of the Hyde Brothers' steel works at Syracuse, N. Y. New Yorkers are said to be the purchasers and that the plant will be reconstructed with a capital of $1,000,000.

It is announced that of the authorized $30,000,000 of new Louisville and Nashville 4 per cent collateral trust bonds about $13,000,000 will be used to refund other issues and the remainder be applied toward the completion of certain branch lines that were contemplated before J. P. Morgan & Co. acquired control of the property.

IN THE BOSTON MONEY MARKET.

General Tendency of Cash, Bonds, Copper Shares, and Other Securities at the Hub.

BOSTON, Mass., March 5.—[Special.]—The swing of prices was generally downward today, although at times the specialties broke away to higher figures. Dominion Iron was notable for an early sortie against the shorts, the stock running up 3 points, to 70, on heavy buying for the Canadian account. The local shorts ran to cover, but the offerings became free, and most of the gain was lost. Coppers as a rule worked lower, although Tamarack proved an exception, rising 6 points, to 187. Local brokers paid as high as 6½ per cent for accommodations in the loan crowd.

Call loans were 5@6 per cent; time loans, collateral, 4½@5 per cent; time loans, mercantile paper, 4¾@5½ per cent; clearing house loans, 4½ per cent.

UNITED STATES STEEL CORPORATION

Office of J. P. Morgan & Co.,
23 Wall Street, New York,
March 3, 1903.

To Holders of the Preferred Stock of the United States Steel Corporation, of record on March 16, 1903:

For account and in behalf of the United States Steel Corporation, and under and in pursuance of the provisions of a certain agreement between that Corporation and the undersigned, dated April 1, 1902, and approved by the stockholders of the Corporation at a special meeting held May 19, 1902, the undersigned hereby offer to every holder of preferred stock of the United States Steel Corporation, of record at the close of business on the sixteenth day of March, 1903, for and during the period of sixty days from and after such date:

(1) The preferential opportunity to subscribe for, and to take at par, the Ten-Sixty Year Five Per Cent Sinking Fund Gold Bonds of the United States Steel Corporation, in such even amounts (i. e., $500 or multiples thereof) as such holder of preferred stock may desire, in the aggregate not exceeding $200,000,000, nor in any instance exceeding forty per cent of the par amount of the preferred stock standing in the name of such holder of preferred stock at the closing of the books on March 16, 1903. Such subscriptions shall be payable in preferred stock of the United States Steel Corporation at par; that is to say, five shares of such preferred stock for each $500 of such bonds; and also

(2) The like opportunity, at his further option, to make an additional subscription, payable in cash, for bonds of such issue, at par and accrued interest, to an even amount approximately equal to ten per cent of the par amount of the preferred stock standing in the name of such preferred stockholder on March 16th.

The said bonds are to bear date April 1, 1903, and are to be part of an authorized issue of $250,000,000, and the form thereof, as well as of the indenture of mortgage, lien, or pledge securing the same, is to be satisfactory to the undersigned.

The indenture of mortgage, lien, or pledge securing said bonds is to bear date April 1, 1903, and is to be next in rank and similar in form to that securing the bonds of the United States Steel Corporation for $304,000,000, issued under and secured by the Indenture to the United States Trust Company of New York, dated April 1, 1901. The proposed form thereof (which, however, until the date of the execution thereof will be subject to modification in any particular not herein specified) may be examined by any recorded holder of preferred stock on or after March 16, 1903, at the office of the Transfer Agent, 71 Broadway, New York, or at this office.

The bonds are to bear interest at the rate of 5 per cent per annum from their date, April 1, 1903, and every deposit of preferred stock under this offer shall operate as a transfer to the Steel Corporation of all right to dividends accruing on such deposited stock after April 1, 1903. The deposited preferred shares will be held in the names in which they are deposited until after the preferred stock books shall have closed for the dividend for the quarter ending April 1st, payable May 15, 1903. The new bonds will be deliverable as soon after the latter date as they can be prepared.

The principal of such bonds will be payable in sixty years, but they will be redeemable at the pleasure of the Corporation at any time after the expiration of ten years from the date thereof at 110 and accrued interest. In case less than the whole issue is redeemed at any one time the bonds to be redeemed are to be designated by lot, and the coupon bonds are to be redeemed first.

An annual sinking fund of $1,010,000 is to be provided by the United States Steel Corporation for the redemption of the bonds. The bonds will be issued as coupon bonds, each for the principal sum of $1,000 or $5,000, and as registered bonds each for the principal sum of $500, $1,000, $5,000, or of any multiple of $5,000 that may be authorized by the Steel Corporation. The coupon bonds are to be exchangeable at any time for registered bonds, and the registered bonds, when presented in even amounts of $1,000, are to be exchangeable for coupon bonds, at the will of the holders, upon terms to be stated in said indenture.

Under the said bonds and the instrument securing the same no action or proceeding, either at law or in equity, can be instituted or maintained for the enforcement or collection of interest on the bonds, or for maturing the principal thereof by reason of a default by the Steel Company in the payment of any installment of interest, until after such default in the payment of such installment shall have lasted for the period of two years continuously.

Subscriptions for bonds, whether payable in stock or in cash, must be made on warrants to be issued by the United States Steel Corporation. Such warrants will be issued to every holder of preferred stock registered as such on the books of the Corporation at the close of business on March 16, 1903, and will be mailed to such holders as soon as possible thereafter at their respective addresses, as shown by the books of the Steel Corporation. Such warrants will specify the amount of bonds for which the said stockholder is entitled to subscribe payable in preferred stock, and also the amount of bonds he is entitled to subscribe for in cash. The privilege of subscription may be transferred in writing in whole or in part, and the warrants will bear an appropriate form of assignment for this purpose.

No subscription payable in preferred stock will be received from any holder of preferred stock unless he shall deliver certificates for preferred stock duly endorsed for transfer for an amount at par equal to the portion of his subscription payable in preferred stock. In order to facilitate the transaction, stockholders who intend to avail themselves of this privilege should, before the closing of the books on March 16, 1903, have their stock split up in certificates of such amounts that they can surrender in payment of their subscription for bonds, certificates of stock for the exact amount required.

Subscriptions must be actually made or delivered on or before May 16th, at the office of the undersigned.

The terms and conditions of this offer may be modified by written agreement between Messrs. J. P. Morgan & Co. and the United States Steel Corporation.

ROADS WILL END MANY FREE RIDES

Officials of Sixty-seven Railways Holding Elkins Law Meeting in Chicago.

ACTION TO COME TODAY.

Some Reduced Rates Will Be Left Standing, but More Will Be Abolished.

Passenger traffic managers and general passenger agents of all the roads in the territories of the Western, Southwestern, and Transcontinental Passenger associations, which means all lines west, northwest, and southwest from Chicago to the Pacific, met in Chicago yesterday to determine what action is necessary to bring about a strict compliance in the passenger traffic with the Elkins law.

It was the largest passenger meeting ever held in this city, sixty-seven roads being represented, including the Grand Trunk of Canada and the Canadian Pacific. The Great Northern was the only important line not represented, but this, it is said, has no significance, as the other Hill roads—the Northern Pacific and Burlington—had representatives present.

After some discussion it was agreed it was necessary first to have a full understanding of the subjects to be considered and the effect of the new law upon them. It was decided to appoint a committee of five, with J. Francis of the Burlington as chairman, to formulate a report and submit it to the general meeting, which will reconvene at 10 o'clock this morning.

Many Concessions Must Go.

There is no intention of cutting off reduced rates for meetings, conventions, or other large gatherings, or half fare tickets issued to clergymen or on account of charity, as it is generally admitted that there is nothing in the Elkins law that prohibits the issue of such transportation.

The courts, moreover, have decided frequently that concessions for such purposes, if they are general in their application, do not constitute discrimination. Nearly every other kind of concession heretofore made to certain people for various reasons, however, will be cut off.

Among the principal subjects to be considered today will be whether it is permissible to issue transportation to committees of large organizations who are to make arrangements at the various points where their sessions are to be held; also whether passes can be given to land agents of companies who own large tracts of lands in the west and are locating settlers thereon. No passes or reduced transportation of any kind can be issued for the purpose of influencing traffic. Some roads contend that the latter is the only kind of free or reduced transportation prohibited.

The strong lines insist that every kind of free or reduced transportation must be cut off, aside from the exceptions noted. The weaker lines, however, do not want the screws put on so tight, as it would place them at a great disadvantage. They hold they are unable to compete with the stronger lines on equal terms, and if pushed too hard they might find it necessary to make an open reduction in rates. They would be content to accept differential rates, but these have never been tolerated in western territory. Pooling is out the question under existing laws. It is probable, however, that the weak roads can be mollified by an agreement whereby they are allowed to control exclusively certain classes of unassigned business.

Abandons New Orleans Line.

The St. Louis and San Francisco, weary of the litigation with which its efforts to gain entrance into New Orleans have been met, has abandoned for the present its purpose of extending its lines to that city, and has decided to make Galveston the southern terminus.

Chicago-Buffalo Trolley Line.

A complete trolley line between Buffalo and Chicago within two years seems assured now by the practical perfection of arrangements for the construction of a new line from Chicago to South Bend, Ind. This will mean the filling of the largest gaps between Cleveland and Chicago. The Toledo and Western, controlled almost entirely by Cleveland capital, is in operation between Toledo and Fayette, with a branch under construction to Pioneer. The largest gap remaining between the western terminus and South Bend is fifty miles between Goshen and Angola in northern Indiana. Cleveland and Toledo are now connected by an electric road.

New Train for St. Paul.

Close connection will be made hereafter by the Milwaukee and St. Paul with the new fast transcontinental train which arrives at St. Paul from the Pacific coast daily at 10:40 p. m. To make this connection and secure the transportation of the Pacific coast mail St. Paul will put on next Sunday a new train leaving St. Paul at 11 p. m. and reaching Chicago at 11:55 a. m. the next day.

General Railway Notes.

Leading manufacturers of Rockford, Ill., have appointed a committee of ten to inquire into the feasibility of building a short line to Holcomb, a distance of fourteen miles, to connect with the Chicago Great Western. Oppressive freight regulations of the railroads now centering at Rockford led to the step. Abundant capital is pledged to carry out the project.

C. O. Kalman has been elected auditor of the Chicago Great Western, in place of W. B. Bend, resigned. R. O. Barnard has been elected treasurer, in place of Mr. Kalman, promoted. K. F. Dreher has been appointed treasurer of the Chicago Great Western.

Gross earnings of the Chicago Great Western for the fourth week of February show an increase of $17,734 over last year, being an increase of $59,603.43 for the month.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK MARKETS.

Movements of Cattle, Hogs, Sheep, and Lambs, with the Range of Prices and Comparisons.

Estimated receipts of cattle here yesterday were 6,500; hogs, 22,000; and sheep, 10,000. Heavy beeves were slow, but the light and medium grades were active and steady. There were not many strictly ripe steers here and the demand was limited. Trade in butcher stock was slow and values shading lower. There was light competition in the canner trade and trade was dull and lower. Stock cattle continue in good demand with values firm.

The hog trade opened stronger with the light and mixed packing grades a big 10 cents higher. The top kinds did not feel the full strength of the advance, the top being $7.60. Late in the forenoon the market suddenly weakened and the close was dull.

Prime lambs and sheep were steady, but other grades were lower again

The following is a statement of the movement of live stock at the Chicago stockyards for the period indicated, with comparative figures:

GOOD NEWS NOT REGARDED

STOCK MARKET IS NOT HELPED BY LARGE EARNINGS.

Traders Say They Are Interested in Net Results Rather than Gross—Unfavorable Influences Control Exchange—Call Money Rose to 6 Per Cent and Time Money Is Firmer for All Periods — Steel Bonds Drop 7 Points—Fight on Southern Pacific.

[BY A SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.]

NEW YORK, March 5.—[Special.]—The extraordinary collections and reports of increased gross earnings by several railroad companies in the last week of February, which under ordinary circumstances would have stimulated prices in the general market, did not offset in any degree the influence of many other factors today on trading on the stock exchange. The tendency of these influences was clearly to unsettle values. Indeed, the temper of the market may be accurately judged by the fact that about the only comment heard regarding this evidence of the large business transacted by the railroads of the country was that it is reports of net earnings rather than gross earnings the people now care for.

Call money rose to 6 per cent and time money was quotably firmer for all periods, and commercial paper continues to be negotiated on terms which favor the buyers.

Rumors were spread broadcast that a large mercantile house in this city was embarrassed. On the outside market the new bonds of the United States Steel corporation were quoted at a recession in price of 7 points, compared to the sales made at the same time yesterday.

Foreign exchange was again weaker today, pointing, as does the general decline in prices which has occurred throughout the week, to a reduction in loans in next week's bank statement. Neither this fact nor the elevation of Manhattan Elevated railroad stock to a full 7 per cent basis, with an extra dividend of 1 per cent on the stock also being declared, served to stay in the slightest the flood of liquidating sales. The most effective influence in promoting the liquidation was a rumor that a large minority of the stockholding interests of the Southern Pacific railroad company was about to ask for an injunction restraining the majority interest, that is, the Union Pacific railroad company, from voting the majority shares held by the company at the forthcoming Southern Pacific annual meeting on April 9. No official confirmation of the story can be obtained, although representatives of the Union Pacific company admitted that they regarded such action as possible and perhaps a probable contingency.

IN NEW YORK MONEY MARKET.

General Tendency of Cash, Bonds, Railway Shares, and Other Securities in Wall Street.

NEW YORK, March 5.—There was an air of mystery about the weakness of the stock market today. Rumors of financial embarrassment in the dry goods world were circulated, but nothing definite was announced.

A feature of the day was the further break in United States Steel 5 per cent bonds, when issued, on the curb to below 89.

Bonds were weak in sympathy with stocks. Total sales, par value, $2,605,000. United States bonds were all unchanged on the last call.

Money on call, firm at 3¾@6 per cent; closing 4½@5. Time money, firm; 60 days, 5@5¼ per cent; 90 days, 5@5¼; six months, 5½. Prime mercantile paper, 5@5½; sterling exchange weak, with actual business in bankers' bills at 487 for demand and at 483.60@483.65 for sixty days' bills; posted rates, 484½@485 and 488; commercial bills, 483@483½; bar silver, 48⅛c; Mexican dollars, 38c. Government bonds, steady; railroad bonds, weak.

IN THE FOREIGN MONEY MARKET.

General Tendency of Cash, Bonds, and Securities in London, Paris, and Berlin.

LONDON, March 5.—The pressure for money was relaxed today, though supplies were not abundant. Discounts were weaker.

Business on the stock exchange was generally dull. Consols were heavy and home rails were irregular. Americans started fairly firm and reacted mostly to below parity. Union Pacific, Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fé, and Erie were the poorest stocks. The receipt of the New York opening prices accentuated the decline and Americans closed flat. Grand Trunk was in fair demand. Rio Tintos were strong on Paris support and the copper situation. The metal was strong at 60¼ and closed at 60. Americans further declined on the street, then improved slightly temporarily, reacted, and closed weak, notably Missouri, Kansas and Texas, Southern Railway, Southern Pacific, and Union Pacific.

The weekly statement of the Bank of England shows the following changes: Total reserve, decreased £42,000; circulation, increased £458,000; bullion, decreased £484,079; other securities, increased £1,631,000; other deposits, increased £71,000; public deposits, increased £286,000; notes, reserve, decreased £997,000; government securities, decreased £180,000.

The proportion of the Bank of England's reserve to liability this week is 45.34 per cent, as compared with 54.48 per cent last week.

Rate of discount unchanged at 4 per cent.

Bar silver, barely steady, 22¼d per oz. Money, 3¼@3¾ per cent. The rate of discount in the open market for short bills, 3½@3¾ per cent; three months bills, 3 1-16@3¼ per cent.

PARIS, March 5.—Prices on the bourse today opened firm. Rio Tintos and Spanish securities were in particular request. Later business was quieter, though prices were generally maintained. Subsequently rentes, rails, and certain industrials attracted attention, there was an all round advance, and stocks closed firm. De Beers were strong. The private rate of discount was 2 15-16 per cent.

The weekly statement of the Bank of France shows the following changes: Notes in circulation, increased 7,725,000 francs; treasury accounts, current, decreased 875,000 francs; gold in hand, decreased 11,350,000 francs; bills discounted, decreased 24,575,000 francs; silver in hand, decreased 1,900,000 francs.

BERLIN, March 5.—Prices opened fairly firm on the boerse today, but relapsed later in consequence of a sharp decline in Canadian Pacific, prompted by the collapse of the Pacific Packing company and large realizations in industrials, which are dealt in for cash.

THREE MEN HURT BY A WRECK.

Freight and Work Trains on Pennsylvania Road in Collision During a Fog.

Hidden in the fog a work train of the Pennsylvania railroad was run into by a freight train at Ninety-fifth street yesterday morning. Three men in the hear coach of the work train were injured. The engineer and fireman of the freight train saved themselves by jumping. The injured men were:

Dadzio, Frank, 169 Forquer street; bruised about the arms and body.

The freight train was going twenty miles an hour when the collision occurred. The police did not find the flagman of the work train, and they do not know whether he had gone back when his train stopped.

STOPS USING DRUG AND DIES.

Mrs. Nellie Williams Uses Heroic Method to Kill Opium Habit and It Proves Fatal.

"Death from exhaustion following efforts to break the opium habit" was declared by a coroner's jury yesterday to have been the cause of the death of Mrs. Nellie Williams, 96 Thirty-first street. Mrs. Williams died Tuesday morning surrounded by believers in Christian Science. At the last moment Dr. James G. Sinclair, 3455 Cottage Grove avenue, was called to attend her. She declined to take the drug prescribed and death followed. Had the woman stopped the use of the drug gradually, Dr. Sinclair told the jury, there would have been little danger of death. As it was her system demanded the stimulus afforded by opium and when it was withdrawn collapse followed.

POINT DECIDED FOR SAILORS.

First Mate and Crew of Collier Justin Score Victory in Suit for Salvage on the Yosemite.

San Francisco, Cal., March 5.—In the fight of Howard Rees, first mate of the naval collier Justin, and twenty members of the crew, to recover $20,000 salvage from the government, Judge De Haven today ruled out the government's demurrer. The men of the naval collier Justin saved $60,000 worth of treasure and guns from the sinking cruiser Yosemite off the island of Guam. The district attorney contended that the court had no jurisdiction except where salvage of less than $1,000 was asked. Judge De Haven sets aside the government contention.

NEW TROLLEY ROAD PLANNED.

Company Formed to Build from Galesburg to Aledo by Way of Alexis.

Galesburg, Ill., March 5.—[Special.]—Galesburg capitalists have made plans to construct an interurban street car line from here to Aledo, a distance of thirty-six miles, and to run through a country not now supplied with transportation facilities. The new line will probably go through Alexis. At Aledo connection can be made with a line projected to Rock Island.

Guilty of Robbing His Aunt.

Charles Heath was found guilty in Judge Horton's court yesterday of the larceny of $100 from his aunt, Miss Bridget Dee of Rochester, N. Y. The money, which was taken from a safety deposit vault, consisted of a $100 bill which is said to have been given to Miss Dee by President Lincoln.

CLASH AT CHAFFEE TRIAL

BITTER WORDS BY ATTORNEYS AND JUDGE BRENTANO.

Lawyers Have Frequent Tilts and Assistant Prosecutor Olson Says the Methods of the Defense Are Like Those of the Octopus, Which Hides in the Shadow of Its Own "Murky Fluid"—Charges Against Bodemann—Verdict Is Expected Today.

The defense of Louis L. Chaffee was compared to the flight of the octopus by Assistant State's Attorney Harry Olson in Judge Brentano's court yesterday.

Chaffee and his attorneys, the prosecutor declared, had ejected into the case a "murky fluid" of charges against officials and members of the state board of pharmacy in order that their flight might be concealed after the manner that the octopus covers its flight from pursuers in the sea.

This declaration of the prosecutor came near the close of a session of court during which Judge Brentano frequently exchanged bitter words with West Park Commissioner Gabriel Norden, who is one of the defending attorneys.

Attorneys in Sharp Clash.

The sharpest clash of the session was occasioned when Mr. Olson objected to the introduction of rebuttal evidence concerning a statement made relative to the sale of medicine in the store of Mr. Bodemann.

"These men are claiming that they are not getting a fair trial," Mr. Olson began.

Attorneys Norden and Kitt Gould were on their feet shouting denials.

"I can bring you assurances," exclaimed Mr. Norden.

"Bring me some law to support your objections and I will listen to it," interrupted the court, and Mr. Norden subsided.

Attorney Gould was the center of a fire of questions while on the stand in defense of Chaffee. His direct evidence tended to a charge that Mr. Bodemann had told him that if Chaffee did not dismiss a replevin suit against Bodemann Chaffee would be indicted.

"You were attorney for the board at one time, and got let out, is not that the case?" demanded Mr. Olson.

"I was attorney for the board, but resigned when I became a member of the legislature because I did not believe in being on two state payrolls at the same time. I advanced Chaffee money for his defense and am defending him in this case because I think he is innocent and is being 'jobbed.'"

Subterfuges, Says Olson.

"Chaffee is charged with embezzling money of the state board," declared Attorney Olson in his closing address. "His guilt is the only issue before the jury. Supposing, as he claims, he was assessed $5 a month for political purposes and $10 for the Tanner monument, what has that to do with the charge against him? He did not claim that any of the $1,150 shortage went for political funds.

"Supposing William Bodemann, as Chaffee claims, did take confiscated medicines to his store and sell them. That makes no difference with the issue before you.

"These charges were thrown out for the purpose of blinding you to the main issue. The defense is like the fish that fills the water about it with a murky fluid and then escapes in its shadow."

A verdict is expected in the case this morning.

TO PROSECUTE THE PACKERS.

Are Said to Be Employing Unlicensed Engineers, Who Work Unreasonable Hours.

Charges are made that at least two of the packing companies are employing unlicensed engineers and requiring them to work unreasonable hours. Swift & Co. and Nelson Morris & Co. are the concerns involved, and prosecutions are to be brought by the board of examining engineers.

An investigation has revealed that men have been imported from Detroit and St. Louis, and that the limit of ten pounds of pressure allowed to an unlicensed engineer has been exceeded by sixty to eighty pounds. In Swift's refrigerating plant No. 3, the engineer, Philip Notthoff, whose license has expired, is reported to have been working thirty-six hours continuously up to Wednesday noon. Another engineer is reported as saying that he lives "at the plant."

"Our inspectors tell us," said President Herlihy of the board of examiners, "that Engineers Slagle and Libby, as well as Notthoff, all Swift employés, had worked thirty-six hours consecutively up to 12 o'clock yesterday noon."

PRISON SENTENCE FOR FREY.

Religious Worker Guilty of Conspiracy in Securing Divorce from First Wife.

Guilty of conspiracy with punishment fixed as imprisonment in the penitentiary was the verdict returned in Judge McEwen's court yesterday against Henry M. Frey, Sunday school superintendent, Y. M. C. A. worker, and at one time a student for the priesthood. Frey used fraudulent means to secure a divorce from his first wife, Myra, and almost immediately married again.

The codefendants with Frey, Karl Larsen and James F. Johnson, were fined $50 each and were released pending a motion for a new trial.

T. K. Heath has filed a bill asking that he be separated from his wife, Mrs. Emma Johnston Heath, with whom he has not lived for more than a quarter of a century. He says he has heard nothing of her since she was living in Indianapolis, fifteen years ago.

JUSTICE PUTS WALTER KIRK UNDER A $300 PEACE BOND.

Defendant and E. A. Vosburg Tell of Trouble in Their Office in Which Paper Knife Figured.

Walter R. Kirk was put under $300 peace bonds yesterday by Justice Underwood because of threats made against his partner, Ernest A. Vosburg. Mr. Vosburg said he had not dared to return to his place of business since last Saturday, when the two men had an encounter in the office at 6 River street. Mr. Kirk was discharged on the other counts.

"I have known Mr. Vosburg for ten years," Mr. Kirk testified. "I had advanced $25,000 for the business, for which I had notes for only a part. I asked Mr. Vosburg to sign the company's name to the balance and he refused. I went to the safe and removed some valuable papers for fear they would disappear.

"Mr. Vosburg objected to this and a wrangle resulted. I backed away and told him that if he came at me again I would run him through with a paper knife I had snatched up."

"Were you afraid of him?" the attorneys asked.

"No."

Justice Underwood said he did not believe Mr. Vosburg was in any danger.

As the litigants were leaving the court Milton Kirk, father of the defendant, faced Mr. Vosburg angrily.

"What do you make out of all this?" he demanded.

"I am not saying anything to you," was the reply. Walter Kirk hurried his father from the room.

'PHONE FIGHT IN THE COURTS.

Hostile Factions of the Strowger Automatic Company Now Under the Eyes of the Law.

The factional fight to secure control of the Strowger Automatic Telephone company reached the courts yesterday when Judge Dunne issued a temporary injunction restraining Adolph Nathan, Jacob L. Kesner, Louis M. Stumer, Joseph Siegel, and Max Sello from interfering with Albert E. Wilson, Joseph Harris, Edwin W. Gearhart, Sanford F. Harris, and Albert G. Wheeler as directors of the concern, or with Harris as secretary of the company. The order also forbids Sello from asserting that he is an officer of the company and all of the defendants from disposing in any way of the proxies voted by them at the meeting of stockholders held on March 2. The election is declared to have been irregular and the courts are asked to investigate it.

SEEKS TO RESTRAIN THE CITY.

Joy Morton Contends His Rights to River Front Property Are Being Disturbed.

Joy Morton has asked the courts to pass on the city's rights in causing ten feet of wharfage to be reserved within the land owned by the complainant along the east bank of the river between Lake and Randolph streets. Mr. Morton alleges that he is about to erect a $300,000 building on the land in question and that the city, by the course it is taking, is violating an agreement made with the sanitary district. He asks for an injunction.

In speculation means "Making Money." IT'S POSSIBLE, but no one can reach it by haphazard buying and selling, nor by following "tips."
There is just one way—hard work. You must watch every move and KNOW—not guess—what to do, or you must pay some one to do it for you. To do it yourself will take ALL your time.
The Market Chart Co. furnishes just this service and charges only $50.00 a year for it, less than 5% of what it would cost you to do it [one trial week for $1.00]. Send for our booklets explaining our methods fully.
We shall be glad to refer you to hundreds of subscribers WHO ARE MAKING MONEY and the "Proof of the Pudding is the Eating."

NEW LAWS CURB TRUSTS, SAYS HENRY S. BOUTELL.

Representative Returns from Washington and Declares Congress Has Acted Wisely and Consistently.

"Wise and consistent legislation for the regulation of the trusts was adopted by congress during the session just closed," said Representative Henry S. Boutell, who returned from Washington yesterday. Continuing, Mr. Boutell said:

"The republican party lived up to its promises. The new department of labor and commerce has been created and Mr. Cortelyou, the newly appointed secretary, is actively at work organizing the department. The wise administration of this new department will tend greatly to bringing to a better understanding those who represent the interests of labor and the capitalists of the country. The bureau of corporations is authorized to require reports from all corporations and this publicity will put an end to stock watering and the exploiting of the great trusts. Representative Mann of Chicago prepared the committee report on the bill creating this department and is entitled to great credit.

"The Elkins bill, so called, greatly strengthens the existing anti-trust laws and should put an end to all rebates and discriminations upon which many of the great monopolies have been built.

"The law prohibiting the use of prize coupons in government stamp packages of tobacco and other goods is also a wise measure, directed against the encroachment upon the independent dealer.

"The legislation in which the people of Chicago are most directly interested is the passage of the bill, which I had the honor to introduce, increasing the limit of cost of our postoffice building about three-quarters of a million dollars. This sum will give to our federal building the best possible interior finish, a finish in keeping with the beautiful and magnificent exterior.

"The postoffice appropriation bill places the Chicago postoffice in a special class and ranks it with the New York office. It makes the salary of the postmaster $8,000 and makes some increases in the salaries of superintendents. It also provides for increasing the efficiency of the office by the appointment of many new clerks and by increases in many of the salaries of the lower grades."

Mr. Boutell has offered his services to the republican committee during the coming campaign.

MAY FILL COAL JURY TODAY.

Effort Will Be Made to Secure Last Three Men Before Court Adjourns for the Primary Elections.

An effort will be made to fill the panel of the jury in the coal conspiracy case before Judge A. H. Chetlain or the attorneys go to the primaries today. Another special venire of 100 men will report when court opens at 9 o'clock tomorrow. Eight jurors have been sworn, and one other, who was accepted by both sides two days ago, is biding his time waiting for the attorneys to secure three others.

DECIDE TO CANCEL 2,000 OF LLOYD'S CONCERN POLICIES.

Underwriters of the Standard and Republic Hold Meeting with the Receivers and Principal Creditors.

A meeting of the underwriters of the Standard and Republic Lloyds was held yesterday with the receivers and some of the principal creditors. The books are in bad shape, and the experts are still unable to furnish complete figures, but it is apparent that the liabilities, mostly for unpaid losses, will be between $30,000 and $50,000, which will fall upon the underwriters. It was decided to cancel at once the 2,000 policies still outstanding, with an aggregate liability of nearly $4,000,000, on which several losses have come in since the receivership. In most states policies cannot be canceled without the payment of the return premium, so the underwriters may have other losses to face.

The underwriters for the two Lloyds follow:

For the Standard—Horace Tucker, D. O. Arnold, E. F. Getchell, E. A. Bigelow, J. M. Lyons, O. C. Foster, J. W. D. Kelley, Wilson G. Baker, Joseph McDonald, William A. Arms.

For the Republic—Horace Tucker, P. L. Tuohy, Henry Holmes, Joseph McDonald, O. C. Foster, Samuel T. Baker, Henry Waller, H. T. West Jr., Wilson G. Baker, Daniel O. Arnold.

J. B. Thorsen of the Prudential, through special agent John C. Schuett, has insured every member of the Evanston fire department, as a body.

The receivership for W. S. Baker & Co., managers of the Illinois and Cook county Lloyds, was dissolved yesterday on the report of the master in chancery that Francis McDonnell, who had secured the receivership on the claim that he had an oral agreement for a third interest in the partnership, had no valid claim. The costs were assessed upon Mr. McDonnell, and he will probably retire as one of the underwriters of the Illinois and its treasurer.

The agents of the New York Life celebrated the birthday of President McCall on Monday by sending in $3,033,000 in applications.

The Ohio Supreme court has upheld the legality of the relief department of the Pennsylvania Railroad. This will probably dispose of a similar case pending in the lower court against the similar department of the Baltimore and Ohio.

Silk waists for spring.

Something new comes in every day, always chic, piquant and fashionable.

Scarcely anything you could imagine in the way of silk that we can't supply your wants in. Cool China silks, pretty pongees, and soft, rich crepe de chines; lots of lace is used in the trimmings, as well as buttons, bands of silk and French knots.

You wouldn't want to read a tiresome list of them all, but one or two special numbers will perhaps stimulate a desire to see them. These for instance:

A charming peau de soie waist front effectively trimmed with pretty patterns of applique embroidery and lace medallions—new pouch sleeves and handsome stock—comes in dainty pink, light blue and white—specially priced for today at 5.95.

1903 suiting designs.

YOU'D really think spring was well advanced the way women are investing in these rich summer suitings. The fact is, they find them irresistible.

We're not surprised either, for they are undeniably the most exquisite ideas ever produced for outing and shirt waist suits, as well as separate skirts.

The new styles are all decided, so it's wise to have your summer garments made up before the warm days arrive, when you won't want to be bothered with dressmakers and fittings. We'd advise you to follow these other women who are procuring their suitings early and thus getting best selection.

Last season's designs were decidedly unattractive when compared with the catchy creations submitted for your choosing in the immense lines displayed here now.

There's the fine French poplin suiting in plain ground of green, pink, blue, black, tan, navy, cadet and red with overshot effect of white—per yard, 85c.

Fine Cecilia suitings in white grounds with fancy stripes of blue, tan, pink, etc., and colored grounds with white stripes—very light weight but firm and durable—85c.

French suitings in pink, red and navy grounds, with dentelle or overshot effect in white, 28 inches wide—per yard, 1.25.

French cotton mercerized veilings and etamines in different colors combined with white—one of the handsomest fabrics of the season—yard, 85c to 1.25.

To extinguish the flames when a lamp is upset, throw on flour, salt, or earth from a flower pot, as water is not effective with oil flames.

* * *

A little soft soap rubbed on the tracks and cords of a pulley window will greatly facilitate the upward and downward movement.

* * *

Do not use soap in washing silk stockings of any sort or hue. They should be washed in warm bran water and squeezed out. After which dry in the shade.

* * *

Carefully rub wood alcohol over the surface of a polished table or other furniture marred from setting hot dishes on; follow with an application of linseed oil.

* * *

To produce a greater brilliancy in washing cutglass, add a little bluing to the rinsing water.

* * *

A woolen cloth saturated with gasoline will instantly remove dirt from porcelain sinks, bath tubs, etc.

Sample clocks, $1.

Maker wanted to sell his sample lines after the salesmen came in off the road. They had done a good business, so he said the samples might go for half what they were worth.

We saw a bargain in them, ordered him to ship the entire line—today they're in our clock section on the fourth floor.

Gold plated boudoir clocks, warranted movement, 1.50 and $2 values, for $1 apiece.

Eyes tested free.

If you suspect that there's anything the matter with your eyes come into our optical section and have them examined.

It will cost you nothing, and the advice of our skilled opticians may save you years of suffering.

We carry a complete line of all optical goods—eyeglasses, spectacles, opera glasses, field glasses, etc., etc., at lowest prices.

New veils, 50c.

One of the neatest and swellest (you'll say so, too,) little veils ever shown in this section, offered as a special introductory leader, at 50c.

You know what the ordinary 50c veil is—well, you'll be utterly astonished when you see the style, durability and elegance of this one, and then consider the price.

It's a charming, fine mesh that gives a decided tone and individuality to the face—can also be used as a drape. It comes in either black or white mesh with contrasting dots, which end in a unique border.

Positively the greatest veil bargain ever known in this house.

Then there's the handsome Florodora veil, 1½ yards long, white and black combinations, finished with three rows of black ribbon as a border—reduced from 1.50 to $1.

Fine imported embroideries.

NEVER were embroideries so artistically beautiful as this year—almost every pattern is an exact representation of fine hand work—and we are told our showing is unquestionably the best in the city.

Come in and see if your verdict coincides with that of others who have made critical comparisons.

You'll find the most diversified array of fine embroideries ever collected by one house, with an almost endless variety of exquisite designs, as well as all the novelties of the season, all moderately priced.

The popular medallion designs are much in evidence, many in the beautiful Mexican drawnwork patterns—per yard, $2, 2.25 and $3.

A unique idea appears in the new embroidered corset covers—the strip is of sufficient width to form the leagth of cover, ending in a dainty beading at top, through which a ribbon may be drawn to outline the neck—it requires 1¼ yards for a full cover—per yard, 45c to $1.

Embroidered shirt waist fronts, without material for sleeves and back—exquisite patterns for 1.65, 1.75 and $2. Handsome allover embroiderings specially for waist fronts, by the yard, 1.45 up.

Embroidered shirt waist patterns. You'll find the embroidered shirt waist patterns in sheer lawns and linens in the embroidery section—embroidered fronts, cuffs and collar, ready for sewing together, for 3.65, 4.50, 6.75 and up.

Rugs made to your order.

AN important branch of our work as house furnishers consists in the designing to special order of rugs to harmonize with the architectural features and decorative scheme of a room or suite. Sample rugs can be seen in our great rug hall.

In the execution of orders for this class of work our own artist studies the room carefully in detail, supplying a design and color plan appropriate to its requirements.

His specifications are turned over to the best rug makers in the world, who produce hand made floor coverings of rare elegance and beauty.*

For drawing rooms we recommend the Aubusson rugs, made in France, dainty French designs and colorings, correct for Empire, Louis XV. and Louis XVI. rooms.

For the library and for halls and stairs the most suitable thing is the hand tufted rug made in Donegal, Ireland, in which any design or color you wish can be produced.

For the reception room, Berlin hand tufted rugs, which come in a wide variety of patterns and colors, are most in demand.

For the parlor, we suggest Scotch Axminster rugs, made on looms in Glasgow, Scotland.

Indian rugs from our own rug factory in Srinagar, Kashmir, India, may be used effectively in any room.

On the execution of special orders for rug making, our prices are remarkably reasonable.

Popular fabrics for confirmation dresses.

If you're looking for those sheer, soft wash materials that have all the richness and splendor of silk, you'll find Chicago's best representation right here.

We installed a liberal supply of the very choicest of these dainty fabrics for confirmation purposes—procuring the most select and exclusive of the foreign ideas.

Soft, shimmering Paris muslins, in the rich broche effects of figures, scrolls, dots of all sizes, floral effects and plain stripes—nothing more appropriate for confirmation dresses, and this fabric is really not expensive, as it is 32 inches wide—per yard, 85c to 1.25.

Embroidered wash veilings, in mercerized finish, with raised decorations of dots, figures and attractive floral patterns. This is entirely devoid of dressing and closely resembles the lustrous white crepe de chine—45 inches wide, per yard, 1.50.

Then we have embroidered Swisses and fine French plumetis in all grades and all the newest designs, some with hemstitched stripes, others with Val. lace stripes and, of course, all size dots—a choice collection at, per yard, 25c to $2.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

Weather today—Threatening.

Store closes at 5:30.

A pleased customer is sure to return, and, ever mindful of this fact, it is our constant aim to please and serve you better each time you come. Our experienced and efficient salespeople, elevator service, no long wait for change, and convenient arrangement of the various sections throughout the house all tend to make a hurried shopping tour a pleasing task. Then, too, the assortments are larger and more varied than elsewhere in Chicago and our prices are absolutely the lowest, quality considered.

Buying at the very lowest prices and selling at the very highest is an obsolete way of keeping store, yet a good many merchants have not as yet found this out.

* * *

Whether you come here to return goods or just to look around, we want you to feel just as much at home as though you came to buy a large bill of goods.

* * *

We were the first to show the new embroidered silk and cotton waist patterns—but, then, we make it a point to be first in everything.

Be sure and visit our economy basement today; it's overflowing with extraordinary bargains.

* * *

If you want to catch the current style hints for the coming season, we'll consider it a favor to show you the Mandel interpretations.

David Harum said, "Do unto others as they would do unto you, only do it first." There are merchants today who conduct their stores on this principle. That's why they do not grow—why you prefer to trade here instead of with them.

HERE'S an umbrella sale that ought to interest everybody, coming as it does right on the threshold of the rainy spring season. When we say $4 silk umbrellas for 1.75, we mean umbrellas that we have actually been selling for $4 in our umbrella section up to now.

The remarkable reduction is made in order to find room for the new spring lines that are coming in every day—we ordered a much larger stock of umbrellas than usual this year, and must have space to show the new things properly.

In going through our stock we picked out about 400 all silk umbrellas that we have determined to get out of stock at once, and so have reduced them all to sell at 1.75.

They are 26-inch umbrellas, made of serge silk and taffeta silk—some of them plain, a good many with colored borders. Blue, brown, green, red, and black umbrellas, with plain natural wood handles.

Then, too, we have about 200 all silk umbrellas made up on fine pearl, ivory, horn and natural wood, with sterling and gold trimmings, positively reduced from 3.50 and $4 to 1.75.
